St. Louis Leads Yanks After Four Innings, 1-0

ST. LOUIS — The St. Louis Cardinals led, 1-0, after four innings today in the sixth game of the World Series. The Cardinals lead, 3-2, in the series and a win today will clinch the world baseball championship.

The Cards scored in the first inning when Curt Flood and Lou Brock singled and Flood scored when Bill White hit into a double play.

Bobby Richardson got his tent and 11th hits for the Yankees. Card catcher Tim McCarver slapped his tenth hit in the fourth inning.

YANKEES FIRST (0)

Linz lined Simmons' first pitch to Brock. Richardson singled through the left side. It was his 10th hit of the Series, the most by any player. Richardson stole second, sliding in under McCarver's throw to Groat. Maris struck out swinging. Mantle also struck out, missing a low fast ball.

Flood lined a single to left. Brock singled up the middle, sending Flood to third. Right-hander Roland Sheldon started warming up for the Yankees. Flood scored as White grounded into a double play. Richardson to Linz to Pepitone. K. Boyer flied to Tresh.

One run, two hits, no errors, none left.

YANKEES SECOND (0)

Maxvill raced out to short center for Howard's high popup. K. Boyer tossed out Tresh. Pepitone lined to Shannon who made a leaping catch with his back to the right field wall.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Groat was called out on strikes. McCarver singled past Pepitone into right field. Shannon struck out. Maxvill flied to Mantle.

YANKEES THIRD (0)

C. Boyer flied to Flood. Bouton struck out. Linz struck out, missing a slow change-up.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Simmons singled up the middle. Flood flied to Maris, who practically took the ball out of Mantle's glove in right center field. Maris made a fine running catch of Brock's blooper in short center. Pepitone stopped White's sharp grounder and tossed to Bouton for the putout.

YANKEES FOURTH (0)

The paid attendance was announced at 30,805. Richardson singled to center for

Ex-Convict Held For Threatening President's Life

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Officers quizzed today an exconvict plumber, at whose home they seized guns and Nazi flags, about a reported plot to kill President Johnson here Sunday.

Sheriff's deputies arrested Julius Schmidt, 29, at his home Tuesday night and said they took another man into custody several hours later.

They withheld the name of the second man.

Word from informers about guns being collected in this city on the lower Texas coast prompted simultaneous raids on the home of Schmidt and that of his mother, Nueces County Sheriff Johnnie Mitchell said.

Informers reported there was "a lot of loose talk about assassinating the President" and quoted unnamed individuals as saying they would try to obtain guns from Schmidt, Mitchell said.

After questioning Schmidt for more than three hours, the sheriff said he at first doubted there was a plot on the life of President Johnson.

"Now that we have looked into it," Mitchell said, "there might be something to it. However, a plot has not yet been uncovered.

"I plan to arrest two more people."

The sheriff said Schmidt admitted buying machine guns and automatic weapons illegally.

Alleged Burglar Is Caught by Security Officer

A merchant patrolman interrupted a burglary early Tuesday at a local drugstore and helped to apprehend the alleged burglar, police reported. Kenneth R. Wyman, of Wyman's Security Service, told police he was checking stores on his route, when he discovered the glass in the rear door of Phillips Smith Drugstore broken out. Checking further, Wyman noticed a person inside the store, and asked him what he

Negro Leader Dr. King Wins Nobel Prize

OSLO, Norway (UPI) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., American Negro civil rights leader, won the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize today.

King, the leader of the Southern Christian Leadership conference (SCLC), became the 12th American and the third Negro to win the award.

King's candidacy was sponsored by political figures in Europe and the United States and by newspapers of all political leanings in Norway.

The Nobel prize winner is appointed by the Norwegian National Assembly. It is made from a secret list of 20 to 30 names.

Other names reported to have been on this year's list were those of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, former British Prime Minister Lord Avon (Sir Anthony Eden), French President Charles de Gaulle and former West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

At 35, King also was one of the youngest men ever to win the prize.

One Boy Scout Killed by Car Crash; Six Hurt

HOLLIDAYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — A car rammed into a troop of Boy Scouts marching along a road Tuesday night, fatally injuring one scout and hurting six others.

Thomas Daugherty, 12, of nearby Lakemont, died of a head injury about two hours later in a hospital.

Police charged the driver, Samuel C. Lingenfelter, 37, of Williamsburg, with drunk driving. The charge was made before the boy died.

The other injured scouts were taken to Mercy Hospital. One was treated for minor injuries and released. The others were admitted and were reported in satisfactory condition.

Police said the accident occurred after dark while 25 members of troop 55 of the Zion Lutheran Church of Hollidaysbug, led by their scoutmaster, were marching double file alongside one side of the road.

The car came from behind and struck the boys, police reported.

Lingenfelter was jailed in lieu of $100 bond.

Barry Charges LBJ Is Delaying Probe of Baker

By V. B. RAGSDALE JR.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater charged today President Johnson has forced a new delay of a Senate investigation, "because Bobby Baker's affairs lead right straight into the White House itself."

And the Republican presidential nominee found himself in the middle of a lively word battle with Democrats after an off the cuff charge Tuesday night that the rival party was "a fascist organization that will not even allow a member to speak his mind in favor of a member of the other party."

A Democratic spokesman quickly snapped back with a charge that the Republicans were guilty of totalitarian tactics "organized booing groups to keep the opposing point of view from being heard."

With election day less than three weeks away, Goldwater

Ten-Year-Old Rescues Five Brothers, Sisters

LAKEWOOD, N.J. (AP) — When spunky 10-year-old Edward McNeil saw smoke and fire curling through his home, he ran quickly for help, as his mother had told him. Then he returned to rescue his five younger brothers and sisters, as instinct told him.

The six children were alone Tuesday night in their small, one-story cottage, and one of them, 2-year-old Junior, was playing with matches.

Spotting flames, Edward dashed to the home of George Palko across the street and told the neighbor: "My house is on fire, mister, call the fire department."

But he didn't wait for help as the flames spread. By the time firemen arrived to find the house completely engulfed by fire, Edward had gone in and out four times to carry or lead the children to safety.

"I took out my little baby brother (Clarence, 4 months) first. He was crying and I had to carry him. I put him in a carriage that was outside," said Edward.

"Then I got my little sister (Kathy Lee). She's one year old and I had to carry her. I put her on the steps.

"Then I got my two-year-old brother (Junior). I had to take him by the arm. Then I got my sister (Maria, 3). I don't know

Parking Violator Overpays by 17 Pennies

The city's Violations Bureau received three letters in Tuesday morning's mail containing payments on a $1 meter violation ticket.

The first held six nickels and 17 pennies with the note: "look for balance to follow." The second contained 25 pennies and read: "balance to follow when I sell some more pop bottles."

The third, with 20 pennies, read: "I robbed my grandma's picknick basket."

In the afternoon mail, a fourth letter arrived containing five nickels. This one read: "Well I raked up the last payment on ticket No. B28511. Balance is now paid in full. I sure hope this city sales tax of your's does not go through. I just don't know how much more the poor people of this town can bear. I may have to go on county relief after this."

A clerk in the bureau, Mrs. Peggy Copley, figured that James Hammonds, 1618 S. Nevada Ave., is due 17 cents back. "He can pick it up here," Mrs. Copley said, adding, "at least it's enough to buy a loaf of bread."

War-Mongering Indonesia Continues to Get U.S. Aid

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON —(Special)— It's incredible, but a large amount of U.S. aid is still being dished out to Indonesia's war-mongering, Kremlin-truckling President Sukarno.

That isn't all. In addition to getting an estimated $46 million in economic and military aid this year, another $13 million is tentatively budgeted for the woman-chasing, swashbuckling Soviet lackey in 1965.

This astonishing policy is being pursued by President Johnson and Secretary Rusk notwithstanding Sukarno's recent taunting insult, "To hell with U.S. aid," his warring against Malaysia for the publicly avowed purpose of "crushing" that newly - independent nation, his covert threats to attack the Philippines, and his flagrant toadying to the Communists.

At last week's Cairo conference of so-called "non-aligned" countries, he truculently sponsored a Peking-inspired resolution denouncing "co-existence" with "Western Imperialist powers."

One of the extraordinary facets of the administration's policy was the President's strong-arm intervention to block Congress from cutting off aid to Sukarno.

During the stormy Senate battle over the President's demand for a $3.5 billion foreign aid budget, an amendment was adopted by an overwhelming 62 to 28 majority barring aid to the strutting Indonesian dictator. Whereupon the President personally got busy and high-

CITY BUDGET HEARING—Police Chief Cecil McKissick points to a map of city police districts to emphasize his points Tuesday while the crowd in the Little Theatre of City Auditorium waits to hear about the two per cent sales tax. Over 13,500 Opponents Are Ignored

By JOHN KUGLIN
Gazette Telegraph Staff Writer

Colorado Springs businessmen say they will slap an injunction against the city if an attempt is made to collect a sales tax.

A two per cent city sales tax was passed Tuesday by the City Council despite the opposition of 13,500 petition signers, numerous civic and other groups and most of the crowd that turned out for a hearing on the 1965 budget.

Another Council measure lowered the city property tax from 17.1 mills this year to 12 mills in 1965 and 5 mills in 1966. City officials say the mill levy lowering is possible because of the sales tax which will also make possible the start at $8.4 million improvement and expansion program.

However the municipal election is this April and a new Council would not be bound by this long-range mill levy setting.

Council also agreed to start the sales tax June 1 and let the people vote on an amendment to the City Charter to put a 12-mill ceiling on the city property levy whenever a two per cent sales tax is collected.

468.72 MPH Auto Speed Record Established on Utah Salt Flats

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (AP) — A jubilant Craig Breedlove has regained the title as the fastest man on wheels and obviously was determined today to keep it as long as possible.

For one thing, the 28-year-old Los Angeles speedster said he would try to improve on his land speed record of 468.72 miles per hour, set Tuesday in his jet-powered car "Spirit of America."

For another, he said he had reserved the track at these western Utah salt flats until Oct. 26 and plans to keep it every minute of that time.

It's possible winter weather could set in by that time, forcing other contenders to wait until next year. The salt flats is one of the few places in the world that are suitable for record speed runs.

Even if Breedlove can keep the record for only two weeks, that will be longer than the past two record holders — Art Arfons of Akron, Ohio, and Tom Green of Wheaton, Ill.

Arfons, who had the old record of 434.02 m.p.h., said Tuesday he is confident he can beat Breedlove's mark. He has another reservation in for the flats for Nov. 8 but wants to come sooner.

Breedlove, who set one land speed record last year, sped across the salt flats Tuesday in times of 442.59 and 498.13 in two runs over the one mile track. The record time was computed from total time and distance of both runs.

Breedlove's car is a dart-shaped, three-wheeled vehicle powered by a J-47 jet engine. It has been classified as a special kind of motorcycle, as well as a car.

Breedlove said he would have exceeded 500 m.p.h. Tuesday had it not been he was jarred so hard on a rough section of track his helmet smashed the canopy window.

He was not hurt but had to slow down.

"Just think, I missed it by only two miles an hour," he said.

It was the third speed record in two weeks at the flats. Breedlove's old record of 407.45 was broken on Oct. 3 by Green with a time of 413.20. Several days later, Arfons broke that. Jet-powered cars were used in each case.

Jet records are in a special class as far as world recognition goes, although they are accepted by the U.S. Auto Club as valid land speed records in this country.

The International Auto Federation, which has previously held that cars setting the record must have their wheels powered directly by the engine, is taking steps to recognize jet marks.

Parolee Jailed For Threatening GI With Gun

A man who is on parole out of the Leavenworth State Penitentiary for bank robbery was booked into County Jail late Thursday afternoon after he threatened to kill a Ft. Carson soldier with a gun, the sheriff's office said.

According to Deputy Sheriff Bernard Barry, the man was identified as Harvey James Spencer, 34, 106 W. Brookside St. He was released from the Texas State Penitentiary less than a month ago after serving five and a half years.

Barry said he and Deputy Sheriff Vernon Eason received a call from the Ivywild Inn where an armed man had created a disturbance. When the officers arrived they found Sgts. Russell Elliott Bird and Charles Knotts.

Bird said he had been in the bar and Spencer got into an argument with him and invited him to come outside which the sergeant did. According to Bird, Spencer then pulled out a .38 caliber revolver which was later found to be loaded and said he was going to kill him.

Spencer was taken to jail after Bird signed a complaint against him alleging assault with a deadly weapon.

Solon Says Demos Drop Million Dollar Claim Against Magazine for Support

By WILLIAM MOORE
Chicago Tribune Service

WASHINGTON — Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Ia., questioned in a House speech Friday whether the Johnson administration is "sweeping under the rug" a million dollar post office claim against the Curtis Publishing Co., as a pay - off for the Saturday Evening Post's recent editorial espousing the candidacy of President Lyndon Johnson and Sen. Humbert Humphrey.

The editorial was a slashing attack on the presidential candidacy of Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Gross said he would leave the judgment to the American people, "many of whom have received notification on letters indicating 'postage due,' which must be paid before they can get their mail."

Gross charged that Curtis, which publishes the Post, violated postal regulation, and that in 1958 the Post Office Department made a million dollar claim against the company "for improper use of the mails, by which Curtis sent material through the mails without payment of adequate postage."

Gross said that Arthur Summerfield, then postmaster general, demanded payment as soon as the situation was discovered. But when Summerfield left office in 1961, Gross said, the claim still was pending.

Postmaster General John Gronouski, Gross told the House, now denies any knowledge of the claim.

"I believe," Gross said, "that this simply means that under the present administration the Post Office Department has de-

Curtis Describes 'Typical Family' of LBJ in 54 Rooms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House is distributing a new children's book about a "typical American family" that lives in an apartment with 54 rooms and 16 baths.

President Johnson is the head of the family. The book says he "is a friendly man, active, quick-thinking, fast-moving; he knows and likes people, and people like and trust him."

His wife is named Lady Bird. She is "a friendly, unassuming dynamo of activity."

They have two daughters named Lynda Bird and Luci Baines. They have learned from their parents to be "independent, responsible and resourceful girls."

The family shares a two-story apartment in a 32-room building called the White House. The book doesn't say so, but the Johnsons aren't ready to leave.

White House Press Secretary George E. Reedy announced Wednesday that the book was prepared for the many boys and girls who write each day for information about the executive mansion and its occupants. There have been 120,700 letters so far in 1964.

"These letters were analyzed," Reedy said, "and it is estimated the booklet will be responsive to some 70 per cent of the questions asked."

Architects Are Named for Academy Work

A joint venture combine of two Omaha, Neb., firms — the Leo A. Daly Co. and Henningsen, Durham, and Richardson, Inc. — has been selected as design architect - engineers for main portions of the Air Force Academy's expansion program.

Sverdup and Parcel Inc. of St. Louis, Mo., had been named earlier to handle design of the projected Academy fieldhouse.

Col. Harold J. St. Clair, Omaha district engineer, Army Corps of Engineers, said the Daly-Henningsen, Durham and Richardson combine will design additional cadet quarters, expansion of the dining hall, academic building, social center, gymnasium, and heating plant, and a base chapel.

First construction is expected to begin next spring.

The program's total cost will be approximately $40 million.

The first facilities to be added will be a new 352-room dormitory, the base chapel, and an extension to existing utilities systems.

Printers Cannot Win Toronto Strike, ITU Told

TORONTO (AP) — Joseph Morris, executive vice president of the Canadian Labor Congress (CLC), said Tuesday night that the full force of the labor movement will have to be exerted on behalf of the striking Toronto printers to settle their dispute with the three Toronto newspapers.

Morris told about 1,100 persons at an International Typographical Union (ITU) rally that the printers cannot win the strike by themselves.

Toronto Strike Stalemated; Newspapers Publishing

The Toronto (Canada) newspaper strike is in a stalemate, according to an article in the Oct. 10 issue of Editor & Publisher.

Toronto's three daily newspapers continue almost normal publishing, the article said, with the help of modern technology, recruited and returnee printers, some who refused to strike, and trainees.

During the 13 weeks strike of Toronto Typographical Union against the Telegram, the Star, and the Globe and Mail, John Basset, publisher of the Telegram, said his newspaper had received offers from a "professional strikebreaking outfit" to send men to work at the paper.

All such offers were refused, the article said.

Robert McCormack, president of the ITU, charged that the publishers lied to the House of Commons when they sent telegrams denying they had hired professional strikebreakers from the United States "at the very time they had such men in their composing rooms and were trying to recruit more." He has requested a federal investigation of alleged

NEW SNOW TIRE

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — A metal-studded snow tire will be marketed on an expanded scale this year by Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co.

The tire, which has tungsten carbide studs embedded in the tread, stops cars on ice as well as on snow. Goodyear recommends their use on all four wheels where ice conditions are bad.

This year, they will be marketed in a full range of sizes in 14 states—Ohio, New York, Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Missouri, Maryland, Tennessee, Kentucky, Oklahoma, Nevada 'and Washington.

"Discography" is a coined word meaning a listing of records devoted to a single composer or performer.

Merchant Settles 15-Hour Sit-in GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — A 15-hour sit-in by two young mothers over the right to purchase the one bright, blue English racing bike on special sale ended today when the store's harried manager sold each woman a bike for $10.

Mrs. Roger Edwards and Mrs. Merwyn Pasco, who resumed their battle today with resolution, were both relieved and happy that the battle "over principle" was resolved.

Melvin Smith, the store manager, made the decision shortly after 1 p.m. and said: "This has gone far enough."

There were indications earlier that Smith might do this to end the sit-in. But he had said it "was a lot of fun."

State Local Study Committee Continues

DENVER (UPI) — Gov. John Love's 100-member Local Affairs Study Commission has requested an appropriation of about $88,000 to continue its work for an additional year, it was announced today.

The commission was set up in 1963 to find ways of strengthening local government. The new appropriation request would finance studies beginning July 1, 1965.

State Rep. John Mackie, R-Longmont, commission vice chairman, said he did not think the studies would have to be extended past the 1965 fiscal year.

The unpaid commissioners are scheduled to meet Dec. 11 to put together proposals it will recommend to the Legislature in January.

City Firemen Make Seven Runs Tuesday

The Colorado Springs Fire Department made seven runs in less than 12 hours Tuesday.

Two runs at 12:57 and 12:58 p.m., by Companies 5 and 2, were grass fires at 2100 Hagerman St., and the 220 block of North 7th Street. No damage resulted from either fire.

At 5:51 p.m., Company 6 went to the home of Raymond Gramm, 2215 Princeton Way, where a grease fire was reported in a portable oven. The fire was out when firemen arrived, and only slight smoke damage was reported.

At 6:21 p.m., Company 6 was called to 1806 Mont Eagle Ave. where a trash fire was in progress from scraps left burning at the house which was under construction. No damage was reported.

Company 8 was called out at 9:16 p.m. to a car fire at Jackson Street and Cascade Avenue. A short in the wiring started the fire and firemen report considerable damage to the wiring. The owner of the car is B. A. Shepperd, 310 Lansing Ave.

A small storage shed caught on fire at the home of J. Daugherty, 1118 E. Rio Grande St., and Companies 1 and 4 answered the call at 9:04 p.m. Firemen report total damage to the shed and its contents.

At 11:33 p.m., Company 2 extinguished a fire of undetermined origin on a small railroad bridge between the creek and Sinton Road. Firemen had to use two tanks of water from their booster as no hydrants are situated in that area.

Trial Date Set For Woman on Vagrancy Count

Judge Allan Asher Tuesday in Municipal Court reinstated a $300 bond he had ordered forfeited Monday when Kim Johnson, 19, failed to apear in court on a vagrancy charge.

Reinstatement of the bond was done at the request of the girl's attorney Ben Fann, who entered a plea of not guilty for Miss Johnson and had her trial date set for Nov. 2.

Fann was also granted a continuance until Oct. 26 for the trial of Donna Mae Doage, 21, Denver, whose trial date had been set for Oct. 19 on charges of vagrancy and soliciting for purposes of prostitution.

A reckles driving charge against Warren Sabbath, 37, 3900 N. Weber St., was dismissed Tuesday on a motion by Deputy City Attorney Bob Isaac. Judge Asher found Sabbath guilty of careless driving and imposed a $25 fine. The man was represented by Leo Rector.

On the city's motions for dismissals, for insufficient evidence, charges against Maria Mestas, 26, 904 N. Hancock Ave., and Willie Marez, 17, 618 S. Weber St., were dismissed by the judge. Miss Mestas, who was represented by Charles Friedman, had been charged with driving without head lamps, and Marez with careless driving.

A charge of parking in an alley was dismissed against Thurman Thompson, 511½ E. Bijou St., on the failure of the complaining witness to apear in court.

Kenneth Smith, 17, 605 Grand Blvd., Security, was found guilty of careless driving and was fined $5 with $15 suspended.

Cpl. Emmett Butler testified that the night of Sept. 18, while directing traffic following a football game, he had been forced to throw his flashlight at Smith's car to make him stop before possibly being run down.

Butler said he was directing traffic at Patrician Way and North Circle Drive, and Smith, driving south on Circle at a speed he estimated at 40 miles an hour, paid no attention to his whistle or the waving of his flashlight. Butler also said he was standing under a streetlight at the time. The officer said after all methhods failed, he threw his flashlight at the youth's car.

Smith said he did not see the officer, nor did he hear the whistle, or see the flashlight, until he was almost in the intersection. He denied driving 40 miles an hour.

A passenger in Smith's car, Penny Herbert, 225 N. Institute St., said their car windows were up because of the cold, and they had the radio on. "If we'd been going 40 miles an hour, we wouldn't have been able to stop and we would have hit the cop," she said.

Judge Asher pointed out to Smith that driving with closed windows, and with the radio on, in heavy football traffic, was a dangerous practice, and stressed that Butler and the youth were lucky that nothing more serious had happened as a result of this.

A charge of failure to yield the right of way was converted to a warning against William Lamberson, 59, 1310 W. Cheyenne Rd.

Fines were imposed on the following who pleaded guilty to charges: Robert Chacon, 23, 1126 W. Cucharras St., careless driving, $25, and Thomas Crocker, 19, 2016 Winston Rd., traffic Rd., traffic signal, $15.

Bonds were ordered forfeited by the following; Billy Rapp, 21, Rush, $5 for a muffler violation, and Richard Ruder, 22, Imperial, Mo., $20 for driving on the wrong side of the street.

Fines or sentences were imposed on the following who pleaded guilty to drunk charges; Everett Hall, 41, Denver, $25; George Montoya, 47, 931 S. Royer St., 10 days; Charles Nix, 31, Rex Hotel, $25; Albert Perera, 47, $50, suspended; and Edward Rucker, 606 N. Spruce St., $25.

Three Burglaries Reported to Sheriff

Three burglaries were reported to the sheriff's office Tuesday.

The first hapened at the home of Robert E. Jordon, 814 Orion Dr. where a brass cornet horn and two brief cases worth a total of $180 were stolen.

Jordan told Deputy Sheriff Larry Holien that he and his family were gone Sunday and that the missing items were in the hallway just inside the front door which was left unlocked.

The second incident was reported by Lawrnce D. Bartlett, 14 Hopi Dr., who said two sleeping bags and a number of tools were stolen from his camper trailer which was unlocked. Loss is estimated at $39.88.

The third burglary took place at the home of Miss Ethyl Weil, 620 Yuma. St. There was no sign of forced entry but the rooms had been prowled and a small jewelry box containing 10 silver dollars was stolen.

Brotzman Proposes Education Tax Credit

WESTMINSTER (UPI) — Rep. Don Brotzman, R-Colo., said Monday if re-elected he will re-introduce his bill to provide tax credits for parents of university and college students.

Brotzman said the failure of Congress to pass his bill "is hurting the taxpayer in the right hip pocket."

Brotzman told a group of Adams County Republicians that chances for passing the bill had looked good until the administration indicated its opposition.

"When the Democratic leadership said 'no' all chances for tax relief for these parents went down the drain."

He said he would re-introduce the measure on the first day of the 89th Congress and request early hearings before the Ways and Means Committee.

CHANGE TO ZIP CODE

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Army and Air Force Post Office addresses overseas, known familiarly as APO numbers, are going to shift to the zip code system on Jan. 1.

The Pentagon said Monday that the change, affecting the addresses of more than 1 million servicemen and dependents abroad, will "speed routing and sorting of mail with a resultant reduction of delivery time." A similar system will be adopted for the Navy's Fleet Post Office addresses, FPO numbers, later.

Boyle Discusses Tired Remarks In Politics

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks a political candidate gets tired of hearing:

"Remember, Jerry, if you lose this one the only thing left you can run for is — dogcatcher."

"The printer says that if we don't get up the money for your election cards now he'll throw them down the sewer himself."

"One of his troubles is that he gives his speech better when he talks in his sleep than he does when he's awake."

"I think the only votes he's sure of so far are those of people who read billboards aloud with their lips."

"Maybe if we got him to speak in a cemetery we could corral a few ghost votes."

"Now try to get this through your head: At the first stop you munch on Italian salami and some pizza pie. You ask for some bagels when we hit the garment district. And when we pause at Yorkville you say a few kind words about the sauerbraten your mother used to make."

"You don't campaign on issues anymore. You campaign on your stomach. Why should anybody vote for you if you don't eat the same kind of food he does?"

"Why should we let our tiger debate his opponent on television? That would only let the public find out how little either of them know."

"If I deliver you the 3rd precinct, what's in it for me? I'm not one of those college boys who go into politics just to improve their health."

"Before we stop off at the next factory, kid, rub a little grime on your paws. You can't win the workingmen's vote with clean hands."

"Don't waste any more time kissing babies. Kiss the old ladies. If they like it, they won't forget you on election day."

"See that messy little guy chewing a cigar on the front platform? Cozy up to him real good. He can help us. He knows where half the political skeletons in town are buried."

"Promise 'em what you think they'd like to have, Jerry. After we win the election we can always think up reasons why we can't deliver."

"Tell your wife to hide that fur stole. We're going through a poor district."

"It looks like this is a real intellectual audience. It doesn't make any difference what you advocate — just so you keep it on an international level, and make it sound real highbrow. If you know any big words, go ahead and use them."

"So that's our candidate! Well, all I can say is that if his brains match his ears, we've got a winner for sure."

Ex-Governor Furcolo Faces Bribery Charge

BOSTON (AP) — A special grand jury Tuesday indicted former Democratic Gov. Foster Furcolo on a charge of conspiring to arrange a bribe to be paid to the Governor's Council.

Indicted for conspiracy with Furcolo were three governor's councillor, all Democrats.

The three councillors were Ernest C. Stasiun of Fairhaven, Raymond F. Sullivan of Springfield, and Joseph R. Crimmins of Winchester. The former councillor, also a Democrat, is Michael J. Favulli of Worchester.

The indictment charged the five men with conspiring to arrange a bribe to the governor's Council to gain approval of the reappointment of Anthony N. Dinatale as state commissioner of public works.

Atty. Gen. Edward W. Brooke said the alleged offense occurred within the past six years.

DiNatale was indicted last Wednesday by the same grand jury on charges of larceny, conspiracy and bribery while he was public works commissioner.

Warehouse Industry Strike Is Averted

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Negotiators reached agreement Tuesday on a new three-year contract to avert a threatened strike in the food warehouse industry.

The agreement ended a month-old strike-lockout which had idled about 10,000 drivers and warehousemen at 56 wholesale food warehouses, mainly in Southern California.

The exact terms of the new agreement were not made public.

Manitou Council Approves Record Budget Tuesday

A record $254,202.88 budget was approved Tuesday by the Manitou Springs City Council with a .68 mill decrease in the city property tax levy.

The budget, passed on the first reading, was the same proposed Oct. 7 at a public, though unofficial council meeting. Another public reading and hearing are necessary for final passage.

The new budget would reduce the general fund levy to 13.56 mills, lower bonded indebtedness to 6.90 mills and mean a total levy of 20.46 mills. The 1964 levey is 21.14 mills.

Councilman Z. A. Nevins voted against the proposed budget because it would not allow for city growth.

The budget proposal, the second presented, slashed $2,158 from Nevins' police committee budget and resulted in total savings of $15,658 over the first budget proposal presented Oct. 6 at a regular council meeting.

The 1965 bonded indebtedness levy was of necessity hiked to 6.90 mills from the present 4.88 mills because of the new water bond issue and past water bond issues.

Mayor L. Longaker laid three requests before the council for their consideration during the coming year:

—An ordinance to regulate amusement devices.

— An upgraded building code.

— Discussion of a water rate increase because water revenues do not pay for the water department.

Alleged Burglar Is Caught by Security Officer

thought he was doing there. The person, a Negro male, came out and offered him two cartons of cigarettes and $10 to pay for the broken window, Wyman said.

Wyman refused the offer and started to take the man to the police station. As they were walking down an alley the man broke and ran, according to Wyman. He was apprehended in the 100 block of E. Cucharras St., by Wyman and Sgt. Tom Hughes of the police department, who was patrolling the area.

The man, identified by police as Ronald White, of Fort Carson, had in his possession approximately $102 in cash, two cartons of cigarettes, and a bottle of liquor, apparently from the drugstore.

White was taken to police headquarters and held for investigation of burglary, police said.

"My six-year-old brother came out by himself."

Was Edward scared? "Uh huh," he replied.

All six children huddled on a stoop of the Palko house, wrapped in blankets and eating milk and cookies from Mrs. Palko.

"They sure looked sorrowful, said Police Capt. William Fitzgerald.

Police were trying to locate the children's mother, Mrs. Leona Mims.

The children, meanwhile, were put up at the Alleban Hotel.

Car With Keys Reported Stolen

A car parked at the curb with the keys in the ignition was stolen Wednesday, police reported.

Geneva C. Lollar, of 1025 N. Arcadia St., told police she parked her car at the curb in front of her home at approximately 2:10 p.m. When she came out at 2:50 p.m. the car was gone.

She told police she had seen a young male walking down the opposite side of the street, but had paid not attention at the time. A man working in a house directly across from the Lollar residence said he noticed the young male walking down the street, and said that the man had looked into Miss Lollar's car, but had then continued walking.

pressured members of the House-Senate conference committee to scuttle this provision.

He got his way.

Protected by the secrecy of their closed-door deliberations, the small group of conferees ironing out differences between the House and Senate versions of the foreign aid budget, knuckled under to the President and axed the anti - Sukarno Amendment.

Senators Milward Simpson, R-Wyo., and Wayne Morse, D-Ore., denounced this backstage hatcheting, but were unable to reverse it. The Senate approved the conference report.

Whereupon Morse served notice this fight would be vigorously renewed next year. "We are determined to put an end to this disreputable aid program to Sukarno," he told the Senate. "The kind of aid we are furnishing him has nothing in the world to do with helping the people of Indonesia to live better, with raising their standard of living. It has got to stop."

WHAT IT'S COST US

Since 1949, the U.S. has poured more than $618 million in economic and military aid into Indonesia. In addition, the Export-Import Bank has paid out some $162 million in so-called "long-term" loans — for an over-all total of $780 million.

Of the aid, $278.6 million was economic; $58.8 million military; $281 million in "Food for Peace" grants.

These figures do not include the still - incomplete Indonesian aid expenditures this year, estimated at $10.3 million economic, $1.7 million military, $34.3 million "Food for Peace," a projected $13 million for 1965, and three expensive "good will" trips Sukarno made to the U.S. in 1956, 1960 and 1961.

During these junkets he demanded and got a harem of "call girls" — with unofficial State Department assistance.

As previously disclosed by this column, the Indonesian embassy, in advance of one of these trips, bluntly notified the department that the "success of Sukarno's mission would depend on the availability of women." According to an unpublished department report, uncovered by the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, the Indonesian swashbuckler specified he wanted a "Latin type, an American type, and a Nordic type woman" to accompany him on his touring about the U.S.

And with the left-handed connivance of the department, he got them.

From official sources, a detailed breakdown of the huge amount of U.S. aid garnered by Sukarno is as follows:

COMPOUNDING THE ABSURDITIES

In denouncing the conference committee's backstage scuttling of the Senate amendment cutting off aid to Sukarno, Senator Simpson caustically noted a number of ironic paradoxes in the Johnson Administration's policy, as follows:

Indonesian army, navy and air force officers and technicians are being trained here—at the same time Sukarno is waging war on Malaysia and threatening to attack the Philippines.

Until recently Indonesians were brought here for extensive guerrilla and counter - insurgency training. Sukarno is employing such troops to carry out his avowed grandiose ambition to "crush" Malaysia.

Indonesian police are being trained in the U.S. and considerable money is being spent to modernize their communications, expend their transport facilities and improve their supply system. In the blunt opinion of Simpson, "American taxpayers are footing the bill for this so Sukarno will not lose control of his island nation."

"This would seem a good place," declared Simpson, "for the Johnson Administration to make a start at getting our foreign aid program out of the realm of the ridiculous and back to the realm of reason. While this U.S.-financed training of Indonesian military personnel goes on, our ally Malaysia is being invaded and British troops in that country are being killed by Indonesian military forces.

"Sukarno is a kow - towing friend of the Communists. There can be no doubt of this. Two prominent Communist party leaders in his country hold the rank of minister. Yet the Johnson administration continues to give him large amounts of economic and military aid, to train his hand-picked youths in our best military schools, and to send millions in equipment to Indonesia at the very time it is attacking its neighbors.

"Among the items of equipment we have sent this 'peaceful, friendly, democratic' nation are 1,800 vehicles of all kinds, 53 patrol craft for sea police, 5 aircraft for air police, $2 million in radio, teletype and telephone equipment to strengthen Sukarno's comprehensive police network throughout his far-flung country.

This just does not make sense, and the time is long overdue when we should put an end to it."

returned to the attack on the Baker case in a prepared speech. The issue he said Monday, "is hurting the President more than anything else."

As a springboard for his new charges, the Arizona Senator used the announcement Tuesday by Sen. B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., that the Senate Rules Committee, which Jordan heads, would delay its probe of Baker until after the election because of the difficulty of getting enough Senators to come back to Washington to form a quorum for the committee.

In his speech today, Goldwater said, "the man who now occupies the White House could, by lifting a finger, start the Boy Baker case on its way to full exposure. Instead he is standing firmly and coldly on the side of deceit and cover-up.

"The man who now occupies the White House is, in effect, telling the American people to go whistle — that so long as he does not want the truth known in the Bobby Baker case, the truth will not be known."

Goldwater triggered his conflict with the Democratic party at a tumultuous rally in the Milwaukee Arena. A crowd estimated by police at 12,000 heard him in the arena, with some 5,500 others hearing him in an adjoining hall over a loud-speaker system.

The throng whooped and cheered almost every time the Arizona senator paused in his speech.

against the Toronto Star, the Telegram and the Globe and Mail on July 9. The papers have continued to publish.

Describing the newspaper strike as the most important labor struggle in Canada at present, Morris said it is a battle for control of automation and for a share in its benefits.

"One of the problems of the past is that we have let too many strikes go down to defeat by default," he said.

If workers are to be thrown out the back door as machines are brought in the front, he said, automation will become a curse rather than the blessing it should be.

He added that by offering lifetime job security as part of a package proposal, the publishers are trying to tie the union's hands for life. The union has rejected the proposal.

David Archer, president of the Ontario Federation of Labor, called for the newspapers to reconsider their position and for the union to show a spirit of compromise.

Talks between the printers and the publishers broke down two months ago.

Items Valued at $200 Taken From Camper

Joe Maultsby, 2501 E. Boulder St. reported to the sheriff's department Tuesday that a number of items including some tool and two sleeping bags worth a total of $200 had been stolen from his camper.

Deputy Sheriff Larry Holien said it was parked in a back yard at 2336 E. Boulder St.

Council Votes for Tax; Injunction to Be Sought

against the sales tax was William Becker. "I am not in favor of a city sales tax," he said. Becker said he would prefer to have the city mill levy "go to the limit — which is 20 mills, or near it," if necessary, and put the question of a sales tax to a vote of the people."

Following passage of the sales tax, Norton Bain, a director of the Consumers Against Sales Tax (CAST), said an injunction will be sought if the city tries to implement a sales tax on their target date of June 1.

This morning, Robert Hibbard, president of the Downtown Merchants Association and a CAST director, said no legal action would probably be taken against the city until injunctions against the Englewood and Denver sales taxes are cleared up in the courts. He pointed out that if these cities lose their cases, Colorado Springs will be left with no sales tax and too low a property tax levy to run the city.

The ordinance to pass the sales tax was read publicly, but not to the public.

A crowd packed Council Chambers at 9:30 a.m. Many of them were there because of their interest in a zoning change. Of course they were curious about the sales tax.

They were told by Mayor Harry Hoth that there would be no discussion on the sales tax or 1965 budget until 3 p.m. as previously announced.

Most of the crowd left after the zoning question was resolved.

At about 12:20 p.m. an unannounced reading began of the sales tax ordinance. Council remained in session, though all the councilmen went to lunch. City-Clerk Treasurer Robert Parker read the 52-page ordinance in the empty Council Chambers. Then he went to lunch and his assistant, Llewellyn Willits, took over. Municipal Court convened in the Council Chambers and the public reading of the sales tax ordinance continued in the rear of the room.

The ordinance had been legally read by the time Council Chambers began filling for the 3 p.m. public hearing on the 1965 budget.

The crowd filled the Council Chambers and spilled into the corridor and down the hall.

At 3:30 p.m., just as city department heads were beginning their third public explanation of city needs, the mayor adjourned the meeting to the Little Theater of City Auditorium so everyone could be seated.

As the crowd walked across the street to the auditorium, the Consumers Against Sales Tax committee was still recruiting signers for their anti-sales tax petitions. They did a brisk business.

The mayor began the meeting again by enjoining the crowd that "We have been negligent for 10 years in. . .putting off the needs of the city." No one wants to run anyone out of business."

The first citizen to speak was Morris Guberman of Kaufman's Department Store. He charged the city government with continually discriminating against the heart of the city in favor of the real estate business in outlying areas.

"If I were on the Council and in the real estate business, I'd disqualify myself," he said.

Later in the meeting, Councilman Harry Scurr told Guberman that the remark had been directed to him. Guberman had not mentioned Scurr's name. Scurr said he wouldn't disqualify himself from the sales tax vote just because he's interested in real estate development.

Guberman added that a city sales tax should not be considered until there is a new Council in April.

The crowd applauded Guberman's remarks and the mayor said he would adjourn the meeting if there were any more demonstrations. Little attention was paid to this remark or Hoth's time limit of two minutes on speeches from the citizens.

Spokesmen for the League of Women Voters and the Homebuilders Association said they favored further exploration before passage of a sales tax. This has also been the positions of the Colorado Springs Board of Realtors, and Springs Area Beautiful Association.

Hoth objected when Dr. Fred Sondermann, president of the Colorado Springs Charter Association, wanted to speak. The mayor pointed out that the Colorado College professor had spoken at a previous meeting.

Sondermann spoke anyway, and restated the Charter Association's position that a "Citizens' Committee" should study a sales tax instead of immediate passage by City Council.

"Two weeks and two minutes today" are too little, Sondermann told the mayor after Hoth told him he had used up more than his two minutes of speaking time.

Hoth also tried to muzzle Attorney Bernard Trott who represented the Consumers Against Sales Tax. Trott also spoke anyway and presented two petitions against the sales tax. One was signed by 100 merchants, the other, Trott said, is "a little thicker than your budget" and has more than 13,500 consumers' signature.

"You're out of order" was the catcall which followed the remarks of John Tipton, 725 N. Farragut Ave., that the city needed a sales tax.

The president of Halle's Appliances, Charles Hughes, said he spoke in opposition to the sales tax for 21 employees of a "small business."

Lt. Col. Oscar Hardy (ret.), 1 E. Monroe St., said, "I can no longer afford it. Any more taxes and I will have to move out of the state."

A. Walker, 181 N. Cascade Ave., pointed out that sales tax money used for drainage improvements will "enhance the value of the property in the immediate area."

Robert Hatch, representing Hatch's Appliances, said a sales tax could cause some downtown businesses to move outside city limits, but not necessarily his business.

Finally the mayor took a straw vote of the people. He asked the persons in the audience who lived in the city and had property in the city to raise their hands if they wanted a higher mill levy for 1965.

"No! No! State your question again," was the reply of the crowd. The question was restated and the mayor's poll showed that most of the persons favored a mill levy increase instead of a sales tax.

Then the City Council voted for the sales tax.

The final reading of the sales tax ordinance is scheduled for Oct. 27.

Sports Coat Taken From Car in Garage

Ted Kemper, 1101 Vega Dr. told the sheriff's office Tuesday that a three - button sports coat worth $90 had been stolen from his car while it was parked in his garage.

According to Deputy Sheriff Larry Holien the garage door was open and the door of Kemper's car unlocked.

Mark Sweany Died Sunday

Mark J. Sweany, at one time head of the history department at Colorado Springs High School, died Sunday in New Haven, Conn. at the age of 80.

A Requiem High Mass was celebrated Tuesday in St. Joseph's Church there with the Rev. Donald Cunningham of the Archdiocese of Chicago, a nephew of Mr. Sweany, as celebrant.

A Rosary service will be held at 7 p.m. today in the Nolan Funeral Home and graveside services will be hld at 10:30 a.m. Thursday in Evergreen Cemetery with the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Anthony Elzi officiating.

Mr. Sweany was a retired executive of the Supreme Council of the Knights of Columbus. Portag, Wisc., where his family had been among the early settlers of Wisconsin Territory. He was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1908 and received his master's degree in American history from Harvard in 1909.

While living here, Mr. Sweany taught at Colorado Springs High School and was a lcturer in history at Colorado State Teachers College. He was a charter member of Knights of Columbus Council 582 and served a grand knight and Colorado state deputy.

Following World War I, Mr. Sweany became associated with the National Education Program for Veterans, initiated and carried on by the Knights of Columbus. In 1924 he went to New Haven as director of the Educational Bureau of the Knights of Columbus National Headquarters. He remained with the Knights of Columbus in that capacity and late as head of the membership department until his retirement in 1956.

Mr. Sweany was a member of the Holy Name Society of St. Joseph's Church and the Graduates Club of New Haven.

He is survived by a daughter Miss Clair Sweany of New Haven and several nieces and nephews in Chicago. His wife, the former Miss Florence Lattner of Colorado Springs, died in 1954.

COLORADO INTERSTATE AWARD—James B. Davis, (right), Colorado Interstate Gas Company, is shown receiving the first place award for the 1963-64 American Gas Association-National Safety Council competition among gas transmission companies. Robert O'Donnell, executive director of the Greater New York Safety Council, presented the award. Davis also received another AGA award to mark Colorado Interstate's outstanding performance in reducing the frequency of vehicle accidents.

Symphony Hits Jackpot At Opening Concert

ARTS CRITIC

With the biggest audience in years, the Colorado Springs Symphony Orchestra, under the baton of Walter Eisenberg, launched its winter season Monday night with a program of musical favorites, featuring Metropolitan tenor Richard Tucker as guest soloists.

The biggest reaction, however, was achieved even before the program of entertaining music began, as the orchestra stood to play the Star Spangled Banner, with the audience rising, too, many of them singing lustily the splendid national anthem, as it has become the habit at the local symphony concerts, although it has nothing to do with the artistic program as such.

Then Eisenberg and the orchestra launched into an arrangement of the perennially pleasing ballet suite number one by Gluck, as arranged by Mottl, in which Eisenberg showed to advantage especially the string section, which has been drilled into the kind of precision which perhaps someday also may be applied to the wind players, although I should mention that some of the woodwind passages were performed with beauty and finesse by the individual players. Also, the harp proved to be an invaluable addition, especially in later numbers, enriching the orchestral tonal color. Indeed, one realizes how much one has missed the harp in some previous seasons.

Richard Tucker approached the display of his vocal talents with care, building up to the high, ringing notes gradually, and when he did, he earned an ovation from the audience and provided two encores, thus singing seven numbers in all. (Singing the four last in the second half of the program.)

Here we should mention that the program was thoughtfully arranged so as to provide discreet background for Tucker's energetic vocal artistry. As to the orchestra, the numbers seemed to be designed, so as to build up, very gradually, to the very last movement of Respighi's work, the Pines of the Appian way, which provided a military climax to the entire evening.

After Tucker's first group of three songs, the orchestra played the curious, little, somewhat disjointed work by Galindo, and then after intermission, and after Tucker's second portion of songs, played Respighi's postcard mood music of the Pines of Rome, which sometimes seems to be almost designed "to listen to travelogues by," the one energetic exception being the last movement with its triumphant brasses at the end.

Incidentally, we see that the orchestra has responded to my suggestion in developing its Endowment Fund "for the purpose of permanent and long-term support." A start has been made, and that is all to the good, for it will provide a more solid base of private philanthropy in the cultural field. As the program explained "activated by a few initial gifts, this fund is now in existence. Many persons wish to make bequests. Your gift can be made in cash, life insurance, assignments of stocks or bonds or from your estate." The important feature of this is, as I suggested, that "only the interest from the invested funds will be used to provide operating funds for our extensive program."

The trust for the orchestra is held by the Colo. Springs National Bank Trust Department. This is a method which, combined with the excellent promotion of the Symphony by its leaders, can in the best way establish solid planning for the future, in combination with the development of its musical standards and qualities.

Certainly, with the selection of a roster of top artists for guest appearances with the orchestra, and with hard work during the past year, the Symphony has hit an audience jackpot this season, and judging from the great enthusiasm of the audience, it promises to be one of the most promising Symphony seasons in many a year.

strikebreaking, the magazine said.

Burnett M. Thall of the Star said the three newspapers had advertised for help in western Canada newspapers, and added that "After all, we advertised for men who wanted to work and we got them. No Toronto publisher has hired professional strikebreakers."

The three newspapers have carried stories detailing biolence and vandalism, since the strike began, Editor & Publisher said.

"The stories chronicled details of slashed auto tires on cars of printer returnees and newspaper executives, paint splashed on residences, throwing of a fire bomb into the home of a new Telegram composing room employe, throwing of a Globe and Mail printer onto a subway tracks, beating of four Star printers with baseball bats while they were enroute home from their jobs, and assault of a Globe and Mail stereotyper who had been mistaken for a printer," the magazine reported.

No bargaining has taken place between the principals since Aug. 26 after the publishers proposed an additional 10 new contract provisions which the union calls demands and publishers term "principles," according to the magazine.

cided not to collect the million dollars."

"Recently postal rates have been increased and the American public has been called upon to pay higher postal rates. Yet the administration is showing favoritism to this company by permitting it to forget the amount owned the government."

Gross said he has been corresponding with the Post Office Department, and that it has given no indication that the claim has been settled or abandoned.

"The department," he said, "conveniently sweeps this entire matter under the rug by saying 'from the files left for us concerning this matter we find there was no such claim pending against this company in 1961.' "

Gross said there have been similar claims against other large publishers and that he is going to expose them.

Ex-Convict Held For Threatening President's Life

but denied any knowledge of an assassination plot.

Schmidt, blond, blue eyed and ruddy complexioned, was questioned at the sheriff's office. Newsmen were not permitted to talk to him.

Mitchell said 25 deputies gathered up machine guns, automatic pistols, high-powered rifles, a knee mortar, a rocket launcher, live hand grenades, about 20 000 rounds of commercial and homemade ammunition, swords, several Nazi flags, World War I and II German helmets, a German medal and army uniform, photographs of World War II Nazi leaders and books by Adolf Hitler.

Some of the guns were at the home of Schmidt's mother because he lived there with his wife and small son until last August, the sheriff said.

He described one rifle with telescopic sight as "capable of drilling a nail at 1,000 yards."

Mrs. G. H. Schmidt, mother of the man in custody, told a newsman she knew nothing about any plot and said of her son:

"He wouldn't do that. He didn't have any intention of doing that."

Police records showed that Schmidt, a stocky 180-pounder who is self-employed, was convicted and sentenced to 10 years in prison for murder in 1956. Officers testified at his trial that he killed Juan Herrera with a shotgun after Herrera caught Schmidt and a companion burglarizing an auto parts store.

Schmidt was paroled from prison in 1958 and was granted a full pardin in 1960.

Mitchell said agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Secret Service and Treasury Department were joining in the investigation. Spokesmen for the federal agencies declined comment.

Tshombe Is Greeted As Hero at Home

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo, (AP) — The treatment given Premier Moise Tshombe at the Conference of Nonaligned Nations in Cairo has made him a hero at home.

On his return Tuesday, crowds lined the 30-mile road from the airport to Leopoldville and roared approval as the smiling premier stood in the back of a jeep, his fists held high.

The Cairo conference barred Tshombe and Egyptian authorities held him prisoner in a guarded palace for three days.

PALS OF THE PINES

The Black Forest Pals of the Pines 4-H Club project meetings for October are as follows: clothing at Mrs. Rowland's, 12:30 p.m. Oct. 10; leathercraft and craftsmanship at Mr. McAllister's, 7:30 p.m. Oct. 15; forestry and conservation at Mr. Scott's, 7:30 p.m. Oct. 16; livestock at Willow Springs Ranch, 1:30 p.m. Oct. 18; knitting at Mrs. Clark's, 4 p.m. Oct. 19. Foods and first aid members are to be notified.

The regular business meeting was held Oct. 2 at the Community Church, with Larry Kingrey, president, in charge. Several members reported on displaying posters for 4-H week in Black Forest stores.

Mr. Tillman reported that the Central Colorado Bank and the Robinson Grain Company have expressed their interest in the club, and have donated enough money for the club to be able to meet each month at the church. Many members showed an interest in future square dancing lessons. The club would like to have a Halloween party and everyone voted to have a skating party.

The following members gave talks: Debbie Rose, on the importance of keeping complete record books; Larry Kingrey, on what he had learned in 4-H; and Jeff Rowland, on what he had learned in Leathercraft 1.

Refreshments were served by Doreen Wells, Jeff Rowland, and Craig Keith. Jane Tillman, David and Kathy Weaver, and Mike Clark will be in charge of refreshments for next month.

The next meeting will be Nov. 6 at the Community Church.

New Maizeland 4-H officers, elected at the Oct. 3 meeting, are: Linda McCutchen, president; Jan Neidigh, vice president; Janet Shirley, secretary of meeting; Virginia Madearis, all club reporter; Sandra Carpenter, secretary of correspondence; Carolyn Shirley, project reporter; Sharon Shirley, historian; Bobby Maestas, secretary of attendance; Jim Neidigh and Mar y l n Madearis, song leaders; Mike Wilson and Karen Schooler, flag bearers; Della Manning and Judy Kinder, game leaders.

Insurance, which will increase dues $1.00, was approved by vote.

Linda Carpenter, outgoing president, was in charge of the meeting.

ELLICOTT
WILLING WORKERS

New officers elected at the Oct. 2 meeting of the Ellicott Willing Workers 4-H Club at Ellicott School, the first meeting of the season, are: Gail Lundquist, president; Judy Freeman, vice president; Glenda Williams, secretary; Linda Gochnauer, treasurer; and Phyllis Johnson, reporter.

It was decided to have an October skating party, and Linda Gochnauer and Donna Hobbs were named to the committee to plan the party.

It was decided to have meetings the second Tuesday of the month.

Gail Lundquist and Donna Hobbs served refreshments. There were 18 members present.

WASHINGTON JR.

1964-65 officers of the Washington Jr. 4-H Club, elected at the Oct. 6 meeting, are: Tam Blasingame, president; Kathy Simmons, vice president; Bonny Blasingame, secretary; Rodger West, treasurer; Bonnie Vorenberg, reporter; Beverly Butler, songleader; Susan Vorenberg and Karen Butler, refreshments; Sharilynn Butler and Richie Simmons, recreation; and Kathy Simmons and Tom Blasingame, representatives.

Dwain Butler, outgoing president, was in charge of the meeting. Karen Butler and Susan Vorenberg led the Pledge of Allegiance, and Richie Simmons led the 4-H Pledge.

A motion was passed to have co-leaders instead of a single leader.

The next meeting will be Nov. 6. The Butlers and Blasingames will serve.

PRAIRIE PALS

At a recent meeting of the Prairie Pals 4-H Club, Brenda Gray and Charles Higgins were asked to write to Mr. Hurd this month. Program material was distributed by Lu Ann Gray and Robin Book. Rodney Ness and Grace Higgins are to have the pledge and song for the next meeting.

Germans Refuse Asylum to Russian

BONN, Germany (AP) — The West German government refused today to grant asylum to a Soviet seaman who quit his ship in Tokyo.

The sailor, Viktor I. Shisheyalkin, 28, was aboard a Russian ship that brought tourists to Japan for the olympics.

A spokesman for the Foreign Ministry said under both German and international law, West Germany could grant Shisheyalkin asylum only if he had come direct to Germany from a Communist country or if he was in immediate danger of persecution in Japan.

Officials said the normal thing would be for the man to apply to the Japanese for asylum. Japanese police are holding him in protective custody.

GAZETTE TELEGRAPH

Your Freedom Newspaper

Ever striving for the Pikes Peak Region to be an even better place to live

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is self-control, no more, no less. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Another Useful Questionnaire

We have become increasingly pleased and increasingly aware of one Ralph F. Peck. Mr. Peck operates a Postal Litho Printing Service in Whittier, California (124 South Washington Avenue) and he produces some rollicking good satire on the vagaries and incomprehensibilities of various government operations.

Only recently he furnished us with a copy of a letter he wrote to the Department of Commerce in Washington. The letter reminds us of our own blank form to be used by persons who are undergoing investigation at the hands of some government bureau and we reproduce this letter, which requires no further explanation:

"Regarding your nine-page, giant-size Business Census form, it was bad enough for your department to jam the ordinary mails with your first questionnaire consisting of 4 square feet (588 sq. inches to be exact) of explanation of the accompanying questionnaire consisting of 10 more square feet (1440 square inches to be exact) of IMPOSSIBLE FOR ME TO ANSWER questions.

"Now your department has had the lack of consideration for the taxpayer's pocketbook to answer my returned questionnaire with another one, just received, consisting of 8 square feet (1144 square inches to be exact) sent by AIRMAIL no less and with another 'free' postage envelope enclosed for airmail reply.

"Believe me, I tried to furnish answers to the first questionnaire you sent me. The ones left unanswered I did not know and could not afford to pay someone else to spend the time trying to figure out. It seems to be increasingly necessary for me personally to put in TOO many hours plus paying others for taking costly time to work on government reports of one kind or another. . .some reaching a high degree of assinity.

"Years ago a New Jersey man in the chicken business balked relative to the NRA. He didn't last long but neither did the NRA. I would like to go on record as being not smart enough to answer all of the questions on your Census Questionnaires . . . AND emphatically objecting to SAME.

"Incidentally, I would appreciate your furnishing me with the answers to the following questions. I am serious about wanting this information which should not be difficult for you to furnish by simply taking from your records, plus applying some eighth grade arithmetic.

"How many different KINDS of questionnaires did your department have printed? ———

"How many sheets of paper (10^1_4 x 16 in size) did each kind of questionnaire consist of? (or to make this one easier) — what was the AVERAGE number of sheets per questionnaire? ———

"What (approximately) do your records show this cost? $———

"How much room is required for this operation? Answer in square feet, buildings, various locations, etc.———

"What do your records show this costs the taxpayers? $———

"How many thousand of dollars of postal (taxpayers) loss does this represent because of 'franked free delivery'? $———

"How many employees are engaged (exclusive of those involved in the printing of the tons of questionnaires) in the function of sending, receiving and compiling, plus filing these forms (during a fiscal year)? ———

"What do your records show this costs the taxpayers in annual salaries for these people? $———

"Assuming the questions did make sense and it was possible to answer them, how many days do you suppose it would take for the average business to complete the form? ———

"Multiply this figure times 8 by the number of questionnaires mailed out———

"Now multiply these millions of man hours by a minimum of $3.00 to $5.00 per hour (which would be the hourly rate paid to anyone smart enough to even try to figure out the questionnaire). $———

"How many millions of dollars of cost to private business does this amount to? $———

"And finally, add the millions of dollars of private business cost to the millions of taxpayers' money it costs to maintain this 'service.' This amount of $——— would go a long way toward balancing the national budget, would it not?———

"With all of the foregoing in mind, won't you honestly admit that any intended good is far outweighed by the bad of this master-piece of nebulosity?

"Your Department of Commerce, of all the departments of government, should (if only by example) lead all others in an effort to ENCOURAGE private enterprise, not try to KILL it. We have the best government in the world — however there is plenty of room for improvement . . such as the elimination (for the good of all concerned) of an expensive, permanent agency whose purpose, function, operation and end result is as this one."

Recommending Candidates

In an adjoining column today we are reprinting an editorial from the Wall Street Journal, which tells why that newspaper does not announce support of any candidate for President.

Because it generally is similar to the stand taken by the Gazette Telegraph through the years, we are offering it to our readers.

The Gazette Telegraph does not believe it should tell its readers how to vote.

The Gazette Telegraph believes that too great an emphasis is placed on political solutions of human problems. And because of that belief we have been critical of Republicans and Democrats alike on the national and state scene, and of the non-partisan officials in local government. We believe that individuals must learn once again to stand on their own feet and not seek governmental intervention in the affairs of men and women.

Thus, we will continue to point out the benefits of individual enterprise, individual self-reliance, individual self-responsibility. Only thus will there be a turn toward real freedom.

In our view, there are too few individuals on the political scene, nationally, in the state, or in the local communities, who truly advocate individual freedom — which means self-control. When we find one we attempt to give credit. When we see departures from the principles of individual freedom and self-responsibilities, we attempt to point to what we consider errors in the thinking of those involved.

We have found that the speeches and statements of the present Republican candidate for president to be closer to the ideas we endorse, than have been the speeches and acts of the incumbent. Mr. Goldwater, we think, is advocating steps to start moving the United States toward individual freedom. If he is elected, and he is able to keep his promises —an almost impossible task — we will give him credit. If he departs from his announced principles, we will be in position to point out his errors, as we have done with Mr. Johnson, the late Mr. Kennedy, Mr. Eisenhower, and their predecessors.

We, like the Wall Street Journal, will offer our opinions as forcefully as we can on the issues as they arise, and will leave to the individual reader the judgment as to whether our ideas have merit.

Memo to Our Readers

From Wall Street Journal

For many years past it has been our practice not to announce our support of any candidate in the quadrennial presidential campaigns.

This practice apparently puzzles a number of our readers, some of whom have already written asking when we will recommend our choice this year. A few of these seem to think that in not doing so we are somehow guilty of a dereliction of duty, either from timidity or indecisiveness.

Well, perhaps we are; but if so, so be it. We don't propose this year either to tell our readers whom to vote for.

One reason is that we suspect it would be futile. We've never quite been able to believe that our million or so readers are sitting around with bated breath unable to make up their own minds until we tell them what to do. We even have a sneaking suspicion that most American voters are unmoved by the traditional endorsements offered by newspaper editors, labor leaders, businessmen or their next door neighbors.

At any rate we have observed that in a good many elections past the majority of newspapers endorsed one candidate and the majority of the people voted for a different one. And in at least one instance we could not even sell our endorsement to the lady at our house.

But this is not the whole of the matter. We have some other reasons for not committing ourselves to a particular political party.

For one thing, it seems to us that the primary function of a newspaper is to tell people what is happening in the world be it good, bad or neither; fulfilling this function requires that we report failures as well as successes, in politics as in business. To attach ourselves to such-and-such a candidate would risk the unconscious temptations, however slight, to give more attention to developments favorable to his cause than unfavorable to it.

The temptation would certainly be there in the path of the newspaper when we make our comments on passing events. And even if we avoided it, a reader could certainly be excused for wondering about the non-partisanship of our prejudices once we had nailed one candidate's name to the masthead.

It happens that in this campaign we agree with Mr. Johnson on some things, with Mr. Goldwater on others, and disagree with each of them on a number of things. If editorial comments on the issues of the day have any usefulness at all they are certainly more useful if they are made without regard to one man's political fortunes.

None of this means we will shy away from decided opinions on those issues; on the contrary, we hope to leave no reader in doubt where we stand in the struggle of ideas. We would even hope, but without much expectation, that some readers might be moved by our arguments on the issues and that these arguments might in a small way influence them in choosing a candidate.

But the fact is that no candidate is likely to embody the views of any voter on every issue. A voter's final decision, then, must be an intensely personal balancing of many factors, an inner inquiry to decide which is more important to that particular voter — the candidate's views on the farm program or NATO or the impression he gives of ability and trustworthiness.

In this final assessment, no man can really decide for another. Certainly we won't presume to do so. What we will presume to do is something much more modest, to offer honest opinions as forcefully as we can on the issues as they arise, leaving to every reader the judgment on them, including the final private judgment he will make on election day.

And we rather think that's what the voters will do that day, regardless of what anybody tells them.

Difficulties In Communication

By GEORGE BOARDMAN

A couple of weeks ago I wrote a column about what will be the end of the Chloride story for Dawn and me. I have received quite a few letters about that column and at least three out of every five letter writers completely misunderstood what I tried to say. A few people imagined we were about to move closer to the post-barbarian state they call civilization, despite my flat statement to the contrary. A very few who seemed to be gloating about our predicaments made me feel sorry for them; they must find little happiness, if any.

Since I wrote that column we have seen "the ranch" although we did not have the time to walk over each of the 100-plus acres. We did drive up the PIVATE ROAD and walked across the bridge over a small ravine and looked at the elderly and lovely cedar house —two stories plus attic. We realized the ranch is six miles from the closest grocery store or telephone and that REA electrical power poles do not detract from the natural beauty. A long-held ambition of mine will be satisfied when we move to a place where no poles or drooping wires clutter up the landscape. No one can convince me that people pretending to be civilized will for long put up with the ugliness of overhead transmission lines.

Since Dawn and I have had little experience with trying to grow garden produce, we will not know how we'll make out until we try, but there's water and soil, a couple of items which are lacking in this ghost town of Chloride, particularly water, for which we pay $6.00 a month whether we get any or not. For the past year, however, we have had plenty of water for the operation of My Motel, so we have no really good reason to complain.

In our new location there is an abundance of game and we will certainly try to live off the land as much as possible. Unfortunately we are mighty ignorant about such things but we'll learn.

I have just been pleasantly interrupted by a too short visit with Mr. Waugh from Abilene, Texas, who is a reader of the Gazette Telegraph of Colorado Springs and mighty friendly towards Mr. LeFevre and the Freedom School. This visit reemphasized the spread of the freedom philosophy for me. While regretting the necessity of moving from Chloride, our friendly visitor feels we will be comfortable in our new location, with which he is quite familiar. In fact, he knows a lot more about it than we do at the present time.

Eagle, Colorado, appears to be an interesting town. We'll learn more about that before long, also. Generally speaking, the area around Eagle is spectacularly scenic. We were told that the potato is lord of the earth in that vicinity and that reminds me of something I have not considered for many years —the potato alcohol of the prohibition years. A lot of the bathtub gin made in Hollywood in those days, was made with potato alcohol.

We hope to be moved before the first heavy snow falls, which is about as indefinite as the promise of a politician. Maybe we'll get lucky and be in Eagle by election day, listening to the returns occasionally, over a battery-operated radio. If so, a little real color will be added to the dullness, for us.

Listening to radio reports from around the country, from here, I get the feeling that the promoters for the incumbent are using the same technique which provided the touring Beatles with publicity. A cynic of our acquaintance remarked that the yells of childish joy greeting the Democrat candidate probably cost the national committee from 50 cents to $1.00 per head. He added that the Goldwater addicts pay to get in but the Johnson enthusiasts collect, in advance. He may be right! We'll be thinking about bucks from a different point of view because both of us really enjoy venison.

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

Question No. 597: "If voluntarily doing business with government is 'sanctioning the system' and accepting government jobs, government contracts, voluntary servitude in the military, voluntary use of government owned utilities and etc., is doing business with government, then is an individual 'sanctioning the system' when he CHOOSES to do business with these employees? For example: 1. A man claims to be in private enterprise in the insurance business, however sells policies almost exclusively to military personnel. 2. A man makes his living constructing houses for government employees. 3. A shopping center built in an area for the purpose of doing business with factory employees who are under government contract or near a military installation. These are just a few of many examples of people doing business indirectly with government. I would very much appreciate your opinion on this. — ANN ROBBINS

Answer: In normal business dealings with people, we do not inquire of them as to where they work, whether or not they operate with government contracts or how they obtained their funds. It would be a little incongruous to demand of every customer the information as to the method he employs whereby he earns a living. It is a matter of good taste to avoid such personal inquiries unless there is a reason to become suspicious.

Any man going into business, does so to serve the general public. To our view, he should have total discretionary rights to select those portions of the public he will serve. However, the inroads of government are so broad and all encompassing that, at the moment, a removal of sanction in all secondary areas is impractical. But a beginning can be made at primary levels by refusing direct sanction.

Government is such a big factor today that it is almost impossible for private enterprise of any size or in certain areas to exist and not sell products to government employees. How can the area occupied by private enterprise be expanded if those who believe in it refuse to expand it? All government employees are private persons. The function of private enterprise includes serving private individuals.

It is possible, assuming sufficient information is available, for a person to convey his distaste of compulsion in all areas by means of communication rather than by means of boycott. Where choices are open to a person, it behooves him to have as little to do with government at all levels as possible. Sometimes choices have been limited by force. In such cases, it is possible for the person to do business, but to clearly indicate that he does not favor compulsion at any level, primary or secondary.

The final effort of the individual should be to inform, not to control. Since he cannot control the energies of the other person, but he can control his own energies, it seems practical and reasonable for him to communicate rather than bring pressures.

Withdrawing sanction requires a certain attitude of mind, far more than it demands specific physical performance.

SECRET GIVEAWAY

To the Editor:

The Ft. Lauderdale (Florida) News (July 22, 1964) charges that while millions of Americans remain blissfully ignorant of what's going on, another quiet deal whereby Russian scientists are being handed a valuable gift package of American nuclear know-how has now been brought to the signed, sealed, and delivered stage by the Johnson administration.

Were it not for the efforts of one of our scientists employed at our Oakridge nuclear establishment, it is doubtful that any public disclosure of this deal would have been made. According to nuclear scientist Don Kahlson, who is employed at the Oakridge plant and who has decided to run for Congress in an effort to expose and stop the secret giveaway of our nuclear research information, Russian scientists are already carrying off U. S. technology in "carload lots."

Mr. Kahlson has flatly charged that the theory that the Soviets are mellowing is nothing more than a "muddle-headed dream" on the part of the State Department planners. Until Mr. Kahlson spoke out, this latest giveaway had been kept secret from the U. S. people for the purpose of hiding the fact that costly research they have financed is now being given free to the Soviets by President Johnson.

This business confirms the belief that while our top officials pose as following a hard line against the communists, what we are doing by secret negotiations is something entirely different. The secrecy veil has been thrown up by the White House to hide the true state of affairs.

This sort of give-away has been going on for many years. After World War II there was a wholesale give-away of nuclear material, as well as all kinds of war materials by the millions of dollars' worth, all without even a thank you from the Soviets. Why do our foolish Presidents and State Department and congressmen continue to follow such a soft line toward those wicked people? They are our acknowledged enemies including every communist country, except when they need some favor, such as wheat, or a steel factory, or a foreign aid hand-out, and our government hands them all they ask for.

I think we should make a law that to give any money to any nation at any time, would be a crime punishable by fines and imprisonment for all who voted to allow the gift. It is a crime to give away other people's money and leave our debts unpaid. How can we impress this fact upon our rulers? They don't seem to learn.

That horrible SALARY RAISE was a disgrace to all who voted for it, but not many people seem to know or care that they have been robbed. Johnson advocated giving them the 10,000 dollar raise, but that did not pass so he assisted in getting them the $7,500 boost. That's the kind of man he is, helps along all good causes if they cost a lot of money. Vote him out, it might help a little, couldn't be worse.

NURSING SCHOOL

To the Editor:

We wish to thank you for inserting the article of the canvassing that was being done in the Broadmoor area concerning the Seton School of Nursing. We appreciate your support in helping us control the situation.

We would also like to thank the people in Colorado Springs who alerted the authorities of the Seton School of the unauthorized soliciting of subscriptions through the Seton School of Nursing. Since we do not have the names of many of the people who called, we wonder if it would be possible to have a small notice placed in your newspaper of our thank you.

PRICES

To the Editor:

Johnson talks about wages, says they will go higher if he is elected. Please take note that stores are showing more and more items of all kinds marked "Made in Japan, Italy, France, British Hong Kong, West Germany."

Recently I passed a store with shirts in their window like the ones I wear and priced at $4.95. I went in and examined them — same material, finished better than the American made, which costs $8.95.

How much longer can we continue under the present administration policy to keep our factories working?

We are pricing ourselves out of both world and our own markets.

The Local Scene

The Awful Alternative

By RUFUS L. PORTER

I have been asked by friends, and by readers whom I have never met, to comment on the differences between the two candidates for president. First I will point out that since both men are politicians they are brothers under the skin to paraphase Rudyard Kipling.

But there are often great differences between brothers, and some of the differences between these two political brothers I will attempt to assay here.

From what I have learned by studying the lives of the two in articles and books written by their contemporaries, I am inclined to believe they are poles apart in their ambitions and in their methods of achieving them.

From J. Evetts Haley's book, "A Texan Looks at Lyndon," no statement of which has ever been denied by Johnson, we learn that Lyndon is money and power mad and rides roughshod over all who stand in his way, whether friend or foe. He has consorted with crooks and hoodlums in all sorts of nefarious schemes to advance his rise to power.

According to Haley, Johnson is a man totally devoid of scruples with dreams of grandeur beyond the wildest dreams of any former American president. I have read the views of other conservatives on Lyndon Johnson and they only differ in the degree of their condemnation of him.

I have also read paens of praise for Johnson as a man and as president. But they were all written by left-leaning writers whom I do not trust.

On the other hand, even Goldwater's enemies extol his political and personal virtues. I have never read or heard anything derogatory about Barry except from the mouths and pens of his political opponents, whom, again, I do not trust.

There is no doubt in my mind but that "power corrupts." We have all seen far too much proof of Lord Acton's dictum in our lifetimes to believe otherwise.

Power corrupts even "good" men. Many men who were not unacquainted with principles, ethics, scruples and fairdealing; men who were upright, courageous, honest and sincere; men noted for their integrity and high moral standards have been corrupted when trusted with power over their fellowmen.

But, and this a big but (no pun intended), when an individual who is already corrupt, rotten to the core and totally ruthless seeks and gains power, then we have corruption indeed. It takes a number of years for a good man to become so corrupt that he can do any great degree of harm. Corruption, in his case is a process of slow erosion. He surrenders one principle at a time, and that reluctantly. But, in the end, he is corrupted, even though he started out with the best of intentions.

But the evil one, who seeks power for its own sake, brings corruption ready made and full blown into the field as soon as his power is confirmed. From the evidence at hand, I do not believe that Johnson was corrupted by elevation to high office — he was already corrupt. But, with absolute power, which is almost within his grasp, he may become "corrupt absolutely."

David Lawrence had an excellent editorial in "United States News and World Report" a couple of weeks ago entitled, "Two Trends." He mentioned no names and accused no one of corruption. But he made it very clear that if we follow the trend toward bigger government and more socialism, we will soon pass the point of no return. But if we follow the trend away from socialism, he for one seems to think we have a choice this election. He holds out some hope of regaining our lost liberties.

I took Lawrence's editorial to be an endorsement of Goldwater, as many readers have so taken the Gazette Telegraph's editorial, "Post Endorses LBJ." If they were not endorsements, they certainly leaned away from Johnson and toward Goldwater.

As for Goldwater, I must admit I have been disappointed in him since he won the nomination in San Francisco. He has, in my opinion, compromised his position and made deals that have done him no good. But I believe he is as basically sound as a politician can be. I do not believe that he is evil or corrupt or power or money mad. I believe him to be one whom the acids of power will erode with difficulty, at first.

But I do not believe that if he is elected he will be able to stop our drift toward a superstate ruled by an absolute dicator. He will, at best, be able to slow it down a few years. For that reason, I hope he is elected. The alternative is too awful to contemplate.

But he can't win. The Democrats have control of the voting machines in all the places where it counts. Unless Goldwater wins by a great landslide, an improbability, he can't win at all. The ballot boxes will be stuffed enough to cancel out any small majority.

If you don't believe they can "fix" the voting machines, read, "Let's Make This an Honest Election" by Bill Surface in the September Reader's Digest. After reading it you will wonder how in heck we can make it honest. Only the naive can believe in political honesty.

Watchdog Group Is Planned for 'Vote Frauds'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The GOP National committee is taking steps to prevent a repetition next month of alleged vote frauds that some Republicans believe cost Richard M. Nixon the 1960 presidential election.

Republican National Chairman Dean Burch announced Monday a nationwide watchdog campaign for policing the polls on Nov. 3 and checking on voter registration lists.

Burch, in announcing the "ballot security program," said millions of Americans still believe that GOP candidate Nixon was deprived of the presidency in 1960 by "widespread vote frauds in key states."

"The evidence of such fraud was indisputable," Burch said. "We are going to see that such chicanery doesn't happen again."

He said the GOP program would involve trained observers posted in every state, county, and precinct.

Before Nov. 3, they will check voting lists by door-to-door canvassing to eliminate "tombstone" voters.

On Election Day, they will observe actual balloting and vote tabulations and will "be ready to call in law enforcement officers to settle cases on the scene and to prevent voter intimidation."

Harlington Wood Jr., a Springfield, Ill., lawyer and former U.S. attorney for the Southern District of Illinois, was named program director.

Bobby Explains Why Cuba Wasn't Bombed

HUNTING, N. Y. (UPI) — Former U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said Tuesday the late President John F. Kennedy decided against bombing Cuba during the 1962 Soviet missile crisis because it was feared 25,000 Cubans would be killed in the initial strike.

The Democratic Senate candidate told a gathering of parochial school teachers at a meeting in this Long Island community:

"We could have gone in there and knocked out all their bases—there wasn't any question about it—and then started bargaining.

"The President's information was that approximately 25,000 people would be killed if the bombers were sent in."

He said Kennedy chose a naval blockade of the island because it was "right, moral and the best thing to do.

"The other would have been a Pearl Harbor in reverse and this country just could not do that."

Gulf-to-Rockies Road Plan May Be Proposed

DENVER (AP) — Colorado Gov. John A. Love will confer this weekend with the governors of Oklahoma and Louisiana about the possibility of establishing Gulf-to-the-Rockies interstate highway.

The governor said today he will meet with Gov. Henry Bellmon of Oklahoma and Gov. John J. McKeithen of Louisiana at Baton Rouge Friday.

Saturday the Colorado chief executive will participate in dedication of the new Markham's Ferry Dam east of Tulsa, Okla.

Love said that Louisiana and Oklahoma are very interested in developing an interstate road from the Gulf of Mexico near New Orleans to the Rockies near Denver if there is further expansion of the interstate highway system. The present interstate programs continue until 1972 and Love said he doubts there will be further mileage allocated until near expiration of this program.

The governor said Colorado is interested but has made no commitments.

"If we are to have another interstate highway," he said, "there is also the question whether this is to be the place for it."

Chief Engineer Charles E. Shumate of the Colorado Highway Department also said discussions are in a preliminary stage on such a highway. Shumate said it probably would enter Colorado near Lamar and would work northwestward to a connection with Interstate Highway 70 in the vicinity of Limon. He said some existing road undoubtedly would be used but that no attempt has been made yet to designate any actual route.

Firm Decides At Last to Build Own City

By JESSE BOGUE

NEW YORK (UPI) — When McCulloch Corporation, a few years ago, let it be known it was thinking of relocating a manufacturing plant then in the Los Angeles area, it was besieged with offers from state and community development groups.

"They came from all over the country," said Robert P. McCulloch Jr. "They kept coming during the time we were making a two year study."

But McCulloch reversed the field on the promotion groups from existing communities. it decided to build up a town of its own.

Thus was born the idea of Lake Havasu City, now rising along the shores of 100-square mile Lake Havasu in Arizona, 235 air miles east of Los Angeles and 150 northwest of Phoenix.

McCulloch Corporation is the world's biggest producer of chain saws, and ranks high in production of outboard motors. In its research on the motor division, it had operated a test center since 1958 on the lake. The body of water was formed by the backup from Parker Dam on the Colorado River.

"We wanted a place to locate our chain manufacturing operation," explained young McCulloch on a recent visit here. "We spent over $100,000 on our own surveys, and finally these showed a choice, for us, narrowed down to one of three general areas: Denver, Phoenix or Wichita.

"Then we thought: Why not Yake Havasu? It had everything we needed—good climate and air, water, and space. Why not go there."

McCulloch is a director of McCulloch Oil Corp. of California. His father, Robert P. McCulloch, is president and chairman of the board of McCulloch Corp., McCulloch Oil Corp. of California, and McCulloch Properties Inc., a wholly - owned subsidiary of the second - nam corporation.

Lake Havasu already has many tourist attractions, but McCulloch talked of its future as a city and a light industrial center. The corporation has about 4,000 employees in the United States now; is estimates that it will have 1,000 of these at Lake Havasu City by 1968, making chain for the chain saw. By 1975 it expects to have about 4,00 there. Its industrial park has room for other light industry.

McCulloch said that the community is planned for an ultimate density of 50,000 persons.

Arthritic Hand

Crippling Pain of ARTHRITIS-RHEUMATISM IS BEING CONQUERED BY NEW DISCOVERIES

We have lately issued reports on our valuable research findings and excellent results in the treatment of cancer, multiple sclerosis, polio, cerebral palsy and mental defiiciency, heart diseases and arthritis at the Spears Chiropractic Hospital, Denver, Colo. As a result, thousands of "hopeless" and discouraged people who knew little about this institution or chiropractic have found new hope and blessed relief from [illegible] and many other types of disease.

Reports are now in the making on our latest research findings and gratifying results in tuberculosis, epilepsy, muscular dystrophy, headaches, and other problem ailments. Although this article deals specifically with arthritis and rheumatism, you are invited to write us for free information on the great relief being given here, and by competent chiropractors everywhere from these and many other diseases in patients of all ages.

What Is Arthritis—Rheumatism?

These are general terms applied to a painful and destructive inflammatory process which affects joints, muscles and sometimes other tissues of the body. "Rheumatism" is the more general term, since it may apply to inflammation of the joints, muscles, heart or other tissues. "Arthro" means joint; "itis" means inflammation. Thus arthritis means inflammation or rheumatism of one or more joints. The various names given rheumatic and arthritic ailments stem from their location and degree of advancement.

Sometimes only one joint is affected and sometimes several or all joints; sometimes only muscles; sometimes both muscles and joints. Sometimes the whole system is affected, often leaving an aftermath of "rheumatic heart" or recurrent rheumatic fever.

What Causes Rheumatism—Arthritis?

Like many other problem diseases, arthritis and rheumatism arise not from one but from a combination of causes. And such combinations are frequently different in different persons. Our research findings show the following to be the principal causes in most cases:

Giving this notice to a sick friend may help save his life.

1. A pinch on the vital nerves where they leave the spinal cord through openings between spinal joints, causing congestion and interference with the flow of nerve energy to the joints or other parts affected.

2. Inefficient functioning of the organs of digestion, assimilation and elimination, and the settling of body poisons in joints and tissues weakened by an improper nerve and neutrative supply.

3. An imbalance of powerful natural hormones necessary to normal body functioning brought about by an over-production by some glands and under-production by others.

4. Pathogens and malignains—disease poisons and virulent ferments thrown into the system from joints, organs, glands or other tissues where degenerative or malignant conditions are already active.

Is Arthritis Related to Cancer?

This may prove shocking to some people, but the purpose of research is to discover facts. Knowing the facts does not make any condition worse. And the facts are that the researchers at Spears Chiropractic Hospital have found much evidence indicating that advanced arthritis is a rheumatoid type of malignancy. Arthritis is seldom fatal, but its actions and symptoms are similar in many ways to certain types of cancer. Its principal distinguishing feature is that it attacks only the joints. But, unlike other types of malignancy, it may manifest itself in growth or destruction, it may enlarge or destroy or do both to the joints it attacks.

X-ray revelations, certain blood and other tests also exactly simulate those of cancer. Foods that aggravate cancer, aggravate advanced arthritic conditions; and the treatment at Spears that is proving so effective in cancer, is very helpful in the treatment of advanced arthritic conditions.

Cancer End Product of Other Diseases

Our research shows that cancer is seldom a separate and distinct disease. It is usually the end product of other diseases and often flourishes in combination with other diseases. The diseases which may end in a malignant condition known as cancer are usually of the inflammatory or "itis" types, and the advanced stages of arthritis, known as hypertrophic arthritis, atrophic arthritis, rheumatoid arthritis and arthritis deformans are so malignant they might accurately be considered rheumatoid types of joint cancer.

Just as some cancers are combinations of both the growing and the "eating" types, in its advanced stages arthritis often is a combination of growing and degenerating processes. In some arthritic joints, the cartilages forming the articulating surfaces are literally destroyed; and in others the joints enlarge by excess bony but diseased growth, while some joints show similar enlargements combined with destruction of both the cartilage and the articulating ends of the bones.

Joint Work at Spears Amazing

The discoveries and developments made at Spears Chiropractic Hospital for the regeneration of damaged or destroyed joints in children and the reactivation of adult joints badly damaged by other diseases, are also proving helpful in many instances in the treatment of malignant arthritic joints.

Thousands Happy with Results

Although thousands of patients who flock to Spears from every state in the Union and several foreign countries proclaim their results as miraculous, we do not claim to cure. Only nature cures. Our job is to assist nature. This we are doing to the satisfaction of many thousands. Because about 90% of our patients reach us after having been given up or declared incurable elsewhere, naturally some of them arrive too late for complete relief, but a great majority go home well satisfied and happy. These include hundreds of cases of arthritis and rheumatism.

For further information see your local chiropractor and write Spears Chiropractic Hospital for documented proof of results in scores of different diseases—free. Also send names of friends you want to get our literature.

GAZETTE TELEGRAPH
COLORADO SPRINGS—WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 14, 1964 SECTION B

Surgeon General Speaker for Dedication

Dr. Luther L. Terry, surgeon general of the U.S. Public Health Service, will speak Friday at dedication ceremonies for the new $250,000 addition to the Webb - Waring Institute for Medical Research at the University of Colorado Medical Center in Denver.

The ceremonies are scheduled for 3 p.m. on the medical campus adjacent to the Webb Building.

Dr. Robert L. Stearns, Institute president, will preside. Speakers will include Denver Mayor Thomas Currigan; Dr. Joseph R. Smiley, president of the University of Colorado; Dr. John J. Conger, CU vice president for Medical Affairs and Dean of the School of Medicine, and Dr. Roger S. Mitchell, director of the Institute.

The addition to the privately endowed research organization will be utilized for research laboratories, animal quarters, sterilizing facilities, and a conference room to permit expansion of the Institute's program of scientific investigations mainly into respiratory and pulmonary disorders.

The Institute bears the names of the late Doctors Gerald B. Webb and James J. Waring, distinguished Colorado physician-scientists who were among the country's pioneers in the scientific attack on tuberculosis. Founded in 1923 at Colorado College, the Institute, then the Colorado Foundation for Research in Tuberculosis, moved to the CU Medical Center in 1953.

The Institute is administered by a volunteer board of trustees headed by Dr. Stearns. Morris A. Esmiol is secretary-treasurer.

About 150 invited guests are expected to attend Friday's ceremony. Anyone wishing to attend may do so by making reservations through the Webb-Waring Institute offices at the Medical Center to insure that seating accommodations are provided.

Gen. Whitehead, First ADC Commander Died

The first commander of the Air Defense Command in Colorado Springs, Lt. Gen. Ennis C. Whitehead (USAF Ret.), died Monday at Lackland AFB, Texas. Stricken with emphysema, he had been ill for about eight months. Gen. Whitehead was 69 years old. Interment will be at Arlington National Cemetery Thursday.

A native of Westphalia, Kansas, General Whitehead left the University of Kansas to begin his military career by entering the Army as a flying cadet in August 1917. He served in France during World War I and was honorably discharged in January 1919.

He returned to the University of Kansas to receive a Bachelor of Arts degree and in July 1920 was commissioned a First Lieutenant in the Air Service of the Regular Army.

In July 1942, he was appointed Deputy Commander, Fifth Air Force in the Southwest Pacific. He became its commander in June 1944 and served in that position throughout the remainder of World War II. In March 1946, he assumed command of the Far East Air Forces.

After nearly seven years of continuous overseas duty, he returned to the United State to command the Continental Air Command at Mitchel AFB, New York. He held this position until January 1951 when he was appointed Commander of the reactivated Air Defense Command here at Ent AFB.

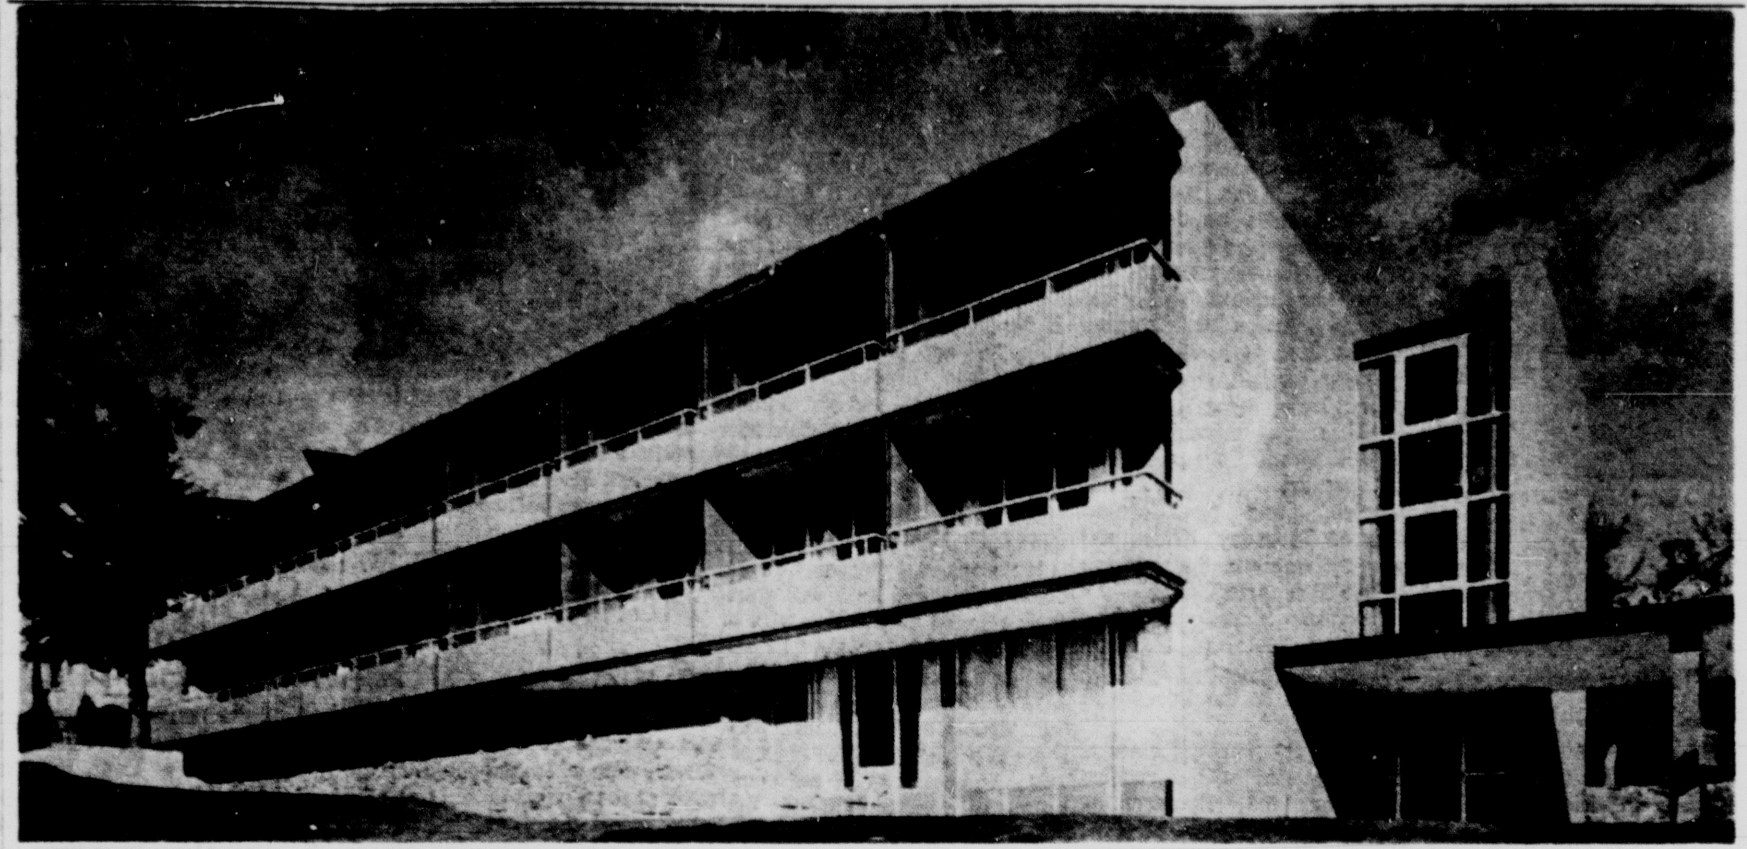
During his career, Gen. Whitehead received the Distinguished Service Cross, the Distinguished Service Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Silver Star, the Distinguished Flying Cross, and foreign decorations from the governments of Chile, Peru, Venezuela and Bolivia.

Purse, Cash Stolen From Local Woman

A purse containing $16 in bills was stolen from a woman in a local grocry store Tuesday, police reported.

Vera H. Gill, of 514 N. Nevada Ave., told police she was in the Safeway Store at 217 N. Nevada Ave., and thought she put her purse in her shopping cart or had it on her arm. She said she didn't see anyone around her when she discovered that the purse was missing.

She reported it to the manager at 12:15 p.m., but neither he nor Mrs. Gill could find the purse.



NEWEST BUILDING — Newest and most modern building of the Cragmor Sanatorium complex in Colorado Springs, which is being given to the University of Colorado, is this nursing home built in 1960. Little or no remodeling will be required to make this structure useful as a conference center.

Mrs. Goldwater Event Changed To Center

The luncheon honoring Mrs. Barry Goldwater, who is to visit Colorado Springs, has been changed to the International Center of the Broadmoor Hotel.

The event, which is open to the public, is set for 12:30 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 21. This will be Mrs. Goldwater's appearance in the city.

Because of a large demand for tickets, the luncheon, which was originally scheduled for the hotel's Grand Ballroom, had to be switched to the larger center.

Tickets, priced at $3 apiece, are still available and may be obtained at Republican Headquarters, 10 S. Tejon, or by contacting, Mrs. John Hays, 634-1639; Mrs. Paul Borchert, 633-2808; Mrs. Arnold Taylor, 1310 Holmes Dr., 633-2810; or Mrs. L. T. McCauley, 1205 Wood Ave., 633-8096.

Mrs. Goldwater, accompanied by Mrs. John Love, wife of the governor, will arrive in Colorado Springs the morning of the 21st after attending a coffee in Pueblo. Following the luncheon at the Broadmoor, she will travel on to Denver.

Rep. J. Edgar Chenoweth, seeking re-election to Congress in November, local GOP candidates and officials are also expected to be on hand for the affair.

The luncheon is sponsored by area Republican women. Those wishing to attend are urged to buy tickets early.

Traffic Mishaps Show Increase

Traffic accidents in the city in September increased by approximately 23 per cent over the same month a year ago, or from 233 in Sept., 1963, to 298 this year, according to Police Chief Cecil J. McKissick and Lt. H. D. Tinsley, traffic bureau commander.

McKissick said there were 55 auto injury accidents in September with 80 injuries and no fatalities. This compares with 56 auto accidents and 76 injuries, including one fatality, for September of last year.

During the past month, McKissick added, there were two auto - pedestrian accidents with two injuries, 11 auto - scooter or cycle accidents with 10 injuries and three auto - bicycle accidents with two injuries.

The police chief also reported there were 21 hit and run accidents last month, with 10 involving unattended vehicles.

There have been four fatal accidents in the city so far this year, the last occurring Aug. 4.

Inattentive driving was once again the biggest single reason for last month's 298 accidents; there were 92 such violations.

Other improper actions indicated on the accident reports included these: taking the right-of-way from vehicles, 68; following too closely, 47; improper backing, 37; disregarding stop signs and traffic signals, 17; improper turning, $10; driving under the influence of liquor, 8; and improper starting from a parked position, 6.

Enforcement action was taken in 79 per cent of the accidents, causing 251 persons to be ticketed.

TO BE REMODELED—Main building of the Cragmor Sanatorium in Colorado Springs, which will be given to the University of Colorado. After remodeling this structure is expected to be used for classroom work at CU's Colorado Springs Center, now located in quarters leased from Colorado College.

Difference Between Great Powers Told by CC Prof

In an address before the Kiwanis Club of Manitou Springs Monday, Dr. Frank Tucker, associate professor at Colorado College, described relations and differences between the three greatest powers in the world today, Russia, China, and the United States.

Dr. Tucker, a leading authority on Far Eastern affairs, compared the three great cities of the nations, Moscow, Peiping, and Washington, D. C. He said China was the most unusual in American eyes, simply because their culture was such a departure from our own. The Chinese, he said, and the word China means "middle world."

They have a wild and arrogant history, including attempting to make a conquest of Europe and Russia in the time of Genghis Kahn. They have no idea of democracy as we know it, Tucker said, and they tend to point out frequently that the United States dropped atomic bombs on Japan. They also accused the U. S. of using germ bombs in the Korean war, but Tucker said that "to the best of my knowledge, this is an outright lie."

Turning to Russia, Tucker said there were extenuating circumstances for their attitude towards other countries, especially the United States. He said the Russians lost 25 million people in World War II, and the figure included those who were starved by the Germans as well as actual fighting casualties. Russia, like China, has very little idea of the practice of democracy, he said. He likened Russia to a "juvenile delinquent" in its beahvior towards Europe and the United States.

Tucker said that he recommends working with the Russians whenever we can without giving up our own safety and protection. He added that the Russians were less dangerous than the Chinese in the long run, because they are not so foreign to our way of thinking as the Chinese are.

He said the prospects of peace with Russia are somewhat better than is usually believed by Americans, simply because they have a far greater need to cut back on their armaments spending than does the U. S. This is so, he said, because the amount they can afford to divert from keeping their people in a fairly contented state is far less than that which the United States can afford.

Responding to a question from the floor about the seriousness of the Russian-Chinese split, Tucker said the split was "very real and very serious." He said authorities on the two countries thought the split was an illusion at first, but that mounting evidence indicates that it is real. In 1959 and 1960 Tucker said the Russians brought their advisors back from China and eventually cut off all aid to China. He said that there were at least 5,000 reported incidents between the Chinese and Russians along their common border in 1963. He concluded that "The Russians and Chinese don't like each other, fear each other, and especially distrust each other."

Forum Series Lecture Slated

The second lecture in the Today's Issues Forum series will be held Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Pueblo City Auditorium.

James G. Law, lawyer, author, lecturer and former technical advisor to the National Security Commission will speak on "The United Nations — A Delusion."

The Today's Issues Forum is a non - profit educational organization formed for the purpose of providing people in the Pueblo vicinity with informative programs on national and international affairs.

"On matters concerning our survival as a free people we do not subscribe to the two-sides-to-every question philosophy," the Today's Issues organization has stated.

Boy Scouts Hold Pancake Supper

Boy Scout Troop 23, First Methodist Church, will hold its semi - annual pancake supper from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. today at the church.

The menu includes pancakes, ham, soft drinks, coffee — all a person can eat. Adults $1.00, children age 5 through 12 years, 50 cents, children under 5 years, no charge.

Proceeds go toward purchasing supplies for the troop.

Firemen Answer Three Alarms Monday

The Colorado Springs Fire Department had three alarms Monday afternoon and night. The first at 12:16 p.m. was a false alarm, which caused runs of Companies 1, 2 and the aerial to Nevada Avenue and Monument Street.

The second alarm came at 12:56 p.m. This was a trash fire at 1612 N. Foote Ave., which was put out by Company 2. It was caused by a spark from an incinerator.

The third alarm, at 8:25 p.m., was a car fire at 119 N. 7th St. Company 3 put out the fire, which the Fire Department report says was caused by a cigarette. George Wilkerson, of that address, was the owner of the car.

Assistant Chief Herman Richter was in charge in all of these runs.

CC Employment Shows Increase

Employment is up again this year at Colorado College.

The Colorado College Directory—which includes faculty, administrative officers and staff — this fall lists 420 employes.

This is an increase of 34 over last year's employment figure at the independent liberal arts college.

Employment at the college increased by 11 persons last year, and by 26 the previous year. In 1960, the college had 332 employes.

Among the employes listed in the 1964-65 directory are 140 members of the teaching faculty.

The directory this year lists 1,441 students.

Also listed in the 40 - page directory are staff members of the Fine Arts Center, the fraternities and sororities on campus, and the main events scheduled on the 1964-65 academic calendar.

Cragmor Gift Termed 'Magnificent Gift to City, CU Springs Center'

The Cragmor Foundation, valued at more than $1.5 million, was formally presented to the University of Colorado Tuesday at the annual stockholders luncheon of the Colorado Sprngs Chamber of Commerce.

More than 800 persons attended the luncheon meeting held at the Broadmoor International Center.

Dr. George J. Dwire, president of the Cragmor board of directors, announced the gift which includes approximately 80 acres of land and several buildings housing the Cragmor Sanatorium on the south slopes of Austin Bluffs northeast of the city.

Dr. Dwire said the foundation will be dissolved and the sanatorium, which at present has several tuberculosis and nursing home patients, will be phased out of existence over a period of several months.

To be known as the Colorado Springs Center for the University of Colorado, the buildings will be occupied by the university in the fall of 1965. CU's present center is located in quarters leased from Colorado College and must be vacated by September of 1965.

Joseph R. Smiley, president of CU, expressed the university's "profound gratitude for this magnificent gift — a gift not only to the University of Colorado but to the City of Colorado Springs as well."

Smiley specifically expressed appreciation to Dr. Dwire and to his fellow directors of the Cragmor Foundation for "their splendid generosity and for their long-range vision." At the same time, he thanked all leaders of the community "who share the university's hopes for the future of Colorado Springs."

The CU president said the gift will permit the development here of a university-level program and the establishment of an important regional conference center.

This development, he said, holds great promise both for the university and for the Colorado Springs area. "I firmly believe that no major urban community in the United States today can expect to grow and prosper without the advantages of an educational institution offering university - level undergraduate and graduate programs."

Smiley lauded Colorado Springs for its now three institutions of higher education, noting that the city "thus enjoys educational opportunities few other communities can match." He pointed out, however, that the university's program here is in no sense competitive with those of Colorado College or the Academy; "rather, we shall work closely together, each pursuing different areas of education, each augmenting the other."

He said the university expects to begin to offer a sufficient amount of graduate level instruction in the fields of Business Administration, Electrical Engineering, and Applied Mathematics to make possible full programs that would lead to the master's degree.

In addition to classroom instruction, Cragmor will be used for adult education conferences and institutes, including medical conferences, and for other extension programs of the university. Other possible uses which are being studied include nursing education and research by the School of Medicine.

Norman A. Coleman, president of the Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce, noted that the announcement of the gift has a significance which "can be understood only by knowledge of the fact that for some six years now our chamber's Industrial Committee has recognized that the lack of post-graduate educational facilities and courses in Colorado Springs was the chief obstacle to our community's continued and proper development and growth."

Prior to the announcement of the gift by Dr. Dwire, Thomas S. Moon, Chamber of Commerce chairman of the education committee, told the gathering that they were living in a city "with the highest educational level in the United States."

"What makes this achievement even more remarkable is that during the preceding 10 years the population of our community has increased over 90 per cent," Moon said, pointing out that "our remarkable rate of growth was attained with no sacrifice in quality as these outstanding education levels prove."

Lloyd E. Worner, president of Colorado College, stated that CC "enthusiastically welcomes the University of Colorado and we are delighted that they are assuming the responsibility of providing one more important facility in the field of higher education for the residents of our community."

His statement was echoed by Maj. Gen. Robert H. Warren, superintendent of the U.S. Air Force Academy, who said the program will provide innumerable educational advantages to the Academy and its personnel.

A statement from Gov. John Love noted that "As the statewide plan for higher education develops, it is hoped that additional educational opportunities may be made available to the growing industrial and scientific community building now at the base of Pikes Peak."

Cragmor was founded in 1906 by Dr. Edwin S. Solly, an authority on tuberculosis, and continued as a private institution until 1936 when it was reorganized as a non-profit corporation. It has been operated since as a non-profit, non - sectarian organization.

Dwire said total value of the land, buildings and equipment is estimated at between $1.5 and $1.75 million. All physical assets of the corporation are therefore being given to the University of Colorado to be used in programs of health and education.

Military Sites Building Growth Noted at Meet

The current military impact in the Colorado Springs area, dollar-wise, was totalled at $156,095,725 at the C of C Tuesday luncheon at which military leaders briefly spoke on expansion programs.

Gen. Robert Warren, of the Air Force Academy, mentioned the fact that the academy attracts 2 million tourists each year. "For the first time in the Academy's history it is short of quarters," Warren said. "This will mean added dollars to the local economy, specially in the real state field, when new quarter construction begins," he added.

In addition Warren, with the aid of color slides, described the addition of planned Academy facilities including a sleeping quarter appendage, field house and perhaps a new air field in the near future.

Gen. Autrey J. Maroun, speaking for Ft. Carson, said that the present 60,000 acres of the fort is divided into 35,000 acres for houses, administration and storage and the remaining 25,000 acres can accommodate only a quarter of a division for tactical and training purposes.

Plans are now underway and agreements being made to acquire an additional 80,000 acres for the fort which will provide a training area for an entire brigade, the general said.

In addition 17 million is being spent in construction of Carson buildings, a new chapel center is being built, brick barrack complexes will be built and in 1966 a field maintenance facility will be constructed on the premises, he said.

NORAD Chief of Staff Gen. Magee made a brief progress report on the Hardsite project including the stages of completion of various tunnels, highways and installations of the 35 million building phase of the project.

Total dollar expenditures of the various military groups broken into individual categories were: payroll, $123,305,644; 1963 construction, $11,419,527; other expenditures, $21,370,534. The latter expenditures were those channeled into the local economy. The payroll figures include allotments.

District 11 GO Club Gives $15,418 to UF

School District 11 employees through their Give Once Club will contribute $15,418 to the Pikes Peak United Fund and smaller amounts to six other charitable organizations.

The GO Club Committee, headed by Ronald Newson, allocated $1,880 to the American Cancer Society, $469 to the Child Day Care Center, $954 to the Christian Home for Children, $1,091 to the Rocky Mountain Rehabilitation Center, $1,304 to the Heart Fund, and $573 to the Tuberculosis Association.

This year's gifts will increase the total contributions of District 11 employees to $113,066 since 1958 when the GO Club was organized, Newson said.

Both the number of employees participating in the payroll deduction plan and the amount of their pledges increased substantially over last year. Participation increased from 824 to 931, and pledges went up from $19,483 to $21,689, Newson reported.

Every year the GO Club Committee reviews the needs of the United Fund and other agencies and decides which should be retained on the list of recipients and whether others should be added. Go Club members then allocate their individual pledges among the selected agencies or, in some cases, permit the committee to make the allocations for them.

Simla Man Injured in Car Accident

An accident on U. S. 24 Wednesday, six miles east of Falcon, resulted in injuries to a Simla man, the State Patrol reported.

Donald Hellmann, 38, of Simla, Colo., was eastbound on Highway 24 when he fell asleep at the wheel and ran off the right side of the road, the patrol reported. He continued down the right side of the road for 112 feet, bounced over a private turnoff, becoming airborne for approximately 64 feet, rolled over once and came to rest against a tree.

Hellman suffered a bruised chest and bruised ribs, and was taken to Memorial Hospital.

The patrol estimated damage to Hellmann's auto at $100.

Winzley Meredith Services Held Here

Funeral services for Winzley Meredith, 16½ E. Las Vegas St., who died Oct. 5, were held Thursday at Our Chapel of Memories. Burial was in Evergreen Cemetery.

Today Is Last Chance to Register to Vote

Today, Oct. 14, is your last chance to register.

If you want to vote in the 1964 general election you have to be registered, and registration for the election is closed after today.

The elections department of the county clerk and recorder in the County Office Building will be open until 9 p.m. today for the last minute rush.

If you did not vote in the last general election, in 1962, and have not since registered, you are not now registered as the poll books are purged after every general election.

The general election will be on Nov. 3.

Merton E. Ridge Died Sunday in California

Merton E. Ridge, a former resident of Colorado Springs, died Sunday in Los Angeles where he was employed as contracting engineer with Dickson Contracting Co.

Club Will Dress Dolls For Christmas Unlimited

Ent Officers' Wives Club is in charge of collecting, restoring and dressing dolls for Christmas Unlimited again this year. Over 500 parents will purchase these dolls with points according to their needs as recommended by the Welfare Agencies in town. Mrs. Russ Foss is chairman; her co-chairman is Mrs. A. J. DeGroote. Also on the committee are Mrs. James A. Dusenbury, transportation, Mrs. C. L. Miller, telephone and Mrs. H. D. Swain, publicity.

The committee hopes to have 700 finished dolls and many dolls and doll parts are still needed. For this reason, boxes have been placed at the Community Recreation Center, 13 West Colorado, Simms Super in Security, Kings Sooper on Palmer Park Blvd., Ent Base Exchange, NCO Club, and Officers Club and the Air Force Academy Base Exchange. Dolls and doll parts, regardless of condition, can be dropped in these boxes.

A doll workshop group meets every Monday morning at 2125 Alpine Drive to wash, shampoo hair, add an arm or leg and prepare the dolls for dressing. An appeal is out for individuals and organizations to dress these dolls for the Christmas joy of many little girls. Dolls may be secured by calling Mrs. Foss, 634-2913, or Mrs. DeGroote, 473-2608. Deadline for the dressed dolls is Nov. 20th, so order one or a box full for youself or your organization.

Reunions Will Highlight Homecoming Weekend

Colorado College alumni from throughout the United States and Canada will return to the campus Thursday for homecoming weekend.

More than 150 members of the classes of 1939 and 1954 and 1955 will hold class reunions.

Homecoming weekend, which continues through Sunday will feature an alumni-faculty coffee, a reunion of former Freedom and Authority seminar students, football and soccer games, class dinners, and the annual alumni meeting.

The Colorado College Players will present a "pantomime complete" and two one-act plays on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights in the Colorado Springs Fine Arts Center.

The class of 1939 and the classes of 1954 and 1955 will hold two separate reunions dinners — both at the Broadmoor Hotel.

Invited to join the class of 1939 as guests at the reunion table for the Homecoming luncheon are: Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Blakeley, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin S. Weimer, and Arthur G. Sharp. Invited to join the classes of 1954 and 1955 are: Dean and Mrs. Kenneth J. Curran, Dear and Mrs. H. E. Mathias, Dean and Mrs. J. Juan Reid, Prof. and Mrs. Ray O. Werner, Prof. and Mrs. Robert M. Stabler, Prof. and Mrs. Woodson Tyree, Prof. and Mrs. Leon C. Eastlack and Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt Collins.

For the class of 1939, festivities will get underway on Friday evening with cocktails at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Haney, 23 West Del Norte, followed by dinner at El Paso Club. The anniversary dinner is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the Green Room of the Broadmoor Hotel after which they will attend the Homecoming dance at the Broadmoor.

The 1939 class reunion committee, headed by Mrs. Haney, the former Jule Hutchinson, permanent secretary of the class, is composed of: Mrs. Karl F. Andrews (Marian Buckley), Catherine Sparrow Bailey, Mrs. Wallace C. Boyce (Marjorie Combs), Mrs. B. A. Brenner (Bernice Vessey), Mrs. John F. Fordham (Ruth Bischof), Dr. Eugene Griffith, Dr. John E. McWilliams, Mrs. J. Ray Medley (Marion Garritson; and Mr. Cecil Wright, all of Colorado Springs.

Reservations, in addition to members of the committee, include the following: from out of state, Mrs. Stanley E. Wedburg (M. Beth Stewart), Storrs, Conn.; Charles L. Boyce, Oak Park, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Winser (Jeanne Collisson), Metaire, La.; Miss Kathryn Renfro, Lincoln, Neb.; Mrs. J. B. Clough (Jane Underhill), Cleveland Heights, Ohio; Morris E. Worl Jr., Tulsa, Okla.

Expected to attend from the Denver area are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond P. Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Beach, Jr., Dr. and Mrs. D. Houston Buchanan (Louise Grabow), Mr. and Mrs. Gordon E. Bugg (Evelyn Peterson), Mr. and Mrs. James W. Fennell, Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Heath (Rossa Blair Mosher), Mr. and Mrs. L. Vernon Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Leonard (Doris Jones), Mr. and Mrs. Carroll S. Milligan (Virginia Waters), Mr. and Mrs. M. E. O'Neil, Mr. and Mrs. Bertram E. Reuler, Mr. William B. Sheridan, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stillman (Jean Broderick); from Canon City, Mr. and Mr. James L. Sterling and from Colorado Springs, in addition to the committee in charge of reunion arrangements, are Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Reed.

Members of Colorado College classes 1954 and 1955 will start their reunion celebration with a warm-up party at the Iron Springs Chateau in Manitou on Friday. Edward C. (Ned) Pfeiffer, Mountain View, Calif., permanent president of the class of 1954, is chairman of the committee on arrangements for the reunion. David Q. Lewis III, and Howard (Chip) Shaw Jr., Colorado Springs, are local members of the committee.

Early reservations include the following: from Canada, Mr. Mrs. Harold Cowan and Mr. amd Mrs. Kenneth C. Kingsley from Calgary, Alta.; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Robson and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Taylor, Phoenix, Ariz., Mr. and Mrs. Ned Pfeiffer, Mountain View, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Clark and Dr. and Mrs. A. Mathies, Pasadena, Calif.; Kenneth E. Simon, San Rafael, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. William R. Perkins, San Jose, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mathias, Saratoga, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. From the Denver area: Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Chambers, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Daniels, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Fales, Dr. and Mrs. F. K. Magnuson.

From Colo. Springs, in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. Shaw; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brooks, Miss Betsy Coxe, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Maccini, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shearer, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Sinton, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Teske, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Timroth. Coming from towns in Colorado other than Colorado Springs and Denver are: Mr. and Mrs. James D. Parmenter, Cedaredge, and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Sage, Golden.

Key Keen

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (UPI)—How do seventh graders like using typewriters at homework time?

Most students of Middletown City School District who did just that for a year said the typewriters enable them to do neater work. About two-third said school work was made easier, half said the typewriters enabled them to work faster. One-fourth said the machines made school work more fun.

Historical

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Andes mountains of Peru, Ecuador and Bolivia were the first home of tomatoes. Botanists accept the theory that the region having greatest diversity of forms of a given plant is center of origin.

Four fruit forms of tomaties known today were found growing there, used for food by the Indians, in the 6th century. These were small pear-shaped, cherry-shaped, tiny currant-shaped and large round tomatoes, both red and yellow.

Author Reviews Story of Aviatrix, Amelia Earhart

Fall was in the air at the Ent Officers' Wives Club October coffee which was held last week at the Skyline Club. Lovely table decorations denoted the football season. Wives of the NORAD COC sponsored the coffee.

Guest speaker for the occasion was Maj. Paul L. Briand, Associate Professor of English Air Force Academy. Maj. Briand spoke on his book, "Daughter of the Sky," which is a biography of aviatrix Amelia Earhart.

Eighty newcomers were welcomed at the coffee. A special welcome was extended to Mrs. Hoyt Mann, wife of Capt. Hoyt Mann, USN, Commander of Naval Forces, CONAD.

Mrs. J. L. McMahon introduced her house guest, Miss Masae Tokunaga, a native of Japan who is renewing a friendship made while Capt. and Mrs. McMahon were in Japan.

Those pouring included Mrs. Preston Pender, Mrs. Marvin Northrup, Mrs. Roland Taylor, Mrs. Matthew Maxwell, Mrs. Norman Niersbach, and Mrs. W. S. Eberhardt.

Peachy

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Fill up your freezer now — with peaches packed in either sirup or sugar, the U.S. Department of Agriculture suggests.

If you choose a sirup pack, make up the sirup ahead of time so it will be ready and cold when you need it. Peaches are best packed in a sirup made of 3 cups of sugar to 4 cups of water. This will make enough for 8 pints of frozen peaches. Select mature peaches that are firm and ripe. Figure 1 to 1½ pounds fresh peaches for each pint frozen.

Merry Yule

NEW YORK (UPI) — Keep the "merry" in Christmas. Shop now for Christmas cards, the Greeting Card Association suggests.

When you select your personalized cards for Christmas, 1964, you'll find many surprises. The albums with colorful contents offer a tremendous range of choice in both modern and traditional portrayals of well-loved Christmas symbols.

Expenditures for medical research in this country amounted to about $1.4 million last year, the Health Information Foundation reports.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

As the mother of five, and number six on the way . . . my ironing board is always up, and my children are always hungry! So here's how I fix sandwiches in a hurry . . .

I prepare a cheese sandwich as I would for grilling, wrap it securely in aluminum foil (shiny side of the foil next to the sandwich), set my hot iron on top of it for a few minutes, then flip the foilwrapped sandwich over and set the iron on that side for a few minutes. Presto, grilled cheese!

I do this in an assembly line process right on my ironing board, and the sandwiches are delicious.

My ironing may not be up-to-date, but at least my children get pressed sandwiches for lunch! —Gail Keener

---

Dear Gail:

Will you forgive me for being a little dubious (that means we just couldn't believe it!) about this hing?

I don't have five children but my ironing board was up anyhow! I fixed the sandwich and wrapped it just as you said, pre-heated my iron at "Cotton," set it on the sandwich for "one" minute, turned the sandwich over and put the iron on that side for "one" minute.

I opened the foil and the sandwich was a beautiful golden brown on both sides . . . and delish!

I washed the foil and it is ready for my next pressed sandwich.

It doesn't take as long to preheat the iron as it does for a sandwich grill, and it doesn't take as much electricity, so we are saving time and money by using the iron to make our sandwiches.

Haven't tried anything except the cheese so far but am going to try roast beef or ham next time. This is a great idea too for those with no sandwich grill.

Thanks a million, Gail. —Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Did "you" know vinegar is older than it's "mother"? —Hazel B. Leavitt

---

No! But oh, how I love them both! —Heloise

Dear Heloise:

On wash day, I launder my dark clothes first, and when they are partly dry, I take them down from the line and just roll them up . . . no sprinkling and no fading.

Then I do the white clothes and leave them out on the line as long as I like, as the sun is good for them. Sometimes I can iron them the same day if my laundry is small. — Elsa Adeheida

Dear Heloise:

Do you ever make dishes that call for small amounts of onion . . . and you hate to make a mess for just one tablespoon of onion?

I have a trick that I have not seen in your column:

I byy a large quantity of onions and run them through my grinder. Then I divide the ground onions into small amounts, like the portion I will be using in hamburgers, soups, etc. I put the little portions of onions into small plastic containers and freeze them.

This way, there is no spoilage or waste, and I get all the mess of preparing onions over at one time! —Mrs. Lervold

Dear Heloise:

Here is a tip for mothers (or for anyone with sick people to care for) who need to take temperatures often:

Cut a hole in the plastic top of an empty pill bottle (a glass bottle is heavier, therefore better).

Fill the bottle with alcohol and insert the thermometer into the hole in the top.

The thermometer will always be sterile, and since the bottle can be left in the sick room, it saves many trips to the medicine chest and back. —Diane Patch

Toothy

Chicago (UPI) — Hippocrates (460-377 B.C.) was the first to recommend a dentifrice using the recipe of carbonate of lime or chalk mixed with the head of a hare and the intestines of mice.

The American Dental Association, reporting this bit of toothy history, noted also that dentrifrices of more palatable formula were used by Americans last year at the rate of 10.5 ounces per person.

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

National Customs!

DEAR ABBY: I saw the bride's shoe passed at a wedding reception after the groom's best man knocked the bride over, sat on her, took her wedding veil off and put it on the groom's head backwards. I had no idea what was going on, and neither did the bride, but she looked very frightened. Later we learned it was an old German custom. This was at our daughter's wedding. We told her we didn't want anything passed around to take up a collection, but her husband took over and did things his way. We had nothing to do with what went on at the wedding. We just paid for it. Love your column. —BRIDE'S MOTHER

DEAR ABBY: Passing the bride's shoe is an old Polish custom. There are other customs, too. My father, age 75, tells me that years ago a piece of the bride's china was set up against the wall and the guests threw silver dollars at it, trying to break it. (The silver dollars went to the bride and groom.) Each nationality has its own customs. I've attended Greek weddings where candy was passed in church, Italian weddings where they threw money instead of rice at the bride and groom, and German weddings where the bride was 'kidnapped' and the groom had to pay to get her back. Instead of criticizing these customs, we should enjoy them. It's all in fun. —J.V.I.

DEAR ABBY: Passing the bride's shoe to collect money is an old French custom. It originated years ago when the wed supper took place in the bride's home. The money collected is not for the bride and groom; it is for the cook! This is the way the guests show their appreciation for the fine wedding dinner. — MRS. K., LOWELL, MASS.

DEAR ABBY: Who but the Hungarians could have dreamed up the custom of passing the bride's shoe among the guests to collect money? It was all do good - humoredly, and each male guest who donated money had the privilege of dancing with the bride. The bride's shoe was "stolen" from her, so she had to dance in her stocking feet. And the object was to take turns dancing with her to keep her away from her husband as long as possible. If they could get the groom tipsy and wear the bride out, all the better. If you can't see the humor in this, you don't know Hungarians! — A HUNGARIAN IN N.Y.

DEAR ABBY: The person who was "SHOCKED" because the bride's shoe was passed around to collect money was definitely not Polish or she would have known the money collected was for the first baby's crib and clothes. This doesn't necessarily mean that the bride is "expecting" — but it's merely looking ahead. —POLISH IN MILWAUKEE

DEAR ABBY: Dropping coins in the bride's slipper originated in Yugoslavia many generations ago. Only small coins were donated as the object was not to collect "big" money. The purpose was to have the groom match the amount of money, and it was all a gift to the bride. It was to show that the husband was not flat broke and could well afford to take a wife. — A SLAV FROM HIBBING

Movies Catch Plump Chicken Taking It Easy

BOSTON, Mass. (UPI)—Dr. Jean Mayer, Harvard University nutritionist, has on hand a film that shows to some extent why plump boys and girls are that way.

Dr. Mayer and some camera-wielding associates took 29,000 filmstrips of children swimming, playing tennis and volleyball. The pictures showed why conventional exercise programs don't help overweight youngsters. The plump children just stood around.

During swimming sessions, Dr. Mayer reported that the overweight youngsters just stood in the water talking.

He said these children were photographed totally motionless 72 per cent of the time. Meanwhile, normal weight children were active in the water more than three quarters of the time.

A report on the research project, supported by the Health, Education and Welfare Department (HEW), showed that studies of the youngsters' attitudes followed those of ethnic or racial minorities.

As victims of prejudice, it was reported, the obese adolescents were subjected to a heavy burden of self blame and had intense feelings of inferiority.

This led the Harvard investigator to conclude that it might be easier to get plump children more interested in physical exertion if they did not have to compete with normal youngsters.

Dr. Mayer said the weight-reduction program under study is designed to help the youngster develop a feeling of pride in themselves. Attention to dress and good grooming is being stressed also.

Hose Care

NEW YORK (UPI — Textured hosiery requires no special care — just the normal care you'd give any fine hosiery, advises the National Association of Hosiery Manufacturers.

Just hand launder textured hosiery after each wearing, never in a washing machine. Use warm water and a mild detergent or soap. Cotton lace hose should be washed gently in cool water with cold water soap. They might shrink if washed in hot water. Don't wring or twist.

Nice for a change: cut green snap beans cooked with diced potatoes. Drain the vegetables and add a generous amount of butter and some freshly ground pepper.

Restful

NEW YORK (UPI) — Latex foam rubber mattresses do not have tufting buttons like other mattresses. They are made of a single cushion of foam rubber, so their surfaces are smooth.

This means you do not need a mattress pad to hide lumps and bumps, the Latex Foam Rubber Council reports.

Fold a piece of aluminum foil over the end of your curtain rod before stringing on the curtrains. No more snagged headings.

A piece of sponge in water comes in handy when doing certain types of sewing. Moisten your fingers now and then. It is much easier to perform sewing tasks such as turning hems and facings when your fingertips are slightly damp.

ACNE RESEARCH

A dermatologist from San Antonio writes: "I think you could do a great service to teen-agers and their parents by informing them of the great strides medical science has made in the management of complexion problems.

As a dermatologist, I am appalled at the lack of knowledge and understanding of the subject among parents and family doctors. Scarring occurs in 20 per cent and this could have been prevented in many of these youngsters with proper care."

The letter was timely because I was just about to write on several suggestions for acne. A team from Boston University Medical Center felt the same way because they nest out a news release criticizing parents and physicians for taking the attitude that nothing can be done. This leads to unintentional and undeserved neglect. This, in turn, offers little solace to the self-conscious teen-ager with blackheads and pimples.

The Boston group is working on hormones that will decrease the activity of the oil-producing glands. They are aiming at excesive amounts of oily material (sebum) that irritates the skin to form pimples. Meanwhile, they suggest the use of special soaps, drying and peeling lotions, and ultraviolet light.

A Tucson skin specialist traced the flare-up of acne among girls 20 years of age and younger to the use of hair spray. Older girls developed a slight thinning of the frontal hair. If these problems exist, stop spraying or wear a cosmetic mask.

From the University of Pennsylvania comes a report on the benefits derived from the proper use of a comedo extractor. Dr. Edmund D. Lowney did several control studies on adolescents with acne and found that fewer inflammatory lesions develop when blackheads near the surface are expressed. But pimples and deeper pores should not be mashed or irritated by pressure, as they become cysts and abceses which might leave scars.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

HEALED FRACTURE

J. N. writes: My 16-year-old son had a hairline fracture of the skull when he was 7. Would it be safe for him to play football on a high school team, using the routine protective equipment?

REPLY

Yes. The fracture healed within two months of the original injury and the same can be said of any brain damage that might have occurred.

PLAYPENS AND THE EMOTIONS

Mrs. R. P. writes: Does putting a child in a playpen pose more of a psychological threat than his crib or high chair. We mothers in the neighborhood are arguing this question.

REPLY

No, asuming that the playpen is part of the child's normal environment and is not used to penalize him.

TRANSISTOR FAN

S. C. B. writes: Is there any harm to the heart or body if you keep a transistor radio in your shirt pocket and play it every day?

REPLY

No, but the noise may annoy others. These radios do not give off harmful rays.

CURE OF ADDICTION

H. D. W. writes: Why are there so few reformed drug addicts compared with reformed alcoholics

REPLY

Drug addiction is difficult to treat and cures are few and far between.

Steady Social Changes Seen For Britons

By PHIL NEWSOM

LONDON — Slowly but surely changes are coming in the centuries-old social structure of Britain.

They are occuring under the impact of a post-war population explosion and the demands of expanding industry for more and better trained employes.

The problem is not alone Britain's and the steady expansion of British educational facilities is not unique.

More unique is the system already far advanced by which Britain is moving both its people and industry out of crowded urban areas back to the land.

Limited By Tradition

To one fresh from the United States where higher education is a fetish if not always an economic necessity, the expanpansion of educational facilities seems to follow a pattern still limited by tradition and to be inadequate to meet the need.

But what might well be emulated is the system of new towns, planned from the laying of the first brick to the last lease granted to a merchant in the shopping center.

The expansion of British education has seen since 1945 the construction of more than 6,000 new secondary schools. Legislation in 1958-59 provided for seven new universities to be added to Britain's existing 25, including Oxford and Cambridge.

But compared to the vast educational plants springing up across the United States, the expansion remains limited. Enrollment in each of the new universities is to be limited to a planned 8,000 and some will be smaller.

"11 Plus Examination"

Britain's current general election campaign also is the system of secondary schools which early in life dictate whether a child shall or shall not have an opportunity for higher education.

This is based on what is called the "11 plus examination. It determines whether at the age of about 11 a child shall be allowed to proceed to so-called grammar school with higher educational standards or whether he goes to secondary modern. Grammar school means that he will have a chance at higher education. Secondary modern almost antomatically means that he will not, thus at the age of 11 limiting both his place in society and in industry.

And, while there can be little argument about the high standards of British hibher learning, the eliminating process of the "11 plus" examination actually means that in a population of about 45 million, less than one per cent actually will receive it.

Federal Aid Is Needless, Agency Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional agency accused the federal government today of spending $26 million of depressed area money to create jobs in communities "no longer burdened by substantial and persistent unemployment."

In reply, the Area Redevelopment Administration said that it should not be expected to turn federal aid on and off as communities dip in and out of the status of a depressed area.

The criticism was made by the General Accounting Office, which checks federal spending for Congress,

The GAO attributed what it termed a needless expenditure of $26 million to the ARA policy of waiting seven months to 3 months before deciding to end assistance under the Public Works Acceleration Act of 1962.

Under that law, Congress authorized a $900-milion program to build projects quickly in areas hit by unemployment. The aim was to increase employment in a hurry.

The GAO cited the Detroit area as one that received assistance under this program after the area no longer needed it.

LANDING SCHEDULED

DENVER (UPI)— A rebuilt Lockheed Vega, a 1929 single-engined four-passenger airplane, will land at Denver this friday as part of a Stapleton Airfield's 35th anniversary celebration. The plane is being flown from Los Angeles by Continental Airlines. The plane was the type used by the Southwest Division of Varney Speed Lines, Continental's predecessor company. It will be shown at the field Saturday and Sunday.

Wall Street Report

NEW YORK (AP) — All leading steels made small gains in a mixed stock market early this afternoon. Trading was moderately active.

Gains and losses of key stocks were mostly from fractions to a point.

The steels rose in response to further talk among steel leaders of a price increase.

Big Three motors were weak as the strike against General Motors dragged on.

A generally higher trend prevailed among nonferrous metals, building materials and electrical equipments.

The possibility of a Labor party victory in Thursday's British election — and likelihood of an interest rate boost if Labor wins — still overhung the market.

Among speculative issues and a variety of selected issues, it was a scramble of plus and minus signs.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .1 at 329.2 with industrials up .2, rails up .3 and utilities up .1.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off .04 at 876.17.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds were firm.

Grain Market

CHICAGO (AP) — The grain futures market was mixed late today with soybeans moving higher after Monday's sharp decline.

Wheat weakened on liquidation influenced by a bearish private estimate that placed wheat exports for the season at around 600 million bushels, about 75 million bushels under the official government forecast.

Other grains were little changed from previous closes.

The volume trade in soybeans was reported light compared with recent sessions.

Estimated carlot receipts were wheat 16, corn 223, oats 22, barley 14, soybeans 282 and rye none.

Attack With Mustard Gas Is Regretted

BONN, Germany (AP) — The Soviet Union has expressed regret for a recent mustard gas attack on a West German technician in Russia, the West German Foreign Ministry said Tuesday.

The incident had endangered the expected visit to Bonn of Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Technician Horst Schwirkmann, was sent to Moscow to determine if the Russians had planted listening devices in the West German embassy. On a visit to a monastery near Moscow, Schwirkmann felt a blow on his thigh, noted his trousers were soaked with a liquid and a few hours later began to feel severe pain.

Now back in Bonn, he is reported recovering from severe mustard gas burns.

Mateo Alonzo, an Argentine, designed the statue "Christ of the Andes."

Hewlett-Packard To Dedicate New Plant

Hewlett-Packard Company will officially open its new Colorado Springs plant with a dedication ceremony and open house on October 24.

The company today announced that Colorado Governor John A. Love and Mayor Harry W. Hoth of Colorado Springs will join Hewlett-Packard officials in dedicating the new electronics facility at a special ceremony on Saturday morning.

The plant will be open to the general public in the afternoon, with guided tours being conducted from noon to 4 p.m.

"We hope that many people in the Colorado Springs area will avail themselves of this opportunity to see the plant," said Cort Van Rensselaer, general manager of the company's Colorado Springs Division. "With 137,000 square feet under roof, it is one of the largest industrial facilities in Colorado."

Producers Near Florence Report Good Apple Crop

Ideal climate and lack of crop-damaging hail have produced an excellent crop of apples for growers near Florence, in the upper Arkansas valley according to producers. Although this year's crop is by far not the largest in the past decade, producers say the overall crop is of superb quality.

There are three big growers still left in the Penrose area: The Beaver Park Company, covering about 36,000 acres managed by Nick Goodall; Mr. and Mrs. John Molello, owners of the "Singing Hills Fruit Farm," who have won more ribbons at the Colorado State Fair for their fruit than anyone else in Fremont Country; and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Molello, whose family are pioneer apple producers dating back to the turn of the century.

NICK GOODALL

Goodall, who manages the Beaver Park Company apple orchards, cropland and pasture, has helped develop water, farming, and industry in the Penrose area, numbering about 300 families, near Florence.

The Beaver Park Company, whose Trading Post annually attracts apple buyers from all over southern Colorado, this year will market about 15,000 bushels of prime winesap, rome beauthy, delicious, jonathan, black ben, and golden delicous apples.

The Daffy Apple Candy Company of Denver will buy about 3,000 bushels of Beaver Park winesap and jonathan apples this year. Several thousand bushels will be sold to King Soopers in Colorado Springs and Pueblo.

According to Goodall, a better than average year for company orchards is the production of 20,000 or more bushels of apples. He said that this year's crop, which will be gathered and marketed in mid-October, will be excellent for quick consumer sales.

Mr. and Mrs. John Molello have produced over 6,000 bushels of apples. They report trees loaded so heavily that they have have split with the weight of the apples. Molello works at the Ideal Cement Company of Portland. The Molellos have earned over 1,000 ribbons for fruit, mainly apples. Not one apple in his orchard has come up with a worm of any kind this year, says Molello.

Albert Molello, John's younger brother, was the first in the area to sell apples to the Daffy Candy Company, which, after 10 years, is still his major market. He and his wife own a 280-acre farm which this year produced over 7,000 bushels of apples, a fat hay crop, and about 25 bushels of Italian Plums. Their orchard is over 40 years old and covers about 30 acres.

Commenting on the fall harvest season, Mrs. Molello said, "We don't make a whole lot of money with our apples but we have made scores of friends."

New York Life Shortens Name

The New York Life Insurance Co., is now calling itself in print what the residents of Colorado Springs call it in conversation. The company has just adopted a new trademark that says simply "New York Life," according to General Manager Warren G. Pryor, of the company's Colorado Springs general office.

The three words "New York Life" are stacked on top of each other in a modified square.

The new trademark replaces an oval with "Nylic," a word consisting of the company's initials, in the center. A survey showed that the earlier mark was not generally recognized by the public, which called the company "New York Life" rather than "Nylic."

Kaufman Group Return From Buying Trip

Three of Kaufman's buying-merchandising personnel have just returned from buying trips to the New York fashion markets.

Mrs. Frances Furlong, manager of the infants and children's wear departments, was in New York to purchase additional holiday merchandise and some advanced spring merchandise.

Mrs. Kay Brozyna, manager of the better sportswear department, viewed and purchased new holiday and ski wear fashions and some preview items for spring.

Morris Guberman, president & general merchandise manager worked with these buyers and Kaufman's New York Market representatives supervising and insuring a steady flow of new fashions for local shoppers.

He stated that he believed that Kaufman's buyers travel more miles per year seeking out the best in the world of fashion for Colorado Springs and the Pikes Peak residents than anyone else in the buying field.

Kaufman's, too, has representation in all the important markets of the country.

Consumers, Businessmen Play It Cool

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Both consumers and businessmen are still playing it cool. All the talk about an expanding economy in the foreseeable future has yet to set off any buying spree by shoppers or much betting by businessmen that a boom is in the making.

On the contrary, the latest figures show retail sales dipped a bit in September from their August peak. Business inventories have held steady for three months, indicating that businessmen are looking for few changes soon in sales volume.

The economy still has problems on another front, its trade and other financial dealings with other lands.

Imports rose to a new high in August, the last month officially reported. Exports slipped a bit that month. And since the first of the year, exports have gained only slightly while imports in the latest three months reported were 2 per cent above the previous three months.

The hordes of American tourists were spending about $1.8 billion more abroad than foreigners were spending here. That figure is close to the current estimate of $2 billion for the total gap this year between outgoing dollars for everything from goods to aid and the incoming dollars for everything from our exports to returns on investments abroad.

None of that adds up to a crisis.

Exports still exceed imports by a sizable figure. The balance of payments deficit is being managed so far this year without any grave threat either to the U.S. gold and currency reserves or to the exchange value of the American dollar.

And the slip in retail sales and cautious policy on inventories doesn't detract from the present economic glow. Consumers are expected to spend more in the next two months. They apparently think things are okay in general but just aren't buying any overoptimistic predictions. Businessmen generally feel that the present economic upswing will continue but aren't in any mood yet to go overboard.

As usual, conditions vary from industry to industry, just as they do from household to household. It's only the total figures that strike the fairly even balance of recent weeks.

All this caution and moderation comforts more observers than it frets. Most analysts would rather see right now a measured pace in spending, in stockpiling, in expansion planning than a sudden boom that would threaten inflation and excesses—and a bust.

At the present stage of the business upswing, now almost 44 months old, speculatory fever would be regarded by most economists as an indicator that the cycle was about to turn down. The present lull on several fronts may generate little enthusiasm, but it also calms some fears.

Heat radiation on desert highways can increase sun glare by 50 per cent.

Why Pay Twice? You already pay taxes to support a generous federal-state medical program for those over 65 who need it. Why pay again for a plan that isn't needed?

Surprised? Chances are you never heard of the Kerr-Mills Law, passed by Congress in 1960. We call it...Health Opportunity Program for the Elderly.

This program enables individual states, with federal assistance, to guarantee to every elderly person who needs it the health care he or she requires. Thousands of people every day are being helped by its broad benefits.

Yet, the supporters of the proposed Medicare Tax would have you believe that its passage is urgent...that persons over 65 are deprived of needed medical care because they can't pay for it.

So why pay twice? Find out about the health program you're already supporting. For information on health care for the elderly in your area, ask your doctor or contact your Medical Society.

Washington — While there is a possibiilty of a big loss of Republican Congressional seats in event of a Johnson landslide in November, the nationwide reports received by both parties here are to the contrary.

The Democrats, for example, are figuring that at the most they may pick up 20 House seats and four in the Senate. The Republicans figure that even if Barry Goldwater suffers a disastrous defeat, they have a better - than - even chance of holding their present House strength (176 seats) and of increasing their Senate membership (now 34 seats) by two to four.

Most campaign analysts agree that shifts in the party composition of Congress are likely to be within the range of these private estimates from GOP and Democratic national headquarters. The record bears them out. Presidential candidates who have won big in the past have found that their coattails had only a limited value for those Congressional candidates grabbing them.

This was even true in 1936, when FDR carried every state except Maine and Vermont over Alf Landon. The Democrats' House majority was increased by only 11, their Senate majority by six.

In 1952 Dwight D. Eisenhower had a 6½-million popular - vote margin over Adlai Stevenson, but the Democrats lost only 21 House seats and two in the Senate. In 1956 when Ike beat Adlai with a 9-million edge, the Democrats picked up two House seats and one in the Senate.

It has turned out that in the closer Presidential elections the Congressional results tend to shift as much and sometimes more than in runaway White House races. In the close Truman - Dewey election of 1948, the Democrats picked up 7 House seats and nine in the Senate. In the Kennedy - Nixon 1960 election, the Republicans gained 22 in the House and two in the senate.

Intangibles Are Greater in '64

The same intangibles that caused these variations between Congressional and Presidential contests in the past are, it is agreed by party analysis, operating on an even bigger scale in this 1964 election.

In the first place there is the disenchantment with Goldwater among some Republicans. Then there is the marked increase in independent voters generally. In both cases these voting elements could plop for Johnson but at the same time vote for GOP Senate and House candidates on the basis of local and state issues, plus personalities.

There is another factor which constitutes a problem for the Johnson - Humphrey ticket. This is the unknown degree — none of the private pools have been able to tap it — to which the Goldwater-Miller charges about Lyndon's wealth and his Bobby Baker ties have been effective.

This brings up the question— how many voters are likely to stay away from the polls simply because they are suspicious of Johnson and scared of Goldwater?

Or how many will go to the polls, pass up a Presidential choice and just make their Congressional and other selections?

Lighter Presidntial Vote Sen

These are not improper questions. The fact is that most polticians in both parties who have been tapping the grass roots are ready to hazard a bet that the vote for President this year will be a million or more less than in 1960, while the Congressional vote will be larger.

In the hairline-close Kennedy-Nixon election, the total vote was a record 68,838,000. Incidentally, the overall vote for Democratic House and Senate candidates was bigger than the 34,227,000 that Kennedy received for President.

This statistical background does at least suggest the uncertainties in this national election as it turns on the battles for Congress. There is the possibility, for instance, that Johnson could carry New York State by a lopsided margin while the Kennedy - Keating Senate race was a photo finish.

Or take Ohio, where LBJ now appears ahead but incumbent Senate Democrat Stephen M. Young is likely to be shellacked by Rep. Robert A. Taft Jr.

In Oklahoma, where LBJ has a distinct edge according to all polls, the Senate seat now held by the Democrats is probably going to be won by the GOP candidate, former football coach Bud Wilkinson.

Other States Topsy-Turvy Too

This topsy-turvy situation exists in many states. Democrats, for example, have a chance of picking up GOP Senate seats in Maryland, Hawaii, New Mexico Pennsylvania. The Republicans, in addition to Oklahoma and Ohio, could elect Senators to take seats now held by Democrats in Tennessee, Nevada, Indiana and Utah — even if these four states went for Lyndon for President.

There are comparable tossup situations in scores of House districts throughout the nation. This all means that even if Johnson's boastful prediction in Illinois yesterday of the "greatest Democratic victory in all American history" should come true, it would be limited to the LBJ - Humphrey ticket.

Being a Texan, the President was born and reared to think big. But does he really think he can do better than FDR, who carried 46 of the 48 states in 1936? In order to surpass that feat, now that there are 50 states, LBJ would have to win 48. He can hardly win more, for Alabama and Mississippi are sewed up for Goldwater.

As for the next Congress, even

As for the next Congress, even with Democratic breaks, his party is unlikely to pick up more than 10 House seats and will be lucky if it retains its percent 66-34 Senate margin.

Football Tickets Are Carefully Traced

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Claude Morris goes a long way to save his football tickets — even to the state crime laboratory.

When fire destroyed the Duncan Manufacturing and Equipment Co. last week, where Morris is manager, it also destroyed four tickets and badly charred 20 others to this weekend's Auburn-Georgia Tech game in Birmingham.

Morris sent the 20 charred bits to the state toxicologist.

Tests were used to determine the seat numbers and today the city is preparing duplicate tickets for Morris.

PLANES ALERTED

AQABA, Jordan (UPI)—King Hussein stopped watching a water skiing carnival at Oqaba briefly Monday to order Jordanian fighter planes into the air because of two Israeli fighters.

Hussein was among more than 2,000 specators at the carnival when the two Mirage-type Israeli planes appeared offshore.

Hussein ordered a nearby air base to send up fighters to intercept the Israeli planes if they entered Jordanian air space. But they disappeared from sight as the Jordanian planes took off.

Bouton Carries Yankee Hopes Into Sixth Game

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Pres Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The proud New York Yankees, straining to avert their second straight World Series disaster for the first time in 42 years, were hoping for a near miracle as they faced the front-running St. Louis Cardinals in the do-or-die sixth game today.

Down three games to two — just one away from elimination — Yankee Manager Yogi Berra pinned his hopes on the right arm of 25-year-old Jim Bouton in a return mound engagement with Cardinal veteran southpaw Curt Simmons.

The two hooked up in the third game with Bouton the winner, 2-1, on Mickey Mantle's dramatic ninth inning home run at Yankee Stadium. The blast came off reliever Barney Schultz' first pitch.

Even should the Yankees win today, a Herculan task still faces the American League champions. They are admittedly shy on pitching because of the uncertainty of Whitey Ford's physical condition.

On the other hand, Cardinal Manager Johnny Keane's pitching is in fine shape.

Simmons, of course, will be pitching with his normal four-day rest. Should a seventh game be necessary Keane has the choice of one of three pitchers — southpaw Ray Sadecki right-hander Roger Craig or Bob Gibson who struck out 13 in a brilliant winning performance in the fifth game Monday.

Ford's condition has Berra worried. The veteran southpaw who aggravated an old heel injury in an opening game loss in St. Louis hasn't worked since. He did no throwing at all in New York's workout at Yankee Stadium Tuesday and must remain a doubtful quantity.

If Ford cannot make it young Mel Stottlemyre undoubtedly will get the pitching nod in the seventh game if needed. The 22-year-old rookie right-hander pitched a tough seven innings Monday but wasn't charged with the 5-2 10-inning defeat.

It was his second fine effort coming four days after he had beaten the Cardinals 8-3 in the second game.

A defeat on top of their four straight losses to the Los Angeles Dodgers in 1963 would mark the first time the Yankees have lost two post season classics in succession since their back-to-back losses to the New York Giants in 1921 and 1922. Since then they've won 20 out of 26.

The Cardinals haven t fared badly in World Series play, either. A victory would give them seven of 10 and three of five against the Yankees.

Keane, whose Cardinals engaged in a 1½-hour workout at Busch Stadium Tuesday, continued to play it cautious, refusing to make any predictions. He did acknowledge, however, that the Cards were now in the best shape they've been in the entire Series.

"Knowing we can win by taking one of two is bound to give up the edge," he said. "But I'm not underestimating the Yankees. They're a tough ball club.

"We've gotten the breaks so far but we've taken advantage of them. We've also had a few bad breaks but we've overcome them. The Yankees haven't.

"Take Tom Tresh's game-tying home run off Gibson in the ninth inning Monday. That was enough to knock out almost any club. But we bounced right back with three runs in the next inning.

"It's a good thing we did. I don't think Gibson could have pitched much longer. He was a tired young man at the end."

Keane had hoped Julian Javier would be recovered sufficiently from his hip injury to return to the line-up for the sixth game. He had to abandon the idea, however, when his star second baseman complained of pain when he swung a bat.

Javier hasn't played at all except for two innings in a substitute role in the opener.

Meantime, young Dal Maxvill has surprised everybody with his fine all-around play as Javier's substitute. The St. Louis lad has not only fielded well but has contributed several timely hits which figured in run scoring.

"I'm surprised by his (Maxvill's) coolness under fire," said Keane. "Nobody is paying any attention to the kid. Maybe that's good.

Tulsa Leads College Teams in Passing

NEW YORK (AP) — Collegiate football passers are surpassing themselves this season.

Tulsa, passing leader among major college for the past two seasons, Baylor, Iowa and Arizona State each have thrown for more yards than any team had thrown at the same stage last year, according to NCAA figures released today. And last season was a record year for the country's passers.

Tulsa, with 260.3 yards per game, Baylor with 247.7 yards, Iowa with 236.7 yards and Arizona State with 236 yards lead the major colleges in passing.

Tulsa, beaten once, also leads in total offense with 446 yards per game, Yale following with 422 yards. Yale leads major college ground gainers with an average of 321.7 yards. Scoring leader is Utah State — scoring champion in 1961 and 1963 — averaging 44 points.

Despite its total offense figure, Tulsa does not place among the rushing leaders; Yale, reciprocating, does not appear among the passing leaders.

Tulsa obviously is making passes pay off. The Hurricanes are second in scoring to Utah State with a 38.7 point average. Nine Hurricane touchdowns in three games have come through the air. Third in the point race is Notre Dame, with 33 points, a newcomer among high scorers.

Tulsa has a high percentage of completions — 61 of 99 for .616 — but it is outpassed statistically by unbeaten Florida State and Alabama. Alabama and Florida each have completed 54 of 82 passes for .659.

Vanderbilt is the lone major college team searching for its first touchdown although it beat Wake Forest last week 9-6 with three field goals.

Mills' Victory 50 Seconds Better Than Any Previous

TOKYO (AP) — Billy Mills, winner of the Olympic 10,000-meter run, said Wednesday "that's about fifty seconds faster than I ever ran the 10,000 before," as he hugged his pretty blonde wife after taking the race in 28:24.1.

"But I thought I could do it. I thought I could run that fast," he added.

Mills is half-Indian, a Sioux who was born in South Dakota.

Avery Brundage, the International Olympic Committee president, said he had been watching the Olympics for 50 years, "and I never saw an American respond better to pressure than Mills did today."

When the comment was relayed to Mills, he said:

"I suppose it was the greatest American distance victory, or one of the greatest anyway. But we have some more surprises in store for them in these Olympics."

Mills said he never felt tired in the race, even at the killing pace.

"I knew I had a chance at the end," he said. "So I didn't have time to get tired. I just wanted to win.

"And then when the flag went up on the flag pole, and they played the anthem I thought I would cry. I really did."

Actually, a beautiful smile split his face. Mills has the bright white teeth and high cheekbones of the American Indian.

Mills is a lieutenant in the Marines, and several of his Marine buddies burst through the restraining gates to grab him.

"The Marines are proud of you," one said.

"I hope so," Mills said. "The Marines gave me my chance to run."

While Mills proved a stunning surprise, Morgan Groth of Martinez, Calif., proved a distinct disappointment when he failed to qualify for the 800-meter semifinals.

Groth finished sixth in his heat in 1:51.4 because of a collapsed achilles tendon.

"I haven't been able to step on the track — not even jog," said Groth. "I thought I might be able to bull it through.

"I felt okay halfway through the race. But turning into the home stretch, the pain hit me hard. I couldn't drive. When my foot hit the track it was like lightning striking me.

"My ankle is black and blue."

Jerry Siebert of Willits, Calif., and Tom Farrell of New York made it to the semifinals with clockings of 1:49.2 and 1:48.6, respectively.

In the other two finals — the javelin and women's broad jump — Americans failed to pick up a medal, but the full complement reached the semifinals in the men's 100-meter dash and the 400-meter hurdles.

Pauli Nevala of Finland won the javelin with a heave of 271 feet, 2½ inches. Gergely Kulesar of Hungary was second at 270-1 and Yan Lusis of Russia third with 264-4.

Russia picked up another bronze medal in the broad jump as Tatyna Schelkanova finished third with a jump of 21-¾. Mary Rand of England won with a world record leap of 22-2¼. Poland's Irna Kirszenstei was second at 21-7¾.

Willye White of Chicago was 12th at 19-11. The other two American entries failed to qualify for the final jump-off. JoAnn Grissom of Indianapolis had a best of 19-4¾ and Martha Watson of Long Beach, Calif., had a top of 19-3½.

In the javelin, Ed Red of Lafayette, La., was America's best with 234-7¾, but failed to make the final. Les Tipton of Rainier, Ore., did 232-1 and Frank Covelli of Lakewood, Calif., 223-4¼. Neither was able to qualify.

Norway's world record holding Perje Pederson, who had thrown the javelin 300-11, also did not qualify. He had a best of 236-6½.

Bob Hayes of Jacksonville, Fla., the world's fastest human, led the American contingent in the 100-meter trials with a 10.3 clocking. Mel Pender of Atlanta and Trenton Jackson of Rochester, N.Y., both did 10.4.

In the hurdles, Rex Cawley of Los Angeles was the fastest American with a 50.8 clocking. Billy Hardin of Baton Rouge, La., was timed in 51.3 and Jay Luck of Watertown, Mass., in 51.7.

MILLS CAN'T BE PASSED—Mohamed Gamoudi of Tunisia pressed his hand to the arm of Lt. Billy Mills of the U.S. team as he tried to squeeze past the Marine, who pulled a major upset in winning the 10,000-meter Olympic race in Tokyo today. Mills survived the jostling to earn the victory and a gold meedal, running the race in 28 minutes, 24.4 seconds. Mills is the first American to win the event. Gamoudi finished second. Ron Clarke of Australia was third.

Yanks' Mills Scores Big Upset in 10,000 Meters

TOKYO (AP) — Courageous Billy Mills, a Marine from Coffeyville, Kan., won the 10,000-meter run Wednesday in one of the greatest upsets in the history of the Olympic Games, and Ken Sitzberger led a 1-2-3 American sweep of medals in springboard diving.

Mills, a 26-year-old crew-cut Marine lieutenant, was timed in an Olympic record 28:24.4 after pulling away from world record-holder Ron Clarke. It was the first time the United States had ever won at 10,000 meters.

Sitzberger, from River Forest, Ill., was third going into the final round but put on a dazzling display of free diving and won the springboard competition with a total of 159.90 points. It was the United States' 10th straight victory in the event.

Frank Gorman, a Naval officer from New York who had led all the way, finished second with 157.63 points and Larry Andreason of Los Alamitos, Calif., was third with 143.77 points.

The sweep, plus Mills' triumph, pushed the U.S. harvest of Olympic hardware to 14 medals, four gold, six silver, four bronze.

Mills, considered far out of his class against one of the finest 10,000-meter fields ever assembled, stayed with the leaders all the way, took the lead to stay on the 20th lap of the six-mile plus test of courage and endurance, then sprinted home, winning by about four yards.

In the vast confusion surrounding the finish, Clarke, the Australian world record-holder, was believed to have finished second, but the official results placed him third behind Tunisia's virtually unknown Mohamed Gammoudi.

Gammoudi was timed in 28:24.8, Clarke exactly one second slower.

Mills was considered a rank outsider in the field while the top U.S. hope was little Gerry Lindgren, 18-year-old Spokane, Wash., sensation.

Lindgren, however, was badly hobbled by an ankle he twisted just two days earlier in practice. He competed, but finished far back in the pack.

Mills, on the other hand, joined the leaders immediately and stayed there. Through the various maneuvers, he stayed close and held the lead at one time or another five times.

It was on the 20th lap that he went ahead to stay and hustled home to the cheers of nearly 80,000 people in the excellent time of 4:27.1 for the last mile.

There was a delay of some 35 minutes before the results were official and Mills climbed the victory stand—stiffly at attention when the U.S. National Anthem was played.

Then the half-Sioux who was born in the Dakotas hugged his pretty blonde wife and said:

"I thought I could do it. I thought I could run that fast. But when the flag went up on the flagpole and they played the anthem, I thought I would cry. I really did."

Mills' amazing performance dominated this fourth day of the 18th Olympiad in which the U.S. pushed an expected number of athletes through a variety of track and swimming heats and trials.

Probably the biggest disappointment came in the javelin where Norway's world record holder, Perje Pedersen, failed to make the finals. The event was won by Pauli Nevala, a Finn, with a throw of 271 feet, 2½ inches. Gergely Kulcsar of Hungary was second and Yan Lusis of Russia third.

England's Mary Rand broke the world record with a leap of 22 feet, 2¼ inches in winning the women's broad jump. Irna Kirszenstei of Poland was second and Tatyna Schelkanova of Russia, whose record Miss Rand broke, third.

The United States was not expected to place in either event.

Yankee runners, however, placed a maximum complement of three in two other track semifinals, the 100 meters and the 400 meter hurdles.

Bob Hayes, the Florida A&M flash; Trenton Jackson of Rochester, N.Y., and Mel Pender, a stocky Army sergeant from Atlanta, Ga., went through two rounds of 100 meter trials, with Hayes, best time through steady drizzle a 10.3, well off his best performance of 10.1.

Rex Cawley, Los Angeles; Billy Hardin, Baton Rouge, La., whose father won the event in the 1936 Games, and Jay Luck, a Yale graduate, qualified for the finals in the 400-meter hurdles, with Cawley's time of 50.8 seconds the best among the Americans.

There was a disappointment in the 800 meters, however, where the top U.S. runner, Morgan Groth of Oregon State, suffered a recurrance of a tendon injury and failed to qualify. Jerry Siebert of Willits, Calif., and Tom Farrell, New York City, made it into the semis.

In swimming trials, the United States put a maximum three into the semis of the women's 100-meter butterfly, the finals of the men's 400-meter freestyle, qualified the women's 400-meter relay team into the finals and pushed Chet Jastremski and Wayne Anderson into the finals of the 200-meter breaststroke.

Magnificent Don Schollander, Lake Oswego, Ore., set an Olympic record of 4:15.8 in leading the 400-meter freestyle qualifiers and 15-year-old Sharon Stouder, Glendora, Calif., set a Games mark of 1:07 flat in the 100-meter butterfly heats.

U.S. Cagers Top Uruguay; IBA Lauds Team's Defense

TOKYO (AP) — Henry Iba, one of basketball's sternest task-masters, had some kind words to say about his U.S. Olympic team. But even the rare praise had to be considered a major understatement in view of developments.

The United States won its latest game, against little Uruguay, 83-28 Wednesday night.

"Not bad," admitted Iba. "Not bad at all."

He even went further.

"I thought they played a real good defensive game and handled the ball very well."

The United States, unbeaten in basketball since the sport was added to the Olympics in 1936, hit 19 of its first 26 shots, flashed out to a whopping 50-13 halftime margin and coasted in from there.

The starting unit didn't see action in the second half.

"I don't believe in seeing how many points we can run up against an opponent," was Iba's explanation. "I'd rather see us run what we're supposed to run out there on the court. By that I mean move the ball and play defense. We will rest our boys whenever we can. There's no use putting in too much work at this time."

The starting unit was composed of Bill Bradley, Princeton; Jerry Shipp, Bartlesville, Okla.; Lucious Jackson, Pan American University; Walt Hazzard, UCLA, and Joe Caldwell, Arizona State.

Caldwell led all scorers with 16 points, Bradley and Jim (Bad News) Barnes of Texas Western each had 12.

The United States is idle Thursday, and Iba planned a brief practice session. Their next game is against Yugoslavia. Russia, expected to be the United States' top opposition, also is 4-0 after an 83-63 triumph over Puerto Rico.

Western State Makes Poll Rating

NEW YORK)upi)—Western State (Colo.) ranked 17th on this week's small college football ratings conducted by United Press International. It was the only Colorado school to make the top 20.

Another Colorado team, Adams State, was listed as one of more than 20 others which received three or more points in the rating.

RMKC Puppy Stakes Set Tonight

The running of the championship in the $2,500 RMKC Puppy Stakes at the Rocky Mountain Kennel Club tonight will be the feature on an 11-race program.

The field of eight greyhounds which survived the quarter and semi-finals held last week and will be going to post in the following order: 1. Dark Champ, 2. El Camino Duke, 3. Tell You Cal, 4. Basic Black, 5. Nixon's Red, 6. Belle Larsen, 7. Rural Shilo, 8. El Canino Dale.

These are the "pick of the new crop" at RMKC this season, and each greyhound is in his first official season on the RMKC oval. With the stipulation that they must be Jan. 1, 1963, pups, or younger, they are greyhounds that will be going on to other tracks at the close of the RMKC meet on Oct. 31, and greyhounds that fans will no doubt be hearing about in the seasons to come.

Two other top-notch races are on tonight's card, the eighth and the 10th races, both being hot-box competition. In the eighth it is Just Elmer, Apache Rex, El Camino Rose and Another Johnny matched with Vinnie Kaup, Tough Stock, Borden's Pride and Rolling Julius.

In the 10th T.V. Hoss, Happy Hook, Weary Me and Avant Garde travel in the company of S.W. Pat's Boy, Kolyno, Old Shakey and Bayou Lady.

Post time at RMKC remains the usual 8 p.m.

Missouri Game Crucial to Falcons' Future

By LOY HOLMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Editor

What could prove to be the most crucial game on the Air Force Academy's rugged schedule comes up this Saturday in Falcon Stadium as the Cadets gun for their third victory in five games. The clash with the University of Missouri very well may be the pivot — sending the AFA to a fine finish or putting them behind the eight - ball for the rest of the year.

That's the approach taken by the Academy staff this week as they try to pull the Falcons out of the despair of the 34-7 thrashing administered last weekend by talented Notre Dame. They know they'll have a handful of Tiger tail this Saturday and can ill afford a letdown at this point in the season.

Coach Ben Martin said before the season was underway that the first five games would go a long way toward determining the outcome for his Falcons. And a victory this weekend could buoy the ir Force for a big comeback in the second half of the slate.

Not that the last five are anywhere near a cinch. In fact, the AFA could continue as the underdog in the remainder of their games. . . .especially with the sudden upsurge of such as UCLA, Boston College and Wyoming.

While a win over Missouri could give the Cadets an emotional lift, the reverse could be fatal. They're not about to turn and run from any of those upcoming games, but they badly need the morale of a promising finish.

Missouri, however, is bound to be a stubborn opponent and although early this week the game was rated a toss-up, by kickoff time this Saturday the Tigers probably will be given about a seven - point edge. Both teams have 2-2 records coming into this weekend.

Getting most attention from the AFA staff this week in practice has been the running game — or lack of same in the first four outings. The Falcons obviously will have to get something started on the ground to offset quarterback Tim Murphy's excellent passing or they'll find opponents with a blanket defense.

Some shifting of personnel is expected by Martin, and the most logical would be changing 205-pound Dick Czarnota into the left half running back slot. This, of course, would be sacrificing him somewhat as one of the best of the pass receivers in his wingback position, but perhaps the need for more strength to the running game is more important at this point.

As is, Czarnota is second on the team in rushing with 91 yards in 27 carries, and most of this yardage has come on counter plays to the middle and reverse action around the ends. The top runner for the Air Force has been halfback Paul Wargo, a 194-pound junior, but he has had trouble hanging onto the ball in past assignments.

The 13 fumbles — nine lost — by the Falcons has been another factor in slowing down their running attack. However, only one was dropped against hard-hitting Notre Dame and that was recovered by the AFA.

And perhaps the primary factor in the disappointing rushing of the Air Force has been the stingy attitude of the four foes. This was fully expected by such as Washington, Michigan and Notre Dame (the latter tops in the country with only 67 yards allowed in three games), but even Colorado State University proved much tougher in this department than expected. The five fumbles lost to CSU didn't help matters.

This Saturday the Falcons will be up against still another that gives up ground yardage grudgingly. Missouri annually has one of the most disciplined lines in the land and so far this season none of the Tigers' opponents have made much headway down the middle.

For instance in last week's 7-0 win over Kansas State in Big Eight play, Missouri gave up only 78 yards on the ground to the Wildcats. And in the last two games Coach Dan Devine's Bengals haven't been scored on via this route.

Missouri has been somewhat of a puzzle, however, in that they were rated by many before the season started as having the best chance to upset the Big Eight form sheet. But although Devine has described this year's backfield talent as the best he's ever had, they have yet to jell into the workable unit anticipated.

This could be the week — or so fears the AFA.

The Tigers have a great all-round performer in quarterback Gary Lane, second in both total offense and passing the Big Eight statistics. He has nearly a five-yard average in running 36 times, he's hit 40 per cent of his passes with a 16-of-40 chart for 291 yards and three touchdowns, and together he has been responsible for 470 yards of the MU offense.

However, help hasn't come at the right time. Probably the biggest reason is that Johnny Roland, the league's top runner as a sophomore and out last year for discipline, has been playing most of the time on defense to shore up that department. Roland's been used as a spot player on offense . . and Devine may "spot" him through the entire game against the Air Force.

Both teams may be missed key people for Saturday's contest, which should draw upwards of 30,000 in Falcon Stadium. As many as eight were on the injured list for Air Force after the brutal beating by Notre Dame, including end Fritz Greenlee and safety Lloyd Duncan who were most seriously damaged. Missouri worked out early this week without the services of guard Tom Wyrostek, tackle Butch Allison and second team center Steve Jensen, all hurt in the Kansas State contest.

PROMISING ROOKIE — Missouri's Charlie Brown, a 185-pound sophomore from Jefferson City, Mo., has been touted as one of the most promising runners in the school's history. The high school All-America choice has an extremely fast get-away and probably will be used on much of the Tigers' attack when they clash with the Air Force Academy this Saturday in Falcon Stadium.

Centennial's Brummett Leading SCL Scoring Race

Pueblo Centennial's Jim Brummett scored both touchdowns in his team's 13-13 tie with Trinidad last week and took over the point lead in the South Central League.

Brummett's 24 points moved him ahead of Wasson's Jim Smith, last week's leader. Smith was involved in a non-league game last Friday and thus has participated in one less contest than Brummett. The Wasson star fell into a second place tie with Mike Bosso of Trinidad. Both have 19 points and Verle Davison of South is close behind with 18.

A total of 28 players have had a hand in the scoring to date. In the nine league games played, SCL teams have scored 33 touchdowns, 15 extra points, and one field goal for a total of 216 points. That averages out to a two-team total of 24 per game in the defensive-minded SCL.

In the nine games to date, two have ended in ties and another four have been decided by one touchdown or less.

NFL Shows Balanced Attacks

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League standings this season show about the best-balanced race you can imagine. The team offense and defense statistics back it up.

The latest statistics issued by the NFL show the Baltimore Colts as the top offensive team with Minnesota, Dallas and Philadelphia bunched not far behind. All four have shown almost equal balance between gaining on the ground and in the air.

On defense the Green Bay Packers are No. 1 and they've been able to stop enemy passing and running about equally.

Up through Monday night's transferred game against the St. Louis Cardinals, the Colts had gained 1,718 yards with 815 by rushing and 903 by passing. The Cards, top passing team with 1,016 yards are only fourth in total offense and the Pittsburgh Steelers, No. 1 in rushing with 827 yards, are eighth overall.

Green Bay is the No. 1 defender against passes, allowing only 656 yards, and has given up only 532 yards on the ground — 59 more than pace setting Dallas — for a 1,188 yard total. Detroit is second in total defense, giving up 1,225 yards, No. 2 against rushing and No. 3 against passing.

Springs Driver Wins Hill Climb

Dick Thomas of Colorado Springs was reported to be winner of the Third Annual Skyline Drive hill climb held in Canon City Sunday, repeating as last year's winner.

Thomas, driving a Stingray, was fastest up the backside of the Skyline Drive with a time of 1:05.4. He was slightly slower than when he won the event one year ago, winning with a time of 1:03.4.

About 30 cars were entered in the hill climb, sponsored by the Colorado Associated Triumph Owners, and some 200 persons were on the scene as spectators.

Buffs Prepare For Big Eight I-State Game

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI)—The Colorado Buffaloes ran through a two-hour "semi-scrimmage" Tuesday in preparation for this weekend's Big Eight clash at Iowa State.

The Buffs, still looking for their first win of the season, are hurting in the tailback positions. Coach Eddie Crowder said Estes Bank and George Lewark, two big tailbacks who have played well for Colorado this season, are on the doubtful list for this Saturday's game.

Banks has a knee injury and Lewark is out with a badly bruised back.

Quarterback Hale Irwin is nursing a sore knee, but officials said he probably would be able to suit up and play against Iowa State saturday.

Terrors Prepare for SCL Central Game Saturday

By MORRIS FRASER
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Emphasizing defense for a week hurt Palmer's offense, but defense turned out to be the thing that was needed Saturday night as the Terrors tied Pueblo South, 0-0.

Coach Bill Westbay worked his first team on defense for 90 per cent of last week's practice time. "We had a fine defense," he noted, "but our offense was a little flat."

Not that Westbay was alibiing for the 87 yards Palmer gained during the night. "South was quicker on defense than we thought they would be. We got the holes all right, but our backs were just a little slow getting to them, and when they did, the holes were plugged."

Speed is South's greatest asset. But the Terror defense learned their lessons well during the week before the game. Dale Thompson, starting his first game this year at tackle, turned in a fine job on both offense and defense. Before the last three South passes at the end of the game, Thompson stopped three end runs that could have put points on the scoreboard.

South tried a field goal from 25 yards out with 51 seconds left and at a difficult angle. Bill Schmidt and Ken Heaton, whose combined weight is 273 pounds, rushed through to block the attempt and get brief possession of the ball for the Terrors.

Line coach Bill Gordon though the defense did a good job of containing the dangerous end sweeps of the Colts. He tabbed Rex Bauer and Thompson as outstanding in stopping the speedy South backfield.

Even more pleasing to the Terror staff was the fact that ten of the defensive team were playing their positions for the first time.

Heaton gained only 3 yards on two carries as an offensive halfback, also a new position to him. But the 138-pound junior intercepted a South pass late in the second quarter to prevent the Colts from penetrating with one minute to play in the first half, and the Terrors controlled the ball until intermission.

Although the offense left a bit to be desired, Westbay has hopes of improving the defense so that Palmer will not have to rely solely on offense to overcome opponent's scoring.

"We made some changes last week," the Terror coach said. "And we hope to keep working on defense. If we can stay close to a team until the final minutes, I think we can beat them."

Rushing defense is Palmer's forte. Teams who pass well usually can gain on the Terrors. But the Tribe is working on pass defense all the time and this week is no better time than to get some extra drill on that subject.

The Terrors host Pueblo Central Saturday afternoon in Wasson Stadium. The Wildcats are noted for their passing abilities (they therw 25 passes last week) and also for the speed of back Howard Hill.

Martinez Has PPL Score Lead

Joe Martinez took over the scoring lead in the Pikes Peak League last week as he scored 12 of Fountain's 13 points in a 19-13 loss to Salida. Martinez now has 26 points, taking over from Florence's Dick Shadwell, who has 25 points, but has not scored in the last two weeks.

Keith Baker of Salida and Jim Kirgan of Fowler are challenging with 24 points each. Danny Wheeler of Manitou Springs has 21 points.

Florence leads the team scoring with ten touchdowns and five extra points for 65 points. Fountain has nine touchdowns and seven extra points for 61 points.

Crowley County, which has a 2-1 conference record has scored only 18 points and has allowed 18 points in league play.

T-Birds Carry Hopes for SCL Title Into Saturday Contest With Eagles

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Wasson's 1964 football team has experienced a sudden rise from adversity to prosperity in the past three weeks, but all of the events that wove that story will fade into the background Saturday night when the Thunderbirds travel south to find out if they are really championship material — or not.

This week's pilgrimage to Pueblo is surprisingly reminiscent of a similar trip a year ago. It was then that a Thunderbird team that was tied for first place in the South Central League journeyed into a disasterous trap at Pueblo's District 60 Stadium. Centennial's Bulldogs crushed Wasson 41-7, thereby carving the worst defeat ever suffered by a T-Bird team.

This weekend's southern jaunt comes a little earlier, but it matches the two teams most frequently mentioned as title possibilities in the 1964 race. Pueblo East replaces Centennial as the opponent and the Eagles' 5-1 record to date stresses the caliber of club the Thunderbirds will be facing. East was the pre-season favorite in the SCL with Wasson ranking right behind, even though the 'Birds dropped three straight nonleague struggles before launching their move.

Adding confusion to the game, which ranks as one of the more attractive on the SCL menu this fall, is the fact that both teams may enter the battle without the services of a star player. East is missing fullback Jim Selek, who is generally considered as one of the Eagles' finest two-way standouts. Selek suffered a knee injury two weeks back and is not expected to be available Saturay.

Wasson may match that loss as fullback Bob Toof remained on the highly-doubtful list as late as Tuesday. Toof, who sustained a back injury against Pueblo Central two weeks ago, was to undergo additional tests Tuesday and chances are slim that he will be available for action against the Eagles.

The loss of Toof will undoubtedly hinder the potent T-Bird offense which otherwise features the swift fullback as a compliment for standout quarterback, Jim Smith. Smith, whose dances through the opposition defenses have been the keys to the three Wasson victories, will definitely be the key target of East's swarming defenders if Toof is not available to provide the desired balance.

The game would generally match the conference's best defense against what is rapidly developing into its most fearsome offense. East shut off its first three opponents without a point and has allowed two of the other three teams just a single touchdown. In addition, the Eagles' alert defenders have set up nearly half of the squad's scoring opportunities.

In contrast, Wasson's defensive forces have been below par thus far this fall but the Thunderbirds have shown an increasingly devastating offensive punch. The brilliant Smith, who has to rate as the finest breakaway threat in the school's short history, has been the primary figure but Toof, who has missed two of the six games due to injuries, is also a formidable figure when in top shape. In addition Wasson has a half-dozen other runners who are above average plus a passing game which generally strikes in clutch situations.

Smith carried just eight times in last week's victory over West Denver, but still upped his rushing lead to 414 yards and a 4.7 average per trip. Toof, who missed that game, remains second with 309. Halfback Bob Oyler is third with 182. Overall, coach Gib Funk has used no fewer than 16 backs during the first six contests.

Smith also ranks as the top passer with eight completions in 18 attempts for 111 yards. Two of this tosses have carried for touchdowns with senior end Charlie Steel on the receiving end both times.

Smith, however, retains his lead as a receiver also with six catches for 80 yards, has done most of the punting, and leads the scoring with 38 points on six on six touchdowns and two conversions.

As a team Wasson has piled up 85 first downs to 58 for the opposition and has amassed a total offense of 1498 yards to 1265 for the opponents. Of that yardage, 1259 has been gained on the ground for an average of 210 per game.

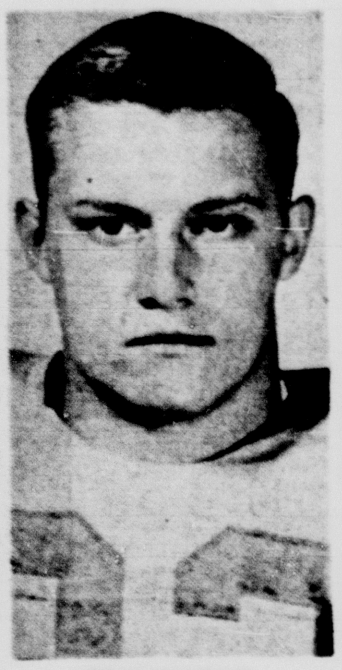
Prep Stars of the Week



TOM NIGBUR
Glads' Ace Fullback

Pursuing Tackle

BACK

Tom Nigbur, Widefield's 208-pound hard-driving fullback, was selected the Back of the Week for his outstanding performance last week in leading the Gladiators to their first Will Rogers League victory.

He was selected by the Gazette Telegraph sports staff.

Nigbur lugged the pigskin 114 net yards rushing and scored two touchdowns to pace the Widefield triumph over Harrison. The Widefield bone-crushing fullback is rated the fastest back on the Gladiator squad and Nigbur raced 61 yards to score the first TD against Harrison.

In six games, Nigbur has averaged over 100 yards rushing per game and has a six-game total of 626 net yards rushing via 94 carries. Nigbur has seven TDs to his credit.

Others considered for the award were Ted Garcia and Greg Cramblit, Cheyenne; Jim Smith, Wasson; Joe Martinez, Fountain; and Jon Sparks, Air Academy High.

LINEMAN

Dale Thompson, who started his first game for Palmer Saturday night, earned Lineman of the Week honors for his work in the scoreless tie with Pueblo South. Thompson was selected for the honor by the Gazette Telegraph Sports Department.

Thompson played both offense and defense during the night, performing well on offense, but shining on defense in the last minute. The 175-pound senior tackle stopped speedy South fullback Verle Davison on three consecutive end sweeps with two minutes left in the game. His work forced South to attempt a field goal, which Palmer blocked.

Other linemen nominated for Lineman of the Week for their play last weekend were defensive end Jay Swedberg of Cheyenne Mountain, guard Bob Gosline of Air Academy High, center Larry Hudson of Widefield, tackle Yogi Grandcourt of Wasson and tackle Rex Bauer of Palmer.

Cramblit Leads WRL Scoring

Cheyenne Mountain's ramrod-fullback Greg Cramblit took the scoring lead in the Will Rogers League after two weeks of competition. Cramblit scored three TDs in two games to lead the WRL scoring.

Teammate Ted Garcia is in second place via 17 points (two TDs and five PATs), followed by another Cheyenne scoring threat Doug Heylinger, who is in a three-way tie for third place along with Widefield's Tom Nigbur and Academy High's Rudy Hallenbeck.

There are six WRL players with one touchdown apiece and Widefield's Dave Theiss, along with Academy High's Tony Blanchard and Harrison's Eddie Hook, round out the kicking specialists.

Last weekend Cramblit scored his third TD of the season against Academy High and two weeks ago the 198-pound bone-crusher scored two touchdowns against pesky Harrison. Last year Cramblit paced the Pikes Peak League scoring with 19 TDs in seven games.

The RANCH, FARM & GARDEN PAGE

FARM CENSUS—Census takers will visit every farm and ranch in the United States during November or December as part of the 1964 Census of Agriculture, conducted by the U.S. Bureau of the Census. Census questionnaires will be mailed; the farmer will answer the questions and keep the questionnaire until the census taker calls for it. Answers are confidential and are used only for statistics. From the last Census of Agriculture in 1959 the nation learned that the number of farms had dropped by about 1 million in five years, but farm production had increased.

Farm Census To Be Taken This Fall

Key supervisory workers in the 1964 Census of Agriculture will soon begin training, according to Francis H. Wilmer, regional director for the U.S. Bureau of the Census at Denver, the U.S. Department of Commerce has reported.

Census crew leaders will attend one of the 115 special training schools to be conducted throughout the country by the Census Bureau in connection with this year's farm census. The crew leaders will be taught how to organize, supervise, and control the agricultural census in their districts (usually one or two counties). Crew leaders are local men and women hired temporarily to work on the census.

Their teachers will be Census Bureau employees from the regional office and from the Bureau's headquarters near Washington, D.C., and some specialists from the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The special concentrated group training course in census enumeration will last four days. All crew leaders are also required to take a 4-day home study course and a written examination before they qualify.

Crew leaders are to recruit, train, and supervise a team of census enumerators in their home counties in time to take the census starting in November.

The Census of Agriculture is taken every five years in the years ending in "4" and "9". Information collected in the farm census is vital in making decisions affecting many segments of the U.S. economy. Data gathered include the number and size of farms, acreage and harvest of crops, a livestock inventory, information on farm equipment and facilities, sales of farm products, and some production expenditures.

Training schools for the area covered by the Denver regional office will be held at the following places and dates: Casper, Wyo., Oct. 13 - 16; Provo, Utah, Grand Junction, Colo., and Greeley, Colo., Oct. 20 - 23; Garden City, Kans., Lawrence, Kans., and Emporia, Kans., Oct. 27 - 30; and Flagstaff, Ariz., and Las Cruces, N.M., Nov. 4-7.

Local Man to Judge Poultry

John G. Kuhlmann, 215 N. 33rd St., has been named to judge all large fowl at the American Royal Livestock and Poultry Show, to be held Oct. 21-24, in Kansas City, Mo.

He also judged poultry at the Colorado State Fair in Pueblo, Aug. 24-29; at the Utah State Fair Show in Salt Lake City, Sept. 18-20; and at the Eastern New Mexico State Fair, in Roswell, N.M., Sept. 28-30.

He has also been asked by Clyde Fugate, manager of the Colorado State Fair, and the board of commissioners to judge poultry at the 1965 Colorado State Fair. This will be his 11th year.

Says Chester Cook, Ashley, Mich.

Federal Land Bank Discusses Growth

By ANN TYNER BROOKS
Ranch, Farm & Garden Editor

"We have an interest in you as well as from you," G. A. Wiles, vice president and treasurer of the Federal Land Bank of Wichita, told the annual stockholders meeting of the Federal Land Bank Association of Colorado Springs Monday afternoon at the Palmer House.

Wiles traced the growth of the Wichita Federal Land Bank, the first of the twelve present such banks, from its beginning in 1916. In 1933-34, the loan limit was $25,000 to one individual; today one can borrow $3,500,000, although the largest loan made to date was $821,000 to a New Mexico person. Payments can now be made on various time schedules, instead of only twice a year.

The Federal Land Bank now has 31,000 farm and ranch loans, worth $290 million. Delinquencies are less than four per cent. In Colorado 7,300 farm and ranch loans were made between 1954 and 1959.

Wiles expressed concern over the trend toward bigness in agriculture today. The 3,700,000 farms and ranches in the United States today may shrink to 1,500,000 by 1970, he said. The Federal Land Bank has had to change to cope with the situation: in place of 500 associations in the Wichita Bank's territory of Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado and New Mexico in the 1930's there are 69 today. There were almost 900 operating then; today there are 80, and more than half the managers are appraisers now. There has been a considerable trend toward decentralization, with each board of directors essentially operating its own land bank, he said.

Future developments in agriculture may include artificial lighting for entire fields, devices to tell egg sex, mobile X-ray 000 to start a farm.

tronic vegetable harvesters, methods of turning salt water into fresh water for drought areas, and processed milk which can be stored without refrigeration, Wiles said.

The fact that about 40 per cent of male agriculture college students are now returning to the farm is promising, he said. Of course, he added, this means the family farm, since it now takes between $40,000 and $60,-00⁰ to start a farm.

A new phenomenon, Wiles said, is "never paying the loan off." He cited amortized loans on which only the interest is paid for a period of five years or more.

A new service offered by the Federal Land Bank, he said, is credit life insurance, with premiums based on the age of the applicant and the amount of unpaid balance. The program also includes a future payment fund, which can automatically be applied to a farmer's loan if he experiences hard times. He illustrated the farmer's predicament by explaining that, although real estate values were up four per cent this year and four per cent last year, farm incomes were down.

The Federal Land Banks are financed, Wiles said, by the sale of bonds for all twelve banks as a unit, three or four times per year. Last year $209 million worth of bonds produced a fairly stable 4¼ per cent rate of interest, or almost $10 million in interest. This year bonds sold at a little over 6-32 above par. There are now $245 million worth of bonds out. These are distributed by 450 bond dealers, who receive a commission of from $1 to $3 per $1000. Since the $245 million worth of bonds cost about four per cent per year, and the $290 million worth of loans bring in about five per cent per year, this leaves about one per cent of the money for operating costs, he said.

Most of the loans, he said, bring 5½ per cent interest, but 20 per cent of them bring four per cent. One-half of the profit on the loans must be put into a legal reserve. The rest is a dividend.

The interest rate, Wiles said, has been reduced three times, and no raise in interest is foreseen. A 5½ per cent dividend is the goal, and this will probably be achieved before the interest rate is lowered again. A five per cent dividend was declared in June.

The Federal Land Banks, Wiles said, will "have to stay competitive."

The director's report for the fiscal year 1963-64 was presented by Elroy Stum, director, Federal Land Bank Association of Colorado Springs.

Loren Gleason, manager, Federal Land Bank Association of Colorado Springs, explained that farming and ranching investments in the country now exceed the total value of all corporations listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Trust funds owed by the Colorado Springs association, $18,307, are more than balanced by the $20,496 the association has in the bank, he said. Investments were $11,000 in the last fiscal year, $16,766. Capital stock was $191,700 last year; $210,050 this year. The dividend on the 1963-64 earnings is expected to be 3½ per cent, payable after Jan. 1, 1965. This year there were 382 unmatured loans, with a value of $3,561,-915. Last year there were 388 loans, with a value of $3,355,-000.

111 per cent of last year's goal of $600,000 in new money was achieved. This year the goal is $800,000 in new money lent. $390,000 in new money has been closed since this fiscal year began July 1, and $200,-100 additional is on the books now, he said.

Joe Carrigan of Wild Horse and Don L. Stevens of Lake George were nominated and elected by acclamation to three-year terms as directors of the board of the Federal Land Bank Association of Colorado Springs. Stevens is also president of the local association.

The invocation was given by Ted Dobler, vice president of the local association.

Luncheon entertainment was presented by the Flying-W Wranglers.

Door prizes were presented to Mrs. Clarence Cleese, Rose Bangert, Mrs. Leona Book, W. J. Garner, John Brewer, and Elmer L. Book. A carnation was presented to Mrs. Lois Kelly.

Leaves Left on Lawn Will Kill Grass

Leaves left on your lawn will kill the grass, according to garden experts of the Union Fork & Hoe Company, Columbus, Ohio. Soft leaves like maple, elm or beech are especially bad, but oak leaves should be cleared too, says the Construction Research Bureau release.

Leaves which stay on the lawn will mat, get soggy and eventually choke out the grass beneath them.

A piece of canvas can be laid down next to the pile of leaves and the leaves raked onto it and removed.

Leaves should not be burned on the lawn, because the fire kills the grass beneath it and scorches tree branches above it. Instead, leaves should be removed and composted.

Local 4-H'er Receives Entry Fees Award

Tom Chilcott, Route 1, Box 141, Maizeland Rd., has been awarded his entry fees to the Colorado State Fair and the El Paso County Fair. The award was made by Bob Davis, assistant manager of Simpson & Co., 201 W. Colorado Ave., on behalf of the company. Chilcott uses Simpson's Diamond S Feed, purchased through Upton Gardens, exclusively for his poultry.

At the 4-H El Paso Achievement Night recently, Chilcott received the county 4-H award, part of the 4-H national awards program.

In the Colorado State Fair, held Aug. 24-29 in Pueblo, Chilcott won 17 first prizes, 21 second prizes, 7 third prizes, and 4 fourth prizes. He won the grand championship in the open class with a Buff Laced Polish pullet. He also won the American Poultry Association Award for the championship foul group comprising all classes in the open class.

At the El Paso County Fair, held Aug. 14-16, he won 20 first prizes, 18 second prizes, and 12 third prizes.

At the 4-H Fair, held July 11 at the Mount Herman Grange in Monument, he won the reserve championship on his turkey exhibit, and the grand championship with a trio of Black Giant chickens.

Chilcott has participated in the county fair for three years, and the state fair for two years, and has exhibited over 100 chicks, ducks and turkeys.

Local Ranchers Get Public Land Leases

Two area ranch operators were awarded state public land leases during September, according to announcement by the Colorado Board of Land Commissioners.

Irene G. Chess, operating northeast of Canon City, received a lease on 277.50 acres of grazing land at the rate of 27 cents per acre for a total rental price of $74.93. This represented no change in rental price from the previous lease to the same person.

M. P. Early of Penrose obtained the lease of 93.93 acres of grazing land in El Paso County.

Lamar Announces Man of the Year

LAMAR (UPI) — James H. Heath, director of the Lamar Junior College Department of Agriculture, was named 1964 Man of the Year in Lamar Monday.

Announcement of the award was made at the annual banquet of the Lamar Chamber of Commerce.

The selection committee cited "his devotion to this nation's most cherished resource—youth."

City Forester Gives Fall Tree Care Tips

Trees and shrubs can be helped through the fall, especially a dry one like last year's, by watering now, says Bill Schacht, city forester. Two dry winters and summers have made trees vulnerable to wilting conditions, he said.

Soaking the soil around trees and shrubs is needed now to assure that adequate moisture replaces that which has been taken from the subsoil in previous dry months. This is especially true of evergreens, and recently planted trees.

Evergreens also need water during the winter. Those planted near the foundation wall of a home need more, because the concrete attracts moisture. Newly planted evergreens near foundations will die if not watered periodically during the winter.

The Park and Recreation Department advises the folloing fall care for trees:

Right now soak the soil around the tree root system thoroughly. One can assure adequate supply of water to the roots by building up a mound of dirt around the tree trunk to form a depression or well and then placing a slowly running hose to fill the depression. In cases where it is impossible to build a well, a root feeder or soil injector is helpful to irrigate the roots.

One should refrain from feeding trees large doses of nitrogen at this time. Fertilizer lacking in nitrogen but high in phosphorus and potassium should be used, especially if the soil is unable to dry out in the early fall.

When temperatures get below zero, a mulch of grass clippings, leaves, or Christmas tree clippings should be put around young trees. A mulch above the ground helps to preserve the compartive warmth which rises from below the surface in winter, and to exclude cold air. Also, when frost heaving may be a problem, such as when an intense cold spell is followed bya brief warming period, a mulch helps prevent the top layers from thawing too rapidly.

In the winter many young trees here are subject to a drying condition known as sunscald. After the leaves have fallen, the unshaded parts facing south receive unusual solar radiation, because sunlight is also reflected from the snow. The result is a drying out and death of the exposed tissue. To prevent this, one should wrap the trunks, of trees with trunk diameters less than five inches, with tree wrapping material in the late fall and leave it in place until spring.

Imports, Reapportionment Discussed by Grange

Colorado State Grange Master Ray Obrecht, speaking before the 91st annual session of that organization in Denver recently cited the following Grange goals slated by the national grange master: to raise farm income; to reduce and when possible eliminate farm program costs; to restore to private trade and the producer the responsibility for handling and storing farm products; to allow competitive instead of Government control, to determine farm production praduction patterns and to retain for producers the responsibility for controlling surplusses and allow them to build their own reserve.

National Grange Master Herschel D. Newsom, however, praised the nation's farm program, citing more than $6.1 billion of farm exports last year.

A Water Rescources Report was prepared by the convention. The state Grange encourages legislation which would protect the rights of present users of underground water and assign control and administrative responsibilities to the local level.

With regard to education, the state Grange favors state income tax adequate to support education, increased vocational training, adequate driver education programs, more adult education programs, and closed circuit television, recording and sound films to help alleviate the shortage of good teachers.

The convention also approved a report asking that applicants for driver's licenses give consent at the time the license is issued to submit to alcohol in blood tests if demanded by authorities; that 16 and 17 year olds be required to have passed a drivers' education course; and that an exchange of information be set up with other states to prevent drivers with revoked licenses from going to another state and getting a license; to enforce present laws or increase laws where necessary so that more severe sentences can be invoked for running from officers, drag racing, driving while intoxicated or without a valid license.

A resolution was passed saying that large imports of meat are jeopardizing not only the livestock producer but also the feed grain producer, the feeder, meat packer and consumer; that the livestock producers in this country are producing all the meat that our country will consume at prices on a parity with wages and that any meat imported under state department policies of free trade will constitute a surplus. They are opposed to imports above the amounts received in 1962, and recommend that quotas not exceed five per cent of our per capita consumption of retail meats. They also hope to work for full parity for domestically consumed wheat.

Another recommendation said, "the Colorado State Grange opposes the interference of the Supreme Court in the reapportioning of the State Legislature. ...We believe that the people of Colorado have the constitutional right to decide these matters for themselves and that the decision of the United States Supreme Court requiring the State to apportion on a strict population basis is an unwarranted and flagrant invasion of our Constitutional rights and privileges and must be challenged and Congressional action urged."

The Grange also opposed the proposed "Job Corps Camp" near Woodland Park.

Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor of Pagosa Springs have been State Grange. They will compete for the Natioanl Grange Young Couple of the Year Award in Atlantic City in November.

CSU Holds Workshop On Cooperatives

FORT COLLINS — A workshop designed to provide professional training for new directors and managers of cooperatives is scheduled on the Colorado State University campus October 19.

The co-op session, co-sponsored by the Colorado Cooperative Council, Colorado State Department of Agriculture, and the CSU Extension Service, will get underway at 8:30 a.m. in Room 208 of the CSU Student Center.

Workshop participation is not necessarily limited to new co-op workers. Others interested in cooperative management are invited to attend.

At the heart of the 4-H Club program are some 400,000 men and women who serve voluntarily as leaders.

Episcopalian Group Blasts Sen. Goldwater

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — More than 700 Episcopalians, including 10 bishops, Tuesday accused the Republican presidential candidate and his running mate of a "transparent exploitation of racism among white citizens."

The statement was issued here concurrent with the triennial general convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

It accused Sen. Barry Goldwater, the GOP nominee, and the party's vice presidential candidate, U.S. Rep. William E. Miller, of "manipulation of racism among white citizens."

Goldwater himself is an Episcopalian; Miller is a Roman Catholic.

"They have sought to frighten citizens by equating the Negro struggle for freedom with crime and violence in the streets, while at the same time encouraging disrespect for law and order by their own expressed contempt for the federal judiciary, especially for the U.S. Supreme Court," the statement said.

The "statement of conscience on racism in the presidential campaign" was issued here by William A. Stringfellow, a New York City attorney and prominent Episcopal layman, who has been active in church service projects in Harlem.

He said that the statement was distributed to 1,100 Episcopal clergymen and laymen whom he felt "might share my concern about the racial crisis."

So far, Stringfellow said, 726 had signed the statement and returned it to him.

Many of them are among the approximately 8,000 Episcopalians here from across the country for the Church's legislative convention. However, the document was not a part of official convention business.

Stringfellow said he did not consider it a proper subject for the convention agenda.

Among the bishops signing the document were:

James A. Pike of San Francisco, Donald Hallock of Milwaukee, Frederick Putnam of Oklahoma, J. Stuart Wetmore of New York City, Chandler Sterling of Montana, Charles Persell of Albany, N.Y.; Lane Barton of eastern Oregon, Theodore McCrea of Dallas, Kilmer Myers of Michigan and Paul Moore of Washington, D.C.

Women first marched in a presidential inaugural parade at the inauguration of Woodrow Wilson.

STEVE BOYD GETS SET FOR SCIENCEFICTION FILM

HOLLYWOOD — Steve Boyd makes his first film here in five years — "The Fantastic Voyage," the most expensive science-fiction picture ever made. Twentieth Centur-Fox Shoots the works on this yarn about a United States secret service agent on an incredible assignment, and secret it's gonna be The actors will perform behind locked sets when it starts next month with Saul David producing and Richard Fleischer directing. David is a bright fellow full of ideas; he's now doing "Von Ryan's Express." Boyd would have changed history if he had continued in "Cleopatra," but he bowed out and Richard Burton took over.

Writer Richard Condon travels so much his wife calls him "the yo-yo of the time zones." After wrapping up a deal to sell his novel, "A talent for Loving" "(Duke Wayne should play it") to Richard Quine and 7 Arts, he returns to London to script one of those United Nations TV shows which Alfred Hitchcock will direct. His subject is plague control. Condon has researchers in Italy, England, India, and the United States digging up material on fasting which will be the basis of his next novel. In case you've forgotten, he authored "The Manchurian Candidate."

Carroll Baker's staking her bankroll on French Designer Pierre Balmain's prediction that the new look will be transparent. He's whipping up a complete wardrobe of peekaboo things for her. She blames me for part of it. Says my story about Jean Harlow appearing at an M-G-M luncheon for Cal Coolidge in a transparent outfit gave her the idea it was time we got back to the glamorous girl in "Cheyenne Autumn," but at the big shebang at Ft. Laramie, Wyo., she wore a transparent western shirt and rode from one interview to another on horseback. London will get an eyeful when she appears there at the "Carpetbaggers" premier in a pink, beaded, skintight chiffon with flower stole: Many designers have leotards to wear underneath but that's cheating.

It must have felt like home for Jimmy Roosevelt when he returned to the Sam Goldwyn studio for a political rally arranged by Janet Leigh. Jimmy started his career as a producer for Sam when his father was President. About 800 ladies paid $5.00 each to meet the candidates, but the girls were too busy getting autographs of the stars to listen. I must say Jimmy kept his word to me, and gave me the exclusive when Betsy Cushing divorced him. That was the first divorce in the Roosevelt family.

Frankie Laine and wife, Nan, spent four years and much cash researching Closeup, a new kind of mirror for gals who can't make up their eyes without wearing glasses. I have one and recommend it. You can even put on false eyelashes and get them straight with this prescirption mirror. Frankie will probably make more from this than he did from "Mule Train."

Bob Hope, in a rare mood, came on the phone singing "Once in a Lifetime," then told me the queen wants him for a command performance Nov. 2, but he has to join Dolores in Australia. Hope was in Washington when Pal Jerry Colonna got four decorations: "They kept laying it on him. Every general, including Curtis Lemay, was there. Many forgot that Colonna has done over 1,500 shows during the past 23 years for his country."

Mr. and Mrs. William Cross, who live in the Lanning Cottage, are the parents of a baby girl born Sunday, Oct. 11.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hammond Jr., of Denver, and Bob Johnson, of Manitou Springs, who was home on leave fror the Air Corps, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hammond Sr. Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Madsen, of Berwyn, Ill., have been guests of the Jack Lannings this past week. The Madsens are interested in property in this area in which to make their home.

The covered dish dinner which was held at the Firehouse Saturday evening by the Holy Rosary Parish was well attended, and a very pleasant evening was spent after dinner playing Bingo.

Mr. and Mrs. Hans Fischer, newcomers to this area who reside on Highway 24, have gone to Tucson, Ariz., for a few months. Mr. Fischer has accepted a position as chef at the Tuscon National Golf Club and Estates. They will return to their home here before the holiday season.

Cascade welcomes a number or newcomers to this area for the winter. Among those on this weeks list are: Mr. and Mrs. Hans Fischer, Mr. and Mrs. David Poetter, Mr. and Mrs. Harland Monroe and family, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Forsette, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Howell and family, Mr. T. H. Dauenspeck, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Connelly and family and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ford and family.

A series of Christian cartoons by E.J. Pace, former chief cartoonist for Sunday School Times is being shown at the opening exercises of the Community Sunday School, which meets regularly in Sugar Creek House on Pyramid Mesa. Twenty-four new Durham chairs arrived last week to insure plenty of seating for the increasing number of youngsters who attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Slaven and family spent Sunday in Denver visiting Mrs. Slaven's brother, Bill Wolfe, and family.

Bernard Haigler is having a garage constructed at his residence at Timberlane, on Highway 24.

Sgt. and Mrs. Charles Johnson entertained Mr. and Mrs. John Dixon and family Sunday evening, honoring the birthday of their son Charles. Refreshments of birthday cake and coffee were enjoyed.

Don Bryce has rented the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Sharbutt Owen. He is employed by a Nuclear Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Muzik, of Elmwood Park, Ill., spent several days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Tesker.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Madsen, who are visiting in this area, called on Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Tesker Saturday afternoon.

The Brownie troop of ten girls were all present at their regular meeting Thursday afternoon at the Firehouse in Cascade. Their leaders, Mrs. Phyllis Giles and Mrs. Anne Mae Vaeth, took them on a hike and they found a secret hideout for the girls. The girls made an outdoor picture at the meeting. Mary Lee Beal and Sheryl Langton, hostesses for the meeting, served cookies and koolade.

The Ute Pass Homemakers will resume their meetings after a summer vacation with a coffee at the home of Mrs. Phyllis Giles Wednesday, Oct. 21, at 10 a.m. If you are interested please feel welcome to come to the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wyatt and Robin spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jeff O'Neal at Lake George.

Mrs. Elizabeth McDowell was hostess to the Cascade Women's Club at a morning coffee Monday at her home. Eighteen ladies were present. It was decided to meet on the second Monday of each month. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Herbert Esgar, Nov. 9.

Rocket Test Halted For Hunting Season

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N.M. (AP) — There will be no Athena test rocket firings from Green River, Utah, into White Sands until Utah's fall deer hunting season closes Oct. 27, range officials said today.

This, a spokesman said, will allow hunters to move into the sparsely populated area southwest of Moab, Utah, which is used as a safety zone during Athena firings.

Committee Heads Named by Planning Group

Three committee chairmen were designated at the Oct. 9 meeting of the board of directors of the Security - Widefield Planning Association, held at the home of the chairman, Roy Adams, 131 Ithaca St., Widefield.

Kenneth Land is to be chairman of the research committee. Daniel Furzi is to head the publicity committee, and Clifford Bowland is to be chairman of the finance committee.

It was decided that the active membership fee would be $10 per year, and the fee for associate membership would be a minimum of $2 per year. The raising of funds was discussed at some length.

The research committee is to start a study to determine, among other things, the following: annexation vs. incorporation, boundary, form of government, estimated income for the area and sources, and initial cost and additional services required.

Another meeting of the board of directors is scheduled for 7 p.m. Oct. 23, also at the home of the chairman.

ST. MARY'S ROYALTY — Pictured above from left are Patti Haney, Molly Miles and Linda Skonce of St. Mary's High School. Patti is the Junior Princess of homecoming, and Molly and Linda are senior candidates for the title of Homecoming Queen. The homecoming court was selected by the St. Mary's football team, and the queen will be announced later this week. Attendants are Sarita Schneebeck, Judi McAdams, Colleen Kilian, Mary Anne Grantz and Charlotte Kelly. Homecoming festivities for St. Mary's will begin Saturday with a parade through the downtown district at 7 p.m., followed by a pep rally at 7:30 p.m. in the St. Mary's gym, and Benediction in St. Mary's Church at 8:20 p.m. The homecoming game with Regis will be played Sunday at 2 p.m. in Wasson Stadium, and a dance at 8:30 p.m. will be held in the gym. All alumni are invited to attend.

Teacher Appeals To Colorado Supreme Court

Jess Leadbetter who recently had his suit against School District No. 8 dismissed by District Judge William M. Calvert is appealing to the Colorado Supreme Court.

The school district comprises Fountain and Ft. Carson, and Judge Calvert ordered Leadbetter to pay all the defendant's court costs.

The plaintiff alleged that he was wrongfully dismissed from his post as a full time teacher. He held the position from Sept. 1, 1960 and claimed that a wrongful attempt was made to terminate his employment April 23, 1963, and that the termination was not effective as the district failed to give him written notice by April 15.

Leadbetter sued for $5,850 damages and requested reinstatement as full - time teacher.

Judge Calvert dismissed the case on the grounds that the plaintiff received "the notice to which he is entitled under the statute."

Water Works Group to Meet Here Sunday

The annual meeting of the Rocky Mountain section of the American Water Works Association will get under way Sunday at the Broadmoor Hotel.

The four - day meeting will be highlighted by both technical and general sessions, a golf tournament at Kissing Camels Country Club Golf Course, a ladies' luncheon and the usual round of cocktail parties, luncheons and dinner banquets sponsored by participating manufacturers and engineering firms.

The members of the association will be greeted Monday morning by representatives of local government and John Price, chairman of the AWWA.

Following the official greeting, the meeting will get underway with technical sessions and symposiums on the subjects of water pollution, different types of valves, safety, the problem of detergents and pollution control.

Tuesday's program will have sessions, films and speeches dealing with sewage systems, the problem of freezing in high elevation communities, saline water conversion, corrosion in water systems and package sewage treatment plants.

Wednesday's program is geared specifically toward operators and will deal with maintenance, operation, repair and control of water systems plus a session on automation and its application in filter plants.

The meeting will be climaxed Wednesday night with a gala banquet and dance at the International Center of the Broadmoor, at which time awards will be made.

DO YOU TAKE VITAMINS AND STILL FEEL TIRED?*

If you take vitamins, yet still feel tired—you may need more than vitamins to restore your normal strength and energy. Check with your doctor. He may tell you that your worn-out feeling can be due to a shortage of iron.

Vitamins alone can't build up iron-poor blood. But GERITOL can! That's because GERITOL not only contains 7 vitamins but, in addition, supplies the amount of iron needed to build iron-rich red blood. Just 2 GERITOL tablets, or 2 tablespoons of GERITOL liquid, contain twice the iron in a pound of calves' liver! Seven times the iron in a pound of spinach! It is this rich source of iron, that makes GERITOL such an effective strength-building tonic. In only one day, GERITOL-iron is in your bloodstream beginning to carry strength and energy to every part of your body!

Proved By Medical Tests!

Patients diagnosed with iron-deficiency frequently were pale, nervous, irritable and easily tired. After patients took GERITOL daily, doctors reported definite clinical improvement. Remember, vitamins alone can't do it! But GERITOL, with its rich source of iron, can help you regain your strength and energy.

Check with your doctor and if iron-poor blood is your problem, you should take fast-acting GERITOL every day. Feel stronger fast—in just 7 days—or your money back from the maker. Get high-potency GERITOL, liquid or tablets, today!

*Due to iron deficiency

Both British Parties Claim Vote Prospect

By COLIN FROST

LONDON (AP) — With Britain's general election only one day away, both major parties claimed today the trend is going their way.

The Laborites still were heavy betting favorites despite a wildcat subway strike in London that raised the public's temper.

"Of course we shall win, if we get out our full vote," Labor party leader Harold Wilson said in Liverpool. "All the signs are that there will be a big vote and a big swing to Labor."

"It looks like going more to the left," said Peter Hyett, director of the National Opinion Poll which earlier reported the Laborites and Conservatives neck and neck.

The hard-pressed Conservatives claimed that their blitz speaking campaign by more than 20 members of the government was paying off. "Things have swung our way," said Foreign Secretary Richard A. Butler.

Conservative hopes were boosted by the subway strike. It is an axiom of British politics that strikes mean trouble for the Labor party, which gets its main financial support from the unions.

Wilson denounced as "intolerable" the strike staged by a minority of railmen in defiance of their union leaders. The strikers are protesting schedule cuts caused by a shortage of guards. They claim the London Transport Board could attract more workers by raising the wage scale.

Prime Minister Douglas-Home, fighting his first campaign as the Conservative party's leader, wound up his television campaign Tuesday night.

He called on Britain's 35 million voters to renew the Conservative mandate because his government has kept living standards rising and it intends to keep Britain's nuclear armory intact.

"So remember that your vote on Thursday will decide not just your way of living and your standard of life, but that of your children too," he said.

Wilson holds his final rally in Liverpool Tonight.

'Outrage' Gives Its Version of What Is Truth

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The new movies —

"The Outrage" is more perplexing than outrageous. It poses tie age-old inquiry: What is truth? The only answer is provided by a con man: "People see what they want to see and they hear what they want to hear."

Like "The Magnificent Seven," "The Outrage" transforms a classic Japanese film — it was also a Broadway play — to a Western setting. But something was lost in the translation of Kurosawa's great "Rashomon"; somehow its art doesn't register amid the gunfighters as it did with the samurai.

Three lone figures gather in a rainstorm at a broken-down railroad station — a dishearentd preachtr, a garrulous ened preacher, a garrulous charlatan, an idealistc prospector. Together they relate the scandal of a small Western town.

A trial has been held. A Mexican bandit was accused of the rape of a woman and the murder of her husband. But the testimony of the bandit, the woman and the dying words of her husband provide three versions of what happened.

Then the prospector confesses he saw the whole thing, and it was entirely different from what the other three said.

"The Outrage" could have been a clever exercise in irony, through much of the story-telling, thanks to director Martin Ritt and topflight acting. But the irony rusts in the final sequence, which descends to farce and erases any pretense to serious consideration.

Paul Newman, Claire Bloom and Laurence Harvey perform above and beyond the call of duty in enacting their charade four times. Newman is robust, but his accent makes him sound a bit like a growly Jose Jiminez.

Edward G. Robinson, William Shatner and Howard da Silva are fine as the narrators, especially Robinson as the con man. His performance might well draw an Academy Award that is long overdue.

Samuel Goldwyn Jr. attempted with "The Young Lovers" something his father never did — to direct as well as produce a motion picture. The results indicate that young Sammy may have done well to deviate from the paternal pattern.

That does not mean that "The Young Lovers" is an unalloyed success. It is likely that the over-40 audience may object to its casual approach to what was once called moral values. Though the film is by no means immoral, its approach seems too sophisticated.

Goldwyn Jr. is to be commended for attempting that rare screen commodity, the love story. It is a tale of the romance and torment of two college students, one a somewhat inhibited beauty, the other an aimless artist. Their situation seems real, and so do the collegiate surroundings.

Where "The Young Lovers" fails to achieve reality is in the characters. The leads are played with earnestness by Peter Fonda and Sharon Hugueny, but they never have dimension. Their joys, angers and frustrations are carefully delineated, but the motivations are never explored.

At any rate, Sammy is off to a promising start. His father should be proud.

Water Project Feasibility Report Okayed

DENVER (AP) — The U.S. Reclamation Bureau said today a feasibility report for development of the 61,000-acre Dolores Water Project in southwestern Colorado has been approved by the Interior Department.

The cost of the proposed project has been estimated at $46,643,000.

Reclamation officials said the Dolores Project would provide a dependable water supply for Montexuma and San Juan counties. It would conserve and distribute the flow of the Dolores River for irrigation, municipal and industrial use, flood control, water quality control, recreation and fish and wildlife conservation.

The principal storage feature would be the McPhee Reservoir on the river below the town of Dolores. The 364,000 acre-foot reservoir would be formed by the McPhee Dam and a 1,900-foot dike across the Dolores-San Juan River about five miles above the dam.

The feasibility report has been sent to states in the Upper Colorado River Basin and to federal agencies for review.

State-wide Horticultural Council Urged

FORT COLLINS — Colorado could definitely benefit by the formation of a state - wide horticultural council, Charles M. Drage, extension horticulturist at Colorado State University, said here recently.

Speaking to the 11th annual Rocky Mountain Regional Turfgrass Conference, held on the CSU campus, Drage said a horticultural council could coordinate the efforts of the many regional and special - interest groups to produce more effective results. Such results, he said, would include a greater awareness of ornamental horticulutre in Colorado, and added natural beauty to make the state a better place in which to live, or to vacation.

Drage said that there are several thousand members in various horticultural organizations across the state, such as the Colorado Nurserymen's Association, the Colorado Flower Growers Association, and others. The problem, he said, is getting these people, together with professional horticulturists and the suppliers and dealers that furnish their lawn and garden equipment, coordinated to act as a group.

Acting cooperatively, Drage believes, a state - wide organization could carry out such projects as adding garden book shelves to school and local libraries, increasing horticultural education and appreciation especially in elementary grades, sponsoring more horticulture & garden clinics, and adding effective support to legislation designed to improve horticultural standards.

Playing cards are believed to have originated in Hindustan about 800 A.D. The earliest playing cards in Europe appeared in Italy in the 14th Century and were known as "tarots." They consisted of decks of 62, 78, or 97 cards.

51 Believed Killed In Hong Kong Typhoon

HONG KONG (AP) — Rescue officials were certain today that the death toll from Typhoon Dot would reach 51.

With 34 deaths confirmed, workers searched for the bodies of 17 other persons buried in landslides caused by the killer storm Tuesday.

Most of the dead and missing were refugees from Communist China. The typhoon crossed into Red China's Kwangtung province and began blowing itself out. As yet there were no reports of casualties or damage there.

My good friend and associate, John Gerber, Houston, led a foursome consisting of Margaret Wagar, Atlanta, and Dr. John Fisher and Emma Jean Hawes of Dallas to a photofinish triumph over a record turnout in the National Mixed Team - of-Four championships recently concluded in Toronto, Canada. A microscopic ¼ of a point separated the first three teams.

Today's hand, taken from a qualifying round of the event, reveals how East was able to capitalize on South's momentary carelessness to submerge the latter's four spade contract.

South made a take-out double over the one heart opening bid, inasmuch as he had ample support for all suits. West raised his partner to two hearts and North chose to pass, although we would not look with askance on a bid of two spades. Superficially, he has but six high card points; however, they are well distributed and there is no duplication in the opponents' heart suit. The pass places pressure on partner and he may be reluctant to compete further single handed.

Fortunately, South had enough in reserve to bid two spades and, when North offered a delayed raise, he carried on to game.

West opened the king of hearts and continued the suit, declarer ruffed the second round. South led the queen of spades and was permitted to hold the trick. He continued with a small spade and, when West showed out, the king was played from dummy to force out East's ace.

A heart came back forcing declarer again, and he was now reduced to one trump, the jack. It was necessary to dislodge the ace of clubs and, when East got in with that card, a fourth round of hearts applied the finishing touch. South was obliged to trump with the jack of spades, and East's ten became established for the setting trick.

Since it is necessary to let the defenders in twice while declarer is establishing his tricks, he must be careful to protect his trump holding from a fatal attack. When the queen of spades holds, South should continue with the jack—retaining North's king to complete the drawing of trumps if that suit does not break. This will counter the threat of repeated heart forces, for declarer safely can reserve his small spades for trumping purposes while he completes his chores.

No. 1

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

Notice is hereby given that at the General Election to be held on the third day of November, A.D. 1964, there will be submitted to the qualified electors of the State of Colorado, the question of amending the Constitution of said state.

The authority for submitting such question is found in Section Two (2) of Article XIX of the Constitution of the State of Colorado, Article XXIII of the State Constitution, and in Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 3, of the Forty-Fourth General Assembly, which is in words and figures, following, viz:

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 3

SUBMITTING TO THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF THE STATE OF COLORADO AN AMENDMENT TO ARTICLES IV AND V OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF COLORADO, PROVIDING FOR A STATE AUDITOR UNDER THE LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT TO REPLACE THE AUDITOR OF STATE UNDER THE EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT

Be It Resolved by the Senate of the Forty-fourth General Assembly of the State of Colorado, the House of Representatives concurring herein:

Section 1. At the next general election for members of the general assembly, there shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the state of Colorado, for their approval or rejection, the following amendment to the constitution of the state of Colorado, to wit:

Sections 1, 4, 6, and 21, of article IV of the constitution of the state of Colorado are hereby amended to read:

Section 1. The executive department shall include the governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state treasurer, and attorney general, each of whom shall hold his office for the term of four years, commencing on the second Tuesday of January in the year 1967, and each fourth year thereafter. They shall perform such duties as are prescribed by this constitution or by law.

Section 4. No person shall be eligible to the office of governor or lieutenant governor unless he shall have attained the age of thirty years, nor to the office of secretary of state or state treasurer unless he shall have attained the age of twenty-five years, nor to the office of attorney general unless he shall have attained the age of twenty-five years and be a licensed attorney of the supreme court of the state in good standing, and no person shall be eligible to any one of said offices unless, in addition to the qualifications above prescribed therefor, he shall be a citizen of the United States, and have resided within the limits of the state two years next preceding his election.

Section 6. The governor shall nominate, and by and with the consent of the senate, appoint all officers whose offices are established by this constitution, or which may be created by law, and whose appointment or election is not otherwise provided for, and may remove any such officer for incompetency, neglect of duty, or malfeasance in office. If during the recess of the senate a vacancy occurs in any such office, the governor shall appoint some fit person to discharge the duties thereof until the next meeting of the senate, when he shall nominate some person to fill such office. If the office of state treasurer, secretary of state, or attorney general shall be vacated by death, resignation, or otherwise, it shall be the duty of the governor to fill the same by appointment, and the appointee shall hold his office until his successor shall be elected and qualified in such manner as may be provided by law. The senate in deliberating upon executive nominations may sit with closed doors, but in acting upon nominations they shall sit with open doors, and the vote shall be taken by ayes and noes, which shall be entered upon the journal.

Section 21. The auditor of state elected at the general election in 1962 shall hold his office until the second Tuesday of January of 1967. In case of a vacancy in the office prior to said date, such vacancy shall be filled by the governor. The provisions of this amendment shall not affect the powers and duties of such auditor of state during his term of office, but thereafter such powers and duties as prescribed by this constitution and by statute law, and not by this amendment specifically transferred to other state officers, shall devolve upon such state officers as the general assembly may prescribe.

Article V of the constitution of the state of Colorado is hereby amended by the addition of a new Section 49 to read:

Section 49. The general assembly, by a majority vote of the members elected to and serving in each house, shall appoint, without regard to political affiliation, a state auditor, who shall be a certified public accountant licensed to practice in this state, to serve for a term of five years and until his successor is appointed and qualified. He shall be ineligible for appointment as state auditor for more than two consecutive terms, or for appointment or election to any other public office in this state from which compensation is derived while serving as state auditor and for two years following the termination of his services as such state auditor. He may be removed for cause at any time by a two-thirds vote of the members elected to and serving in each house. It shall be his duty to conduct post audits of all financial transactions and accounts kept by or for all departments, offices, agencies, and institutions of the state government, including educational institutions notwithstanding the provisions of section 14 of article IX of this constitution, and to perform similar or related duties with respect to such political subdivisions of the state as shall from time to time be required of him by law.

Not more than three members of the staff of the state auditor shall be exempt from the classified civil service.

Section 2. Each elector voting at said election and desirous of voting for or against the said amendment shall cast his vote as provided by law either "Yes" or "No" on the proposition: "An amendment to articles IV and V of the constitution of the state of Colorado, providing for a state auditor under the legislative department to replace the auditor of state under the executive department."

Section 3. The votes cast for the adoption or rejection of said amendment shall be canvassed and the result determined in the manner provided by law for the canvassing of votes for representatives in Congress, and if a majority of the electors voting on the question shall have voted "Yes", the said amendment shall become a part of the state constitution.

An Amendment to Articles IV and V of the Constitution of the State of Colorado, providing for a State Auditor under the Legislative Department to replace the Auditor of State under the Executive Department.	YES
	NO

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the Great Seal of the State of Colorado, at the City of Denver, Colorado, this 5th day of October, A.D. 1964.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

Notice is hereby given that at the General Election to be held on the third day of November, A.D. 1964, there will be submitted to the qualified electors of the State of Colorado, the question of amending the Constitution of said state.

The authority for submitting such question is found in Section Two (2) of Article XIX of the Constitution of the State of Colorado, Article XXIII of the State Constitution, and in House Concurrent Resolution No. 1001, of the Forty-Fourth General Assembly, which is in words and figures, following, viz:

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 1001

SUBMITTING TO THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF THE STATE OF COLORADO AN AMENDMENT TO ARTICLE IX OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF COLORADO, PROVIDING THAT THE OFFICE OF COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS MAY BE ABOLISHED BY THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF ANY COUNTY, AND ELIMINATING INOPERATIVE PROVISIONS WITH RESPECT TO CERTAIN DUTIES OF THE COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT.

Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives of the Forty-fourth General Assembly of the State of Colorado, the Senate concurring herein:

Section 1.—At the next general election for members of the general assembly, there shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the state of Colorado, for their approval or rejection, the following amendment to the constitution of the state of Colorado, to wit:

Section 6 of article IX of the constitution of the state of Colorado is hereby amended to read:

Section 6.—County superintendent of schools.—There may be a county superintendent of schools in each county, whose term of office shall be four years, and whose duties, qualifications, and compensation shall be prescribed by law.

The provisions of Section 8 of Article XIV of this constitution to the contrary notwithstanding, the office of county superintendent of schools may be abolished by any county if the question of the abolishment of said office is first submitted, at a general election, to a vote of the qualified electors of said county and approved by a majority of the votes cast thereon. In any county so voting in favor of such abolishment, the office of county superintendent of schools and the term of office of any incumbent in said county shall terminate on June 30 following.

Section 2. Each elector voting at said election and desirous of voting for or against the said amendment shall cast his vote as provided by law either "Yes" or "No" on the proposition: "An amendment to article IX of the constitution of the state of Colorado, providing that the office of county superintendent of schools may be abolished by the qualified electors of any county, and eliminating inoperative provisions with respect to certain duties of the county superintendent."

Section 3. The votes cast for the adoption or rejection of said amendment shall be canvassed and the result determined in the manner provided by law for the canvassing of votes for representatives in Congress, and if a majority of the electors voting on the question shall have voted "Yes", the said amendment shall become a part of the state constitution.

An Amendment to Article IX of the Constitution of the State of Colorado, providing that the Office of County Superintendent of Schools may be abolished by the qualified electors of any county, and eliminating inoperative provisions with respect to certain duties of the County Superintendent.	YES

PIETA STORED

NEW YORK (UPI) — Michelangelo's "Pieta" will be stored in its exhibition gallery at the Vatican Pavilion while the World's Fair is closed this winter, it was announced Monday.

Pavilion officials said the famed sculpture from St. Peter's in Rome will be shrouded in super-soft fabric and locked in a steel mesh cage connected to an ultrasonic alarm system. More than 13 million fair visitors have seen the masterpiece to date.

Tax Waiver Bill Vetoed by President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson vetoed Tuesday a bill to waive interest of $9,083 for late filing of tax returns by a Colorado couple.

Approval of the bill for Chester A. Brothers and his wife, Anna, of Pueblo would "discriminate against many other taxpayers and would create an undesirable situation" Johnson said.

The veto message said the couple did not file tax returns for 1955 and 1956 until 1960 because, unknown to them, their accountant failed to file their returns.

They were asessed interest at the rate of 6 per cent annually but there were no other penalties for their late filing.

The Washington Monument was dedicated Feb. 21, 1885, during the administration of President Arthur.

Youth Guilty of Traffic Death

DARIEN, Conn. (AP) — Michael Smith, a 19-year-old college freshman, has been convicted of negligent homicide and reckless driving in a case that stirred a controversy over teenage drinking at house parties.

Trial testimony led to the arrest of 13 adults on charges of serving drinks to minors at debutante parties in private homes in this fashionable suburb of New York City. Their case goes to trial Thursday.

Smith was convicted Tuesday by Circuit Court Judge Rodney S. Eielson, who sentenced him to six months in jail, to be suspended after 60 days, and put him on two years probation. The verdict will be appealed.

Judge Eielson ruled that Smith was driving the station wagon that crashed June 22, killing Nancy Hitchings, 17, daughter of an American Airlines vice president. The two had attended two house parties the night before.

Teen-age witnesses testified that liquor was served minors at a dinner party at the home of Francis E. Dutcher, a corporation executive, and at a debutante party at the home of Dr. George Hughes, a psychiatrist.

Smith testified that he could not remember the accident, nor much about the parties. Asked if he was drunk, he said: "I don't believe so, but I don't know."

The defense contended that Smith was not driving.

He appeared stunned at the verdict but maintained his composure. His mother, Mrs. Evelyn Smith, a widow, sobbed quietly.

"Michael," the judge said, "I believe you had a loss of memory both as the result of your drinking and the brain concussion you received in the accident."

Midway in the 10-day trial the judge ordered the arrest of 14 adults for having violated a Connecticut law that prohibits the serving of alcoholic beverages to persons under 21 except by their parents or guardians. The 14th has not yet surrendered.

Among the 13 are Dr. Hughes, Dutcher, a consulting engineer, another business executive, a grade school teacher who worked as a bartender at one of the parties and other catering employes.

Senate Produces Less Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) —As usual the 100 senators did more talking, spent more time, and produced less legislation than the 435 representatives in the recently ended congressional session.

A post-session issue of the Congressional Record showed that the Senate met 186 days from Jan. 7 through Oct. 12 — 38 days more than the 148 days the House was in session.

The Senate was in session 1,350 hours, more than twice the 624 hours chalked up by the House.

The Senate totals were swelled by a filibuster over the new Civil Rights Act and a less arduous talk about legislative redistricting decisions of the Supreme Court.

Of the 382 public laws enacted this year, 278 originated in the House and only 104 in the Senate.
